The Company's management is presently involved in supervising, preparing, submitting and negotiating various proposals and submissions to utilities and planning and zoning authorities relating to the planning, zoning, proposed development and construction of solar farms. As some of these proposals and submissions have deadlines mandated by those utilities and authorities, these activities are requiring most of the Company's present management time and has resulted in a delay in completing the Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q. The company will file its report on or before the fifth calendar day following the prescribed due date.
