Besides the litigation listed in the following paragraphs, we are currently not involved in any litigation that we believe could have a materially adverse effect on our financial condition or results of operations. There is no action, suit, proceeding, inquiry or investigation before or by any court, public board, government agency, self-regulatory organization or body pending or, to the knowledge of the executive officers of our Company or any of our subsidiaries, threatened against or affecting our Company, our common stock, any of our subsidiaries or of our Company's or our Company's subsidiaries' officers or directors in their capacities as such, in which an adverse decision could have a material adverse effect.

The Company was involved in litigation with a former employee, Vince Khanna not related to CEO. Vince Khanna alleged that the Company wrongfully terminated him, and that he was not paid his wages and bonus pursuant to written and oral agreements with the Company. Khanna further alleged that he was owed penalties pursuant to the Company's alleged violations of certain California Labor Code sections.

On June 15, 2010, the Company entered into a mutual agreement with Vince Khanna to settle the lawsuit. Pursuant to the settlement agreement, Vince Khanna released the Company from all claims against the Company.

On January 29, 2013, the Company paid off the full settlement amount of $227,000 owed to Vince Khanna. Vince Khanna then made a claim for additional attorney's fees, and the court awarded $193,000 in attorney's fees to Vince Khanna. The Company filed an appeal against this award with the Sixth District Appellate Court. The Company also obtained a bond for $289,782 to stay all legal matters until the appeal was decided. On June 30, 2016, the Appellate Court upheld Vince Khanna's claim for attorney's fees but overturned Vince Khanna's alter ego order against Sonasoft's CEO. On November 1, 2016, Sonasoft has filed motion in the Superior Court to recover $99,000 in attorney's fees that pertained to alter ego appeal. If the Company prevails in this motion, then Vince Khanna's attorney's fees may be significantly reduced.
