Press Release

Newport Beach, CA--March 21, 2011--PivX Solutions, Inc (Pink Sheets: PIVX) today announced that its Chief Executive Officer and Chairman, Jason Coombs, has resigned. The Board of Directors and shareholders have approved the previously- announced appointment of Wen Peng to these positions vacated by Mr. Coombs, who also held the position of corporate Secretary. The position of Secretary remains vacant while the company locates a replacement Officer.

Mr. Coombs will become Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the new Homeland Forensics, Inc. subsidiary. Following the conclusion of the previously-announced stock dividend, the subsidiary will be an independent spin-out company with the same initial shareholders as the parent company along with a minority ownership interest that will be retained by PivX Solutions. In connection with the previously-announced corporate name change from PivX Solutions, Inc. to 3Me, Inc and as part of the planned spin-out of the Homeland Forensics, Inc. subsidiary Mr. Coombs has also, effective today, sold all of his Series A Preferred shares of PivX Solutions to a private investor who has been advising the company and aiding with capital formation and business planning. The terms and conditions of the private sale of Mr. Coombs' Series A Preferred shares are not being disclosed, but Mr. Coombs is retaining the right to repurchase the Series A Preferred shares if the shares are not redeemed and retired permanently by PivX Solutions within 120 days.

"I have finished providing strategic and analytical governance in the business planning process as our vision for 3Me, Inc. has taken shape." said Jason Coombs "PivX Solutions now has precisely the plan that I want to see implemented, so that my personal efforts can continue to be devoted to increasing the impact of my technical and forensic expertise in ways that shape the future of technology and determine the direction of markets. The value that I am able to create for shareholders of Homeland Forensics, Inc. and 3Me, Inc. will be captured and stored in a way that benefits holders of these companies' Common stock as a result of the planned redemption and retirement by PivX Solutions of my Series A Preferred shares."

"The Series A Preferred shares held by Mr. Coombs were originally intended, when they were designated and issued in 2006, to ensure that a successful turnaround of the struggling company could be achieved," said Wen Peng, "and today we believe that the company's turnaround effort has reached its final stage. The special voting rights attributable to the Series A Preferred shares will be extinguished when those shares are redeemed by the company and retired, which will effectively return voting control of the company to the holders of its Common stock."
