Description of the Issuer's Business Operations as of the date of this report

CableClix (USA), Inc. (the "Company" or "CableClix") (www.cableclix.com) is a video streaming and caching company bringing local High Definition Over-the-Air (OTA) network broadcasts, Free-to-Air (FTA) signals, and paid premium content over private networks owned by Internet Service Providers (ISPs) directly to the customers of ISPs. CableClix.com provides high speed, high definition, live, DVR, and video-on-demand services to subscribers in their local viewing area. CableClix has developed an innovative platform that ensures delivery of local affiliate content to the intended metropolitan broadcast area, while allowing customers the flexibility to watch television on a variety of devices. CableClix bridges the gaps between video content, local broadcast affiliates, internet service providers and end users, and brings high definition video to even the most rural locations.

CableClix,Inc., a Nevada corporation, was formed in 2013 to be a leading provider of high definition streaming television over broadband connections. On May 8, 2015, the Company and CableClix, Inc., closed on a Share Exchange Agreement whereby 51,000,000 newly issued common shares of the Company were exchanged for 40,000,000 common shares (100%) of CableClix, Inc. and all of its assets. Thus, the business of CableClix, Inc. became the business of the Company. Our goals remain as they were at our inception in 2013, to deliver quality television programming in high and ultrahigh definition, including local network content, directly to the local consumer, on nearly any device, at any time. CableClix is different from others that have attempted to deliver similar services in the past because we create partnerships with the national networks, local affiliates, and local ISP's. Commonly referred to as television rebroadcasting, the concept is often one-sided in nature and ultimately the end consumer is left to pay significant monthly subscription fees for a plethora of channels that go mostly unwatched. Concurrently, local broadcast affiliates feel the ever increasing pressure of internet-based streaming services often broadcasting the same content and diminishing the relevance of traditional TV viewing. CableClix's founders believed there was an opportunity to bridge the gap between the network and affiliate interests, and at the same time, give the consumers what they are clearly asking for: the convenience of watching their favorite shows any time, unaltered, and without a barrage of irrelevant marketing and advertisement.

Another important aspect of CableClix's approach to streaming television is our appreciation for the local ISP's, especially the Wireless ISP's (WISPs). All ISP's have experienced the pressure of needing to increase upstream bandwidth to support the growing popularity of streaming video. The cost of these increases in bandwidth are either passed on to the end customer, or in competitive markets, taken directly from the bottom line. WISPs in particular tend to serve customers in rural areas, and while are still part of a given metropolitan broad cast area, are unable to receive local broadcasts without a satellite connection due to line of sight or distance from transmitters. In nearly all of those cases, cable is not an option for those customers due to the unavailability of the required infrastructure. CableClix's founder and owner/operator of a WISP understood this problem firsthand, which triggered the desire to solve this growing TV viewing conundrum:

How can we deliver high definition, local and premium television to the public, especially rural customers, while simultaneously relieving bandwidth strain on ISPs, in a manner that protects and enforces the local broadcast area boundaries and respects the intellectual property of the networks and production houses?

CableClix is committed to the development and continual enhancement of products and services that deliver the programming that consumers want affordably and reliably. We achieve this using best-of-breed technologies, innovative people, and a customer-centric underpinning woven into everything we do. We respect the ownership, talent, and effort that goes into developing the news, entertainment, and other intellectual property that we stream, and always respect and enforce the boundaries of metropolitan broadcast areas. We value our partnerships with ISP's and constantly seek out new ways to optimize their network resources to ensure the best customer experience. We are excited to be a part of the transformation of traditional viewing to the next generation of customized streaming TV.

Principal Products or Services, and their Markets

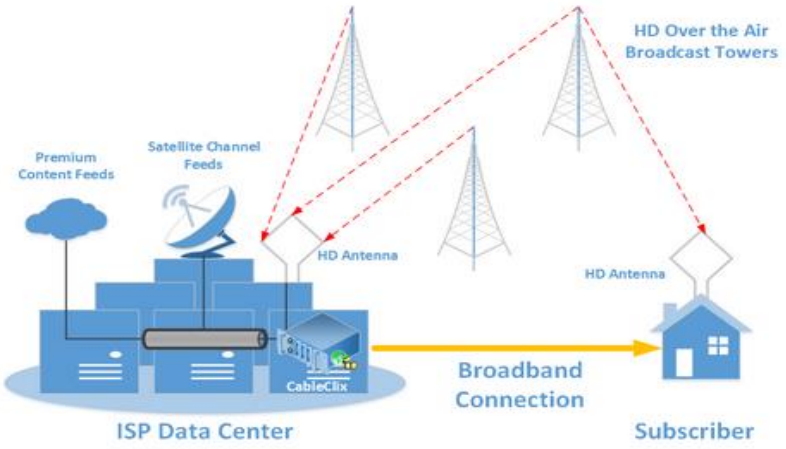

Intelligent Video Delivery

The CableClix Intelligent Video Delivery and Cloud DVR solution brings all local channels (including High Definition and Ultra High 4K) within a given metropolitan broadcast area and up to one hundred additional satellite and premium channels to subscribers. CableClix proprietary technology first determines which channels should be present at a given location and then decides whether to feed those channels to the subscriber from the OTA broadcast (if available) or to stream the channels live from our equipment from the nearest CableClix Content and Caching Server. CableClix Intelligent Video Delivery eliminates "dark spots" and other obstacles that keep viewers from enjoying high definition over-the-air broadcasts.

How it works:

- CableClix set top box determines what network channels should be available at the subscriber's location and scans for availability of those channels over the air (OTA)
- Any channel that cannot be received at the subscriber location via OTA transmission is transparently fed to the subscriber over broadband from the CableClix streaming server located at the subscriber's ISP
- CableClix lists all available network and satellite channels, as well as any premium content subscriptions through a unified channel / program browser
- Subscribers have the option to watch live programming or stream previously recorded content from the CableClix cloud DVR at a later time

- CableClix™ Intelligent Video Delivery

CableClix for WISPs (Wireless Internet Service Providers)

CableClix provides a comprehensive television package with over 60 channels of high definition programming including local channels for Wireless Internet Service Provider customers. Often located in rural areas where over-the-air programming cannot be accessed, and where cable TV providers lack infrastructure, CableClix enables WISPs with a powerful television and cloud DVR solution with revenue sharing. The CableClix solution for WISPs includes our powerful caching technology which locally stores and streams popular high-bandwidth content to the viewer from the WISP network, reducing the ever increasing need for upstream bandwidth.

Features:

- Comprehensive channel lineup including local networks, popular cable channels including movies, sports, and news, as well as international programming
- Powerful caching engines for bandwidth-intensive media collocated in your data center
- Predictable bandwidth usage for video services on the customer-facing side of your network
- Revenue sharing opportunity with CableClix based on number of subscribers to video services

Advantages:

- Ability to offer valuable high definition television and DVR services to WISP customers
- Significantly reduces requirement for upstream bandwidth to support popular streaming video demands
- More accurate capacity planning capabilities for upstream and downstream bandwidth
- Revenue sharing opportunity effectively subsidizes your monthly upstream bandwidth costs

CableClix Rural Broadband and Video Enablement

The placement of CableClix content caching, distribution, and delivery platforms throughout the rural USA brings high definition video, including the newest 4K video technology, to businesses and households on the fringes of all metropolitan broadcast areas. Today there are millions of end customers that cannot receive local broadcast content due to geographic constraints and a lack of line of site to transmission infrastructure. By collocating our platforms on the wireless internet infrastructure (towers) in those regions, CableClix ensures that all customers can receive television from their metropolitan area affiliates. This drives the expansion of broadband into rural areas and empowers rural ISPs to offer an additional value-add service to their existing customer bases.

Features:

- Patent-pending technology to ensure delivery of broadcast area-specific network programming
- Weatherized video delivery and caching equipment for tower based installation
- Dedicated frequencies for video transmission available in select markets (3.65Ghz & 5Ghz)
- Revenue sharing model for rural ISP's and tower operators

Advantages:

- Programming is restricted to the intended metropolitan broadcast area
- Flexible, compact equipment footprint allows for physical placement in close proximity to users
- Gives WISPs the option to deliver video over dedicated frequencies instead of local networks
- Shared revenue model provides an additional steady income stream from each tower / WISP data center

CableClix (USA), Inc.

(Formerly RainEarth, Inc.)

NOTES TO THE CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
For the Second Quarter ended October 31, 2015

Note 1. Organization and Business Operations

CableClix (USA), Inc., formerly known as RainEarth Inc., (the "Company") was incorporated in the State of Nevada on March 14, 2006 under the name of Gold Rock Resources Inc. In April 2006 (see Note 4), the Company acquired a mineral claim in British Columbia, Canada; the claim was forfeited April 19, 2009. On March 25, 2009 (see Note 5), the Company entered into a Business Cooperation Agreement with Beijing RainEarth Technology Co. Ltd. ("Beijing RainEarth") to jointly conduct a Hollow Fiber Membrane Materials application and manufacturing business. On March 27, 2009, the Company changed its name to RainEarth Inc. In August 2010 (see Note 5), the Business Cooperation Agreement was terminated. In June, 2013 the Company entered into a letter of Intent to acquire an interest in an Austrian Resort enterprise for which it issued 10,000, 000 common stock, plus a further 6,000,000 common stock as a finder's fee.

On July 11, 2008, the Company effected a 10 for 1 forward stock split of its common stock. On May 17, 2013, the Company effected a 1 for 50 reverse stock split of its common stock. The financial statements have been retroactively adjusted to reflect this stock split.

On May 8, 2015, the Company and CableClix, Inc., a Nevada corporation, closed on a Share Exchange Agreement whereby 51,000,000 newly issued common shares of the Company were exchanged for 40,000,000 common shares (100%) of CableClix, Inc. and all of its assets. Following the Share Exchange, the Company's name was changed to CableClix (USA), Inc. and the Company is continuing the business of CableClix, Inc., focusing on video streaming and caching, providing high speed, high definition, live, DVR, and video-on-demand services to subscribers in their local viewing area.

On August 8, 2015, $3,700 of the convertible note dated February 1, 2013, was converted into 2,466,667 shares by an assignee of the note holder.

The financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which implies that the Company will continue to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business. At October 31, 2015, the Company had cash of $572. and a negative working capital of $656,622 for the second quarter ended October 31, 2015, the Company had net losses of $184,608 for the half year, and a loss of $1,365,160 for the April 30, 2015 year end. These factors raise substantial doubt as to the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The Company plans to raise additional capital and achieve profitable operations through future business ventures. However, there is no assurance that the Company will accomplish these objectives. The financial statements do not include any adjustments to the recoverability and classification of recorded asset amounts and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

Note 2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

a) Basis of Presentation

These consolidated financial statements and related notes are presented in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States, and are expressed in U.S. dollars.

b) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

c) Basic and Diluted Net income (Loss) Per Share

The Company computes net income (loss) per share in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 260, "Earnings per Share". ASC Topic 260 requires presentation of both basic and diluted earnings per share (EPS) on the face of the income statement. Basic EPS is computed by dividing net income (loss) available to common shareholders (numerator) by the weighted average number of shares outstanding (denominator) during the period. Diluted EPS gives effect to all dilutive potential common shares outstanding during the period using the treasury stock method and convertible preferred stock using the if-converted method. In computing Diluted EPS, the average stock price for the period is used in determining the number of shares assumed to be purchased from the exercise of stock options or warrants. Diluted EPS excludes all dilutive potential shares if their effect is antidilutive.

d) Comprehensive Loss

ASC Topic 220, "Comprehensive Income," establishes standards for the reporting and display of comprehensive loss and its components in the financial statements. For the quarter ended October 31, 2015 and for the period of March 14, 2006 (inception) to October 31, 2015, except for net loss, the Company had no items that represent comprehensive income (loss) and, therefore, has not included a schedule of comprehensive income (loss) in the financial statements.

e) Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid instruments with a maturity of three months or less at the time of issuance to be cash equivalents.

f) Financial Instruments

The fair values of financial instruments, which include cash, accounts payable and accrued liabilities and due to related party, approximate their carrying values due to the immediate or short-term maturity of these financial instruments. The Company's operations are outside the United States which results in exposure to market risks from changes in foreign currency rates. The financial risk is the risk to the Company's operations that arise from fluctuations in foreign exchange rates and the degree of volatility of these rates. Currently, the Company does not use derivative instruments to reduce its exposure to foreign currency risk.

g) Income Taxes

Potential benefits of income tax losses are not recognized in the accounts until realization is more likely than not. The Company has adopted ASC Topic 740, "Income Taxes", as of its inception. Pursuant to ASC Topic 740, the Company is required to compute tax asset benefits for net operating losses carried forward. Potential benefit of net operating losses have not been recognized in these financial statements because the Company cannot be assured it is more likely than not it will utilize the net operating losses carried forward in future years.

h) Foreign Currency Translation

The Company's functional and reporting currency is the United States dollar. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated in accordance with ASC Topic 830, "Foreign Currency Matters", using the exchange rate prevailing at the balance sheet date. Gains and losses arising on settlement of foreign currency denominated transactions or balances are included in the determination of income. Foreign currency transactions are primarily undertaken in Canadian dollars. The Company has not, to the date of these financials statements, entered into derivative instruments to offset the impact of foreign currency fluctuations.
