Fluctuations in net loss for each quarter above are generally based on the amount of exploration activities that the Company undertook and asset impairment recorded during each quarter, except in first and second quarters of fiscal 2015. During fiscal 2013, the Company wound down its Kurdistan operations which is why the net loss during this period is higher than during fiscal 2014. During fiscal 2014, the quarter ended July 31, 2013 includes bonus compensation for the successful relinquishment of the Kurdistan asset and associated change of control costs. In all the periods shown above, the Company did not generate any revenues.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Vast's policy is to maintain a capital base for the objectives of maintaining financial flexibility, joint venture partner and market confidence and to sustain the future development of the Company's business objectives. This capital structure is managed and adjusted in light of changes in economic conditions and the risk characteristics of the underlying oil and natural gas properties. In order to maintain or adjust the capital structure, the Company may from time to time issue shares from treasury and/or increase or decrease debt obligations.

Vast assesses its financing requirements and its ability to access debt or equity markets on an ongoing basis and will seek to maintain financial flexibility. The Company will monitor and assess its financing requirements as its exploration activities progress. It is possible that future economic events and conditions may result in further volatility in the financial markets which, in turn, could negatively impact Vast's ability to access equity or debt markets in the future. Any inability to access the equity or debt markets for sufficient capital, at acceptable terms, and within the required timeframes, could have a material adverse effect on Vast's financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

The Company does not have any operating assets that generate revenues, and its discontinued operations generated an insignificant amount of revenue during the current period. The Company incurred a net loss of $385,881 for the six months ended July 31, 2014 and generated a net cash outflow of $231,922 from its operating activities. Consequently, the Company's ability to continue as a going concern is dependent on the Company's ability to obtain additional financing if, as and when required, and ultimately the attainment of profitable operations or the profitable sale of its exploration assets. Management's assessment of the Company, based on its current cash flow forecast and financial model, is that there is significant doubt as to whether it is a going concern.

The Company will continue its efforts to seek appropriate financing initiatives that benefit the Company and its shareholders.

Working Capital

As at July 31, 2014, the Company had net working capital of $308,528 (January 31, 2014 – net working capital of $619,409).

There are no off-balance sheet financing arrangements

APPLICATION OF CRITICAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Vast's significant accounting policies are disclosed in Note 2 to the Company's consolidated financial statements for the year ended January 31, 2014.

Certain accounting policies require that management make appropriate decisions with respect to the formation of estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses. These accounting policies are discussed below and are included to aid the reader in assessing the critical accounting policies and practices of the Company and the likelihood of materially different results being reported. Vast's management reviews its estimates regularly. The emergence of new information and changed circumstances may result in actual results or changes to estimate amounts that differ materially from current estimates.

The following assessment of significant accounting policies and associated estimates is not meant to be exhaustive. The Company might realize different results from the application of new accounting standards promulgated, from time to time, by various rule-making bodies.

Share-based payment transactions
The Company measures the cost of equity-settled transactions with employees and applicable non-employees by reference to the fair value of the equity instruments at the date at which they are vested. Estimating fair value for share-based payment transactions requires determining the most appropriate valuation model, which is dependent on the terms and conditions of the grant. This estimate also requires determining the most appropriate inputs to the valuation model including the expected life of the share option, risk-free interest rates, volatility and dividend yield and making assumptions about them.

Allowance for note receivable
The fair value of the Company's notes receivable is considered to be the fair value of the amount expected to be received. Subsequent provisions for impairment are considered when amounts become past due or when other objective evidence is received that a specific counterparty will default.

Contingencies
Contingencies can be either possible assets or possible liabilities arising from past events which, by their nature, will only be resolved when one or more future events not wholly within our control occur or fail to occur. The assessment of such contingencies inherently involves the exercise of significant judgment and estimates of the outcome of future events. In assessing loss contingencies related to legal proceedings that are pending against us or un-asserted claims, that may result in such proceedings or regulatory or government actions that may negatively impact our business or operations, the Company and its legal counsel evaluate the perceived merits of any legal proceedings or un-asserted claims or actions as well as the perceived merits of the nature and amount of relief sought or expected to be sought, when determining the amount, if any, to recognize as a contingent liability or assessing the impact on the carrying value of assets. Contingent assets are not recognized in the condensed interim consolidated financial statements.

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Company's related parties consist of directors and officers and companies controlled by officers and former officers of the Company.

The Company shares its office space with other companies who may have common officers and directors. The costs associated with the use of this space, including the provision of office equipment and supplies, are administered by 2227929 Ontario Inc., to whom the Company pays a monthly fee. 2227929 Ontario Inc. does not have any officers or directors in common with the Company.

Compensation of key management personnel of the Company:

Key management personnel include the Board of Directors and executive officers of the Company. Key management personnel compensation during the six months ended July 31, 2014 and 2013 was comprised of the following:

	Six months ended July 31,
	2014	2013
Salaries, wages and short-term benefits	$ 93,583	$ 2,082,465
Change of control benefit	-	1,450,000
Balance	$ 93,583	$ 3,532,465

COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Management Contracts
The Company is party to certain management contracts. A minimum management contract commitments remaining under these contracts approximate $68,583 due within one year.

Colombia
In May 2011, the Company signed a Hydrocarbon Exploration and Production Contract ("E&P Contract") with ANH for the oil and gas block Putumayo-03 (the "Putumayo Block"). The Putumayo Block in the Putumayo Basin was successfully secured by the Company during a bid round held on June 22, 2010, in Cartagena, Colombia (the "Bid"). On June 21, 2011, Vast entered into a letter of intent and participation agreement with a private Ontario company ("Ontario Co.") pursuant to which Ontario Co. agreed to acquire a 90% private interest in the Putumayo Block in consideration for paying to Vast a fee of US$50,000, agreeing to reimburse Vast for all expenses of the Bid and to allow Vast to retain a 10% carried interest during the first exploration phase (the "Carried Interest"). Subsequent to the Bid, Ontario Co. was acquired by Sagres Energy Inc. ("Sagres"). The resulting gain from the transaction was recorded in the Statement of Loss and Comprehensive Loss for the year ended January 31, 2012. At the time of the acquisition, Sagres was a related party to the Company by virtue of having common directors.

The Putumayo Block carries an additional royalty of 7% payable to the Government of Colombia in addition to the basic royalty scheme established under Colombia law, being 8% for up to 5,000 bopd of production and increasing to 25% for a 600,000 bopd field. All other terms of the contract are standard to the model E&P Contract.

The transaction was considered a Non-Arm's Length Transaction for the purposes of the TSX Venture Exchange as Vast and Ontario Co. had common directors and officers at the time the terms of the letter of intent were negotiated.

The E&P Contract requires of a minimum expenditure of USD $12.9 million over a 36 month period and according to the terms of the E&P Contract, the Company was required to issue an additional letter of credit in favor of the ANH for approximately USD $4.0 million ("Additional Guarantee") and incur approximately USD $0.2 million for exploration fees. The Company is aware that Sagres did not meet its work commitments and that all of Sagres' directors and officers resigned on September 11, 2013. On October 3, 2013, the Company terminated its participation agreement with Sagres, and as a result, obtained a 100% interest in the Putumayo Block. The Company remains the contractual party to the E&P Contract and has the obligation to the ANH for all work commitments under the E&P Contract terms (approximately USD $12.9 million).

While the Company remains responsible for the USD $12.9 million work commitment on the Putumayo-3 block, due to security issue related to guerilla fighters in and around the Putumayo-3 block, the Company (and previously Sagres) were not able to enter the area and perform the required work commitments. The Company also signed a relinquishment agreement with the ANH that is still subject to certain conditions. As part of the relinquishment agreement, the Company also provided ANH with certain indemnities. As a result, the Company has not recorded any provision for this obligation or indemnity at July 31, 2014.

During January 2014, the ANH drew down USD $100,000 of the USD $110,000 fixed deposit securing the standby letter of credit.

RISK FACTORS

Risk assessment

There are a number of risks facing participants in the oil and gas industry. Some risks are common to all participants while others are specific to the Company. The following are a number of identifiable business risks faced by The Company which will evolve and additional risks will emerge periodically. The risks shown are those identified by management at the date of completion of this report and may not describe all of the risks faced by the Company.

Regulatory

Oil and gas operations are subject to extensive controls and regulations imposed by various levels of government that may be amended from time to time. The Company's operations may require licenses and permits from various governmental authorities in the countries in which it operates. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to obtain all necessary licenses and permits that may be required to carry out exploration and development of its projects.

Litigation

All industries, including the oil and gas industry, are subject to legal claims, with and without merit. Legal proceedings may arise from time to time in the course of the Company's business. Such litigation may be brought against the Company or one or more of its subsidiaries in the future from time to time or the Company or one or more of its subsidiaries may be subject to another form of litigation, including a potential litigation by the ANH for unfulfilled work commitments related to the E&P Contract. Defense and settlement costs of legal claims can be substantial, even with respect to lawsuits that have no merit. As of the date hereof, no lawsuits have been brought against the Company, nor has the Company received an indication that any lawsuits are forthcoming. However, due to the inherent uncertainty of the litigation process, should a lawsuit be brought against the Company, the process of defending such lawsuit could take away from management time and effort and the resolution of any particular legal proceeding to which the Company or one or more of its subsidiaries may become subject could have a material effect on the Company's financial position and results of operations.

Dependence on Key Personnel
The success of the Company is dependent upon the efforts and abilities of its senior management and board of directors. The loss of any member of the management team or board of directors could have a material adverse effect upon the business and prospects of the Company. In such event, the Company will seek satisfactory replacements but there can be no guarantee that appropriate personnel will be found.

Substantial Capital Requirements
The Company anticipates making substantial capital expenditures for the acquisition, exploration, development and production of oil and natural gas reserves in the future. In addition, uncertain levels of near term industry activity coupled with the present global credit crisis exposes the Company to additional financing risks. There can be no assurance that debt or equity financing, or funds generated by operations will be available or sufficient to meet these requirements or for other corporate purposes or, if debt or equity financing is available, that it will be on terms acceptable to the Company. The inability of the Company to access sufficient capital for its operations could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

Global Financial Uncertainty
Recent market events and conditions, including disruptions in the international credit markets and other financial systems and the deterioration of global economic conditions, have caused significant volatility in commodity prices. These conditions are continuing in 2013 and expected to continue in 2014, causing a loss of confidence in the broader U.S. and global credit and financial markets and resulting in the collapse of, and government intervention in, major banks, financial institutions and insurers and creating a climate of greater volatility, less liquidity, widening of credit spreads, a lack of price transparency, increased credit losses and tighter credit conditions. Notwithstanding various actions by governments, concerns about the general condition of the capital markets, financial instruments, banks, investment banks, insurers and other financial institutions caused the broader credit markets to further deteriorate and stock markets to decline substantially. These factors have negatively impacted company valuations and will impact the performance of the global economy going forward. Commodity prices are expected to remain volatile for the near future as a result of market uncertainties concerning the supply and demand of these commodities due to the current state of the world economies, OPEC actions and the ongoing global credit and liquidity concerns.

Competition
The petroleum industry is competitive in all its phases. The Company competes with numerous other organizations in the search for and the acquisition of oil and natural gas properties and in the marketing of oil and natural gas. Our competitors include oil and natural gas companies that have substantially greater financial resources, staff and facilities than the Company. The Company's ability to acquire properties in the future will depend not only on our ability to explore and develop current blocks and concessions, but also on our ability to select and acquire other suitable properties or prospects for exploratory drilling. Competitive factors in the distribution and marketing of oil and natural gas include price and methods, reliability of delivery and control over key operations infrastructure.

Conflicts of Interest
Certain of the directors and officers of the Company may serve from time to time as directors, officers, promoters and members of management of other companies involved in oil and gas or natural resource exploration and development and therefore it is possible that a conflict may arise between their duties as a director or officers of the Company and their duties as a director, officer, promoter or member of management of such other companies.

The directors and officers of the Company are aware of the existence of laws governing accountability of directors and officers for corporate opportunity and requiring disclosures by directors of conflicts of interest and the Company will rely upon such laws in respect of any directors' and officers' conflicts of interest or in respect of any breaches of duty by any of its directors or officers. All such conflicts will be disclosed by such directors or officers in accordance with applicable laws and the directors and officers will govern themselves in respect thereof to the best of their ability in accordance with the obligations imposed upon them by law.

Third Party Credit Risk
The Company may be exposed to third party credit risk through its contractual arrangements with its current or future joint venture partners, marketers of its petroleum and natural gas production and other parties. In the event such entities fail to meet their contractual obligations to the Company, such failures may have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects. In addition, poor credit conditions in the industry and of joint venture partners may impact a joint venture partner's willingness to participate in the Company's ongoing capital program, potentially delaying the program and the results of such program until the Company finds a suitable alternative partner.

Exploration, Development and Production Risks

Oil and natural gas operations involve many risks which even a combination of experience, knowledge and careful evaluation may not be able to overcome. The long-term commercial success of the Company depends on its ability to find, appraise, develop and commercially produce oil and natural gas resources and reserves, which will depend not only on its ability to explore and develop any properties it may have from time to time, but also on its ability to select and acquire additional producing properties or prospects.

The Company may not be able to locate satisfactory properties for acquisition or participation. Moreover, if such acquisitions or participations are identified, the Company may determine that current markets, terms of acquisition and participation or pricing conditions make such acquisitions or participations uneconomic. There is no assurance that commercial quantities of oil and natural gas will be discovered or acquired by the Company. Future oil and natural gas exploration may involve unprofitable efforts, not only from dry wells, but from wells that are productive but do not produce sufficient petroleum substances to return a profit after drilling, operating and other costs. Completion of a well does not assure a profit on the investment or recovery of drilling, completion and operating costs. In addition, drilling hazards or environmental damage could greatly increase the cost of operations, and various field operating conditions may adversely affect the production from successful wells. These conditions include delays in obtaining governmental approvals or consents, shut-ins of connected wells resulting from extreme weather conditions, insufficient storage or transportation capacity or other geological and mechanical conditions.
