B. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

USE OF ESTIMATES

The preparation of the Company's financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The Company's periodic filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission include, where applicable, disclosures of estimates, assumptions, uncertainties and markets that could affect the financial statements and future operations of the Company.

CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS

Cash and cash equivalents include cash in banks, money market funds, and certificates of term deposits with maturities of less than three months from inception, which are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which, in the opinion of management, are subject to an insignificant risk of loss in value. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT'D)

REVENUE RECOGNITION

Revenues are recognized when risks associated with ownership have passed to unaffiliated customers, and when all criteria of ASB Topic No. 605 (SAB Topic 13) have been met. Typically, this occurs when finished products are shipped, or media content is delivered.

RECENTLY-ISSUED ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS

In June 2009 the FASB established the Accounting Standards Codification ("Codification" or "ASC") as the source of authoritative accounting principles recognized by the FASB to be applied by nongovernmental entities in the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States ("GAAP"). Rules and interpretive releases of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") issued under authority of federal securities laws are also sources of GAAP for SEC registrants. Existing GAAP was not intended to be changed as a result of the Codification, and accordingly the change did not impact our financial statements. The ASC does change the way the guidance is organized and presented.

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") SFAS No. 165 (ASC Topic 855), "Subsequent Events," SFAS No. 166 (ASC Topic 810), "Accounting for Transfers of Financial Assets-an Amendment of FASB Statement No. 140," SFAS No. 167 (ASC Topic 810), "Amendments to FASB Interpretation No. 46(R)," and SFAS No. 168 (ASC Topic 105), "The FASB Accounting Standards Codification and the Hierarchy of Generally Accepted Accounting Principles-a replacement of FASB Statement No. 162," were recently issued. SFAS No. 165, 166, 167, and 168 have no current applicability to the Company or their effect on the financial statements would not have been significant.

Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") ASU No. 2009-05 (ASC Topic 820), which amends Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures - Overall, ASU No. 2009-13 (ASC Topic 605), Multiple-Deliverable Revenue Arrangements, ASU No. 2009-14 (ASC Topic 985), Certain Revenue Arrangements that include Software Elements, and various other ASU's No. 2009-2 through ASU No. 2010-18 which contain technical corrections to existing guidance or affect guidance to specialized industries or entities were recently issued. These updates have no current applicability to the Company or their effect on the financial statements would not have been significant.

H. GOING CONCERN CONSIDERATIONS

The Company's financial statements have been prepared using accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America applicable to a going concern, which contemplates the realization of assets and liquidation of liabilities in the normal course of business. The past four quarters have shown net gains and increased assets continuing to show the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The Company's ability to meet its ongoing financial requirements is not dependent on management being able to obtain additional equity and/or debt financing.

I. ROYALTIES

The Company has entered into several licensing agreements whereby the Company licenses certain gaming software from various developers. The Company is responsible for paying royalties to the developers based on product sales. In the event that no product is sold, the Company is also required to pay a minimum royalty in order to maintain exclusivity (i.e., the developer cannot license the same software to the Company's competitors). Certain developers also require prepayment of royalties that are either offset by future sales, or expire at the end of a calendar year - at which point they are expensed.
