ITEM 6. Describe the Issuer's Business, Products and Services

American Seniors Association Holding Group, Inc. "AMSA" "The Company" was organized under the laws of the State of Florida in 1997. Prior to 2010 the Company was known as the ASF Group, Inc. ("ASF Group"). In January 2010, the Company completed a merger, whereby Another Chance for Seniors, Inc. acquired the controlled stock of ASF Group. The resulting merged entity changed its name to American Seniors Association Holding Group, Inc. and then changed its state of incorporation from Florida to Georgia.

Prior to the merger, the Company's business focus was the development of two start up restaurant ventures: Kiosk Food Solutions, Inc. and Eddy Chan's Inc. After the merger, these ventures were distributed to a shareholder of record. Since the merger, the Company's primary business has been a national for-profit membership services organization which provides information and discounts to seniors citizens.

AMSA is a national for profit membership services organization which provides information and discounts to seniors citizens. The company distinguishes itself in the marketplace by playing an active role with certain political issues. By publicizing its positions on these issues through various media outlets, AMSA can seek to recruit like-minded individuals. Specifically, we have identified ourselves as "a conservative alternative to AARP" in an attempt to entice members from other competitors. Additionally, we have loosely affiliated ourselves with other larger membership-based politically motivated organizations in order to increase our name recognition.

The principal products we sell are memberships at a price of $15 per year. The main thrust of our benefits and discounted services are insurance of nature and vary from Medicare products to property and casualty. We also have contracts for reverse mortgages, and forward mortgages. We offer discounted roadside assistant programs, ASA travel services, discounted prices on various products, retirement planning, credit cards through US Bank and Costco memberships.

Our distribution methods are through the vendors themselves. We incur no cost associated with this but it is accomplished through direct mail, telephone and emails

The primary competitor of the company is AARP which is a well-established not-for-profit firm with government funding that AMSA does not share. AMSA's competition is established through direct mail campaigns, email campaigns and word of mouth advertising. Other than licensing requirements which AMSA must meet to conduct its business, the company does not require any government approval of the products and services it offer.

ITEM 7. Describe the Issuer's Facilities

American Seniors Association Holding Group Inc. presently occupies an office facility of approximately 900 square feet located at 353 6th Avenue West, Bradenton, FL 34205. Due to the nature of the business, no warehouse space is required

ITEM 8. Officers, Directors, and Control Persons

Paul Cornell – Chief Executive Officer and Chairman

Paul Cornell is a securities industry consultant with 30 years of experience. He began his career as a financial advisor in 1985 and quickly rose to branch manager holding multiple licenses, including compliance officer. In the late 1990's, after getting a taste of the IPO and mergers and acquisitions markets, he left to form American Financial Media, Inc. (AMF), a successful consulting business serving public and private companies.

Mark Wingate – President and Board Member

Mr. Wingate began his financial services career in 1972 at First National Bank of Atlanta in the Bank American Card division, known now as Visa, as he was continuing his education at Georgia State University. He has been in financial services for over 40 years holding senior and executive management positions at Visa, Equifax and his own consulting firm. His experience extends from card management to transaction processing software applications when he worked with an array of clients around the world. During his career, he was host and presenter at numerous industry events. He has been on panels of experts ranging from marketing to operational efficiencies in payment services. In the mid 2000's, he transitioned into his own consulting firm assisting clients with turnaround efforts and effective management.

Carlos Ryerson – Corporate Secretary, General Counsel and Board Member

Carlos has over thirty-nine years of diverse experience in legal counseling and structuring of ventures, projects, trade, and investments in the United States and abroad, with particular emphasis on Mexico, Central and South America, and the Caribbean Basin. Mr. Ryerson has expanded his professional work to China, Singapore, and other countries of the Pacific Rim, where Mr. Ryerson has developed strong business and professional associations. Mr. Ryerson is Director and President of Ryerson & Associates, P.C.

Notes to the Financial Statements

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements and related notes have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles that are generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP"). The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company at December 31, 2014 and December 31, 2013 respectively. These financials have not been audited, or reviewed by an auditor.

The Company operates in one segment. Operational information is tracked by geographic area and by age demographic; however, financial performance is assessed as a single enterprise. The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its subsidiaries after eliminating all significant intercompany balances and transactions. Certain reclassifications and restatements (as explained in Management Discussion and Analysis) have been made to prior year statements to conform with GAAP requirements. These reclassifications and restatements have impacted prior periods net income (loss) and accumulated earnings.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of any contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements as well as the reported amount of revenues and expenses reported during the period. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

Fiscal Year End

The Company has elected to maintain December 31st as its fiscal year end.

Accounts Receivable and Revenue

The Company will follow ASC 605-10 "Revenue Recognition" to recognize revenue on an accrual basis as operations permit. The Company shall recognize revenue when earned or when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists. As such, membership dues are recognized when received. Royalties from third parties are recognized when received unless a reporting arrangement exists whereby the company can recognize the income in the month of occurrence rather than the month of receipt.

Notes Receivable

On November 5, 2012 the Company signed a $50,000 Senior Note Agreement Bearing 5% Interest with American Senior Advocates, a Virginia Corporation. American Senior Advocates was a political action group that was to act as a complimentary arm to the Company. In November of 2014, it became apparent the American Senior Advocates would be unable to repay their note, and thus the note was written off as a bad debt during the fourth quarter of 2014.

Furniture and Fixtures

All furniture was disposed of during the move from Atlanta, GA to Houston, TX. Should the company purchase new furniture of material value, it will be disclosed in the current reporting period.

Security Deposits

The company currently has a security deposit of $2,850 being held by Mansell Forest Properties in Alpharetta, GA. It has not been determined if this security deposit will be returned to the company or offset to amounts due for rents unpaid during the 2014 year.

Intangible Assets

In September 2010 AMSA entered into an exclusive alliance with 60 Plus Association, Inc. (60 Plus) providing the company with exclusive access to the membership list of more than 5 million households. The company provided each member of 60

Plus with a one year complimentary membership. The company made subsequent payments to 60 Plus under this agreement.

The accounting for a recognized asset such as a customer list is based on the useful life of that list or a period not to excess three years in accordance with FASB 350-35-30 Accounting for Business Combinations, Goodwill, and Other Intangible Assets.

The customer list purchased in 2010 and 2011 has been fully amortized as December 2015. The remaining useful life on acquisition of new customers through organic growth is detailed below.

Notes Payable

In September of 2011, the Company received a loan of $300,000 from Julie and Clay Edwards. The note is to pay $4,166.00 in interest per month and can be converted into common stock. In May of 2012, Julie and Clay Edwards received one interest payment of $33,328.00 for the interest that had accrued on the note through that date. This note has not been resigned and is currently in default. As of balance sheet date, the accrued interest on the note is $ 424,980.00.

In May of 201, as a result of the lawsuit settlement with former CEO Jim Ryan, the company incurred an additional note of $57,732 which is to be paid on a weekly basis until paid in full.

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under ASC 740-10 "Income Taxes". A deferred tax asset and/or liability are created when a more-likely-than-not recognition criterion a certain tax position. As the company has sustained material losses from a tax perspective for more than the last 5 years and it is unlike to show profits in the future. It would be inappropriate to compute a deferred tax asset at this time.

Legal Fees

As a result of litigation as described in the material events of the Company. The company received bills for $ 68,333.34 in legal fees and paid $59,424.00 in legal fees during the 2014 year. Payments were made as follows: Ballard Spar $1,612.00 (board meeting); DCBF LLC $7,932.00(Chelsea Magee Lawsuit); David Ghattas $11,880.00 (Jim Ryan Lawsuit); Fried & Bonder $9,500.00(Chelsea Magee Lawsuit); Krevlin & Horst $3,000.00 (Jim Ryan Lawsuit); Ronald Kaufman $25,500.00(Jim Ryan Lawsuit).

Segment Reporting

The Company reports as one operating segment with the Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") acting as the Company's chief operating decision maker. The Company's CEO reviews financial information presented on a consolidated basis for purposes of allocating resources and evaluating financial performance. The Company has a single reporting unit and there are no segment managers who are held accountable for operations, operating results, or components below the consolidated unit level.

Management Discussion and Analysis

CAUTIONARY NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This report, including the following Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations, contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 that are based upon the company's current expectations. These forward-looking statements include statements related to the company's business strategy and plans, the seasonality of and growth of AMSA's business, the impact on us of general economic conditions, trends in key metrics such as total number of customers, total number of orders, and average order value, our capital expenditures, the sufficiency of our cash and cash equivalents and cash generated from operations for the next 12 months, our operating expenses remaining a consistent percentage of AMSA's net revenues, manufacturing capabilities, effective tax rates, as well as other statements regarding future operations, financial condition and prospects and business strategies. In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by terminology such as "believe," "anticipate," "expect," "estimate," "intend," "seek," "continue," "should," "would," "could," "will," or "may," or the negative of these terms or other comparable terminology. Forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties. The company's actual results and the timing of events could differ materially from those anticipated in the company's forward-looking statements as a result of many factors, including but not limited to, economic downturns and the general state of the economy; changes in consumer discretionary spending as a result of the macroeconomic environment; competition, the ability to expand AMSA's customer base, increase sales to existing customers and meet production requirements; AMSA's ability to retain and hire necessary employees, including seasonal personnel, and appropriately staff our operations; the impact of seasonality on our business; our ability to develop innovative, new products and services on a timely and cost-effective basis, as well as consumer acceptance of products, features and services; AMSA's ability to successfully acquire businesses and technologies and to successfully integrate and operate these acquired businesses and technologies; our ability to achieve and maintain expected benefits of our partnerships; unforeseen changes in expense levels; and AMSA's ability to timely upgrade and develop our infrastructure and facilities. Given these risks and uncertainties, readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on such forward-looking statements. We assume no obligation to update any of the forward-looking statements after the date of this report or to compare these forward-looking statements to actual results.
