Item 6. Describe the Issuer's Business, Products and Services.

A. Description of the Issuer's Business Operations:

Southern ITS International, Inc. has been successful in providing Electronic Security and services to support government regulated high compliance industries. Government sectors (correctional facilities and programs), and private sectors including gaming have had challenges, but have been brought into the mainstream and are now subject to stringent compliance to tough government regulations. Southern ITS International, Inc. has historically developed and delivered to the gaming and corrections sectors high compliance support systems facilitating the integration and implementation of complementary technologies. SITS continues to deliver such electronic security and networking infrastructure to those clients.

System Integration:

The benefits of systems integration can produce efficiency in overhead costs such as time-savings and cost-savings that will not only justify your investment, but also allow for cost-effective expansion and upgrades.

True systems integration can only be successfully implemented with in-depth knowledge about technology trends, system architecture, as well as older technology currently utilized. In addition, design and implementation experience is required to develop an integration plan that will avoid pitfalls that will diminish your return on investment.

Southern ITS uses its expert knowledge and experience to bring the power of integration to your benefit. Instead of multiple systems comprising CCTV, access control, and fire alarms – One. Instead of multiple employee databases and phone systems – One. Suddenly, new possibilities arise where only challenges stood before.

With our combined experience of over 70 years, Southern ITS and its team has the capacity to lead you through each and every step required for the complete design and installation of all network systems. These steps include the system specifications, design, cable infrastructure installation, system installation, system training and technical support.

Data Integration: Southern ITS leverages our strong supply chain relationships with unmatched knowledge of the technology to maximize IT infrastructure ROI for enterprises of all sizes. Our hardware and software integration services are able to reduce both cost and risk and deliver flexibility to leverage future technologies. We evaluate and select best-fit technology components for a tailored solution. Throughout the design process, Southern ITS engineering team takes into consideration all aspects of the solution life-cycle including cost, performance, energy efficiency, regulatory requirements, custom configurations, branding, logistics, order fulfillment and support.

Security Systems Integration: Many organizations' facility security resembles a patchwork of various, independent systems than invariably detract from the overall effectiveness of the system. Surveillance cameras may be part analog and part digital, each kind on their own independent system requiring a different knowledge base for each system. Access Control may be independent of the surveillance monitoring systems or may even consist of stand-alone units for each door. Fire alarms may also reside on another monitoring systems. Many times deficiencies in a patchwork of security measures are not realized until it is too late.

Thankfully, Southern ITS has over three decades of combined experience providing security integration services for facilities large and small. Designing, specifying, installing, training, and even monitoring with our managed services brings fire, access control, and video surveillance all into one system, viewable from a single monitor or tablet or cell phone for real-time reporting and response to effectively document, record, and most importantly – mitigate problems before they start.

Is your hardware considered ancient technology? The idea of ripping out your existing analog system is not only very impractical, it is extremely cost prohibitive. With an integrated security system designed and install from Southern ITS, your analog surveillance matrix can remain in place. Our new playback software makes archiving and video data retrieval easier and more efficient compared to existing VCR surveillance systems.

At Southern ITS, we carry over 35 brands of cameras, analog and digital equipment. Our strategic leading hardware partners such allow us to not only help with your conversion to digital, we also service your existing cameras and analog systems.
