Item 4 Management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operation.

Overview

In this first quarter we saw a slow beginning which we believe reflects deteriorating economic sentiment. We have had more inquiries and request for quotes than ever before but prospects are slow to firm up their orders. We noticed that many projects are under way in the important New York market but not without much delay along the way. However we expect that a number of these projects will move ahead later in the year and should have a positive impact on ourr top line.

We have been engaged in a sustained marketing campaign to reach builders and developers directly at a time when many are concerned about the safety of flooring they install in their projects. Some major construction companies are concerned about insurance issues and insist on safe flooring. It should be noted that all our products are safe and free of harmful chemicals and as a domestic manufacturer we believe this will prove a serious factor in our medium term growth.

On the retail market we are noticing a real slowdown in consumer spending. There is no doubt that we are in a deflationary environment and we have worked with our suppliers in order to improve even more our highly competitive prices. We have reached a new level of efficiency where we can offer the same beautiful flooring to a mass market, with the same colors of exceptional quality.

We have continued to tighten our supply chain, getting inventory support from key suppliers and we continue to pare down operating cost on our core cork business. We continue to benefit from technology innovations. We expect more earnings growth later in the year, as orders for pre finish accrues from new locations. We continue to expense our expansion costs, and therefore experience artificially low net income. This has nevertheless proved a simple and uncomplicated way of proceeding into more markets while accumulating no debt in the process..

At March 31st the Company had a working capital of $ 5,733,923 *and has incurred gains of $*325,661 since inception. We had a net loss of ($25,389) and operating expenses for Q1 were $837,384. During that period, the Company had gross revenues of $811,995.

Marketing Strategy

Traditional vendors of wood flooring have been slow to move into the renewable resources that a growing market segment now demands, from environmentally certified products to durable affordable installations. They have been equally slow to adopt newer technology to deliver better floor design in this increasingly fashion driven market.. The gap is being filled by companies like Blue Star and entire market segments will continue to open to our superior product and attractive pricing.

We have branched into mass consumer markets selling through more than 1,200 retail outlets throughout the US.. Building on our proprietary low VOC finishes, we are now offering a super durable finish especially made for high traffic retail with nanotechnology which has twice the abrasion resistance of standard finishes currently available on the market.

As always, we continue to expand our industry-best color offerings – we are now working on specialty colors in silvers and grays on cork flooring which will appeal to the design community.

With a growing number of primary resource companies subscribing to new industry norms of sustainable, renewable production and to the LEED credit system, the cost to end purchasers has been driven dramatically down over the past decade.

- ► Millions of potential customers in North America alone, looking to alternatives from their traditional hardwood sources.

- ► Very few certified, registered distributors of these products; and those that there are do not have staining, varnishing and design teams utilizing proprietary pigmentation techniques

- ► The total global market for renewable resource wood flooring is in the hundreds of billions

- ► Fewer than 2% of wood purchasers currently deal in renewable resource wood products, a number that is set to grow at a fast rate for the foreseeable future.

- ► Growing concern regarding unsafe imports will be advantageous to companies like ours that deliver quality and safe products at no extra cost.

The Duro-Design Brand, our principal asset, has been a leader in the manufacture and marketing of green and alternative flooring for more than 15 years. Going forward, the company will continue executing its three-year expansion plan towards some 6000 retail outlet and distribution points in the United States, located specifically in high traffic commercial centers where other flooring businesses are to be found. We now have some 1,200 locations.

Critical Accounting Policies

Our discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations are based upon the Consolidated Financial Statements, which have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The preparation of Consolidated Financial Statements require management to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, revenues and expenses and disclosures on the date of the Consolidated Financial Statements. On an on-going basis, we evaluate our estimates, including, but not limited to, those related to revenue recognition.
