Notes to Unaudited Consolidated Financial Statements
For the quarters ended August 31, 2025, and August 31, 2024

NOTE 1. BASIS OF PRESENTATION AND NATURE OF BUSINESS

Nature of Business

Sibannac, Inc. (“Sibannac” or “Company” or “we”) was incorporated in June 1999 in the State of Nevada as Naprodis, Inc. On August 25, 2014, the Company transferred all its assets to Naprodis, Inc., a Colorado corporation (“Colorado Naprodis”). On November 25, 2014, the Company changed its name to Sibannac, Inc.

On July 17, 2017, the Company acquired Imbutek Inc., including its Plan of Operation (the “Plan”), and its sole shareholder became the President of the Company. The Company is preparing and packaging health products for wholesalers and retail under the Plan.

Basis of Presentation

The Company prepared the accompanying unaudited financial statements. Management has made all adjustments necessary to present the financial position fairly, results of operations and cash flows for the stated periods. Except as described below, these adjustments consist only of regular and recurring adjustments. Management has omitted certain note disclosures that typically would be included in audited financial statements prepared under generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America.

Going Concern

The Company prepares its financial statements using generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America applicable to a going concern that contemplates the realization of assets and liquidation of liabilities in the ordinary course of business. The Company has not yet established an ongoing source of revenues sufficient to cover its operating costs and allow it to continue as a going concern.

The ability of the Company to continue as a going concern is dependent on the Company obtaining adequate capital to fund operating losses until it becomes profitable. If the Company cannot obtain sufficient capital, it could be forced to cease operations. To continue as a going concern, the Company will need, among other things, additional capital resources. Management’s plans to obtain such resources for the Company include (1) obtaining capital from Management and significant shareholders sufficient to meet its minimal operating expenses or (2) seeking out and completing a merger with an existing operating company. However, Management cannot provide any assurances that the Company will accomplish any of its plans.

The ability of the Company to continue as a going concern depends on its ability to accomplish the plans described in the preceding paragraph and eventually secure other sources of financing and attain profitable operations. The accompanying financial statements do not include any adjustments that might be necessary if the Company cannot continue as a going concern.

NOTE 2. CRITICAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ESTIMATES

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid instruments with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. At certain times, cash in banks may exceed the amount covered by FDIC insurance.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Financial Accounting Standards Board issued ASC (Accounting Standards Codification) 820-10 (SFAS No. 157), “Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures” for financial assets and liabilities. ASC 820-10 provides a framework for measuring fair value and requires expanded disclosures regarding fair value measurements. FASB ASC 820-10 defines fair value as the price received for an asset or the exit price paid to transfer a liability in the principal or most advantageous market in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. FASB ASC 820-10 also establishes a fair value hierarchy which requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs, where available. The following summarizes the three levels of inputs required by the standard that the Company uses to measure fair value:

Level 1: Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2: Observable inputs (other than Level 1 prices (quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities; quoted prices in markets) that are not active or other observable inputs or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the entire term of the related assets or liabilities).

Level 3: Unobservable inputs (those supported by little or no market activity and significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities).

The Company determines the fair value and accounting treatment of options and warrants per the provisions of ASC 480.

As of August 31, 2025, all the Company's financial instruments are recorded at fair value and securities held-for-sale are marked-to-market on a quarterly basis.

Accounts Receivable and concentration of credit risk

The Company extends unsecured credit to its customers in the ordinary course of business. Accounts receivable related to product sales are recorded when services are delivered, and payment is reasonably assured. Product sales are generally collected 30 to 60 days after receiving the invoice. Periodically, the Company evaluates its receivables and establishes allowances based on historical experience and other currently available information

Inventories

The Company extends unsecured credit to its customers in the ordinary course of business. Accounts receivable related to product sales are recorded when services are delivered, and payment is reasonably assured. Product sales are generally collected 30 to 60 days after receiving the invoice. Periodically, the Company evaluates its receivables and establishes allowances based on historical experience and other currently available information. There was no allowance As of August 31, 2025.

Revenue Recognition

The Company has adopted ASC Topic 606, "Revenue from Contracts with Customers" ("ASC 606"), and all the related amendments. The Company elected to adopt this guidance using the modified retrospective method. The adoption of this guidance did not have a material effect on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or cash flows.

The core principle of ASC 606 requires that an entity recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. ASC 606 defines a five-step process to achieve this core principle and, in doing so, more judgment and estimates may be required within the revenue recognition process than required under U.S. GAAP (including identifying performance obligations in the contract, estimating the amount of variable consideration to include in the transaction price and allocating the transaction price to each separate performance obligation).

None of the Company's revenue represents an obligation to perform services. Since the Company's revenue is generated via multiple small buyers and online, the Company does not have material contract assets or liabilities that fall under ASC 606.

The Company recognizes revenue as goods are sold considered complete upon successful delivery of the product to the customer. The Company has no further performance obligations, and collection is assured as the Company is paid 100% of the retail price of its products when they are sold.

The Company's revenues accounted for under ASC 606 do not require significant estimates or judgments based on the nature of the Company's revenue stream. The sales price is generally fixed at the point of sale and all consideration from the sale is included in the transaction price. The Company's sales do not include multiple performance obligations or variable consideration.

Income taxes

The Company account for income taxes in accordance with ASC 740-10, Income Taxes. The Company recognizes deferred tax assets and liabilities to reflect the estimated future tax effects, calculated at currently effective tax rates, of future deductible or taxable amounts attributable to events that have been recognized on a cumulative basis in the consolidated financial statements. A valuation allowance related to a deferred tax asset is recorded when it is more likely than not that some portion of the deferred tax asset will not be realized. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are adjusted for the effects of the changes in tax laws and rates of the date of enactment.

ASC 740-10 prescribes a recognition threshold that a tax position is required to meet before being recognized in the financial statements and provides guidance on recognition, measurement, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosure and transition issues. The Company classify interest and penalties as a component of interest and other expenses. To date, there have been no interest or penalties assessed or paid.

The Company measure and record uncertain tax positions by establishing a threshold for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. Only tax positions meeting the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold at the effective date may be recognized or continue to be recognized.

The Company had no income tax provision for the periods ended November 30,, 2023, and November 30,, 2022, due to recurring net losses.

Loss per share

ASC 260-10 "Earnings Per Share" requires the Company to calculate its net income (loss) per share based on basic and diluted net income (loss) per share, as defined. Basic EPS excludes dilution and is computed by dividing net income (loss) by the weighted average number of shares outstanding for the period. Diluted EPS reflects the potential dilution that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue common stock were exercised or converted into common stock. The dilutive effect of outstanding options and warrants issued by the Company, are reflected in diluted EPS using the treasury stock method. Under the treasury stock method, options and warrants will generally have a dilutive effect when the average market price of common stock during the period exceeds their exercise price. The dilutive effect of outstanding convertible debt issued by the Company is reflected in diluted EPS using the if-converted method. For periods of net loss, basic and diluted EPS are the same as the assumed exercise of stock options and warrants and the conversion of convertible debt are anti-dilutive. Unissued common shares and convertible instruments are not included in the calculation of EPS because they would be anti-dilutive because of the loss per share.

Stock Warrants

On February 7, 2022, the Company registered a public offering with the Securities and Exchange Commission under Regulation A. The offering is for 27,000,000 Units priced at $.15 per Unit. Each Unit consists of five (5) shares of common stock and an accompanying warrant (the "Class A Warrant(s)") to purchase one (1) share of the Company's common stock at $.20 per share. Each Class A Warrant expires two (2) years after issuance and is immediately exercisable.

The Company evaluated the Class A Warrants for liability or equity classification in accordance with the provisions of ASC 480, Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity, and determined that equity treatment was appropriate because the Class A Warrants do not meet the definition of liability instruments.

The Class A Warrants are classified as a component of permanent equity because they are freestanding financial instruments that are legally detachable and separately exercisable from the shares of common stock with which they were issued, are immediately exercisable, do not embody an obligation for the Company to repurchase its shares, and permit the holders to receive a fixed number of shares of common stock upon exercise. In addition, the Class A Warrants do not provide any guarantee of value or return.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

The Company does not expect the adoption of recently issued accounting pronouncements to have a significant impact on our results of operations, financial position, or cash flow.

NOTE 3. WEBSITE COSTS

During the year ended August 31, 2021, the Company incurred $830,210 in development costs for the purpose of completing the brand builds for rad8Life™, Cherryology™ and The Campus Co. platform ("Campus").

Campus is the entry point for all new relationships with Sibannac. This included all basic contract manufacturing, logistics, and fulfillment, as well as brand building, product design and website creation and social media services.

On June 17, 2021, in a related party transaction, the Company sold the rad8Life™ brand and rad8life.com site to Noho, Inc., for Series B Preferred shares valued at $500,000, which reduced Website Costs held on the Company's books to $330,210. NOTE RECEIVABLE AND PUT PAYABLE

As part of the acquisition of Apollo Media Network, Inc. (“Apollo”) on August 31, 2015, the Company received a $250,000 promissory note from the principal of Apollo (the “Maker”) due and payable to the Company on August 31, 2023 (the “Note”). The Note is secured by a pledge of 1,400,000 shares of the Company’s common stock that were owed to the Maker as part of the acquisition. The Note accrues interest at an annual rate of 1.59% and may be repaid, at the Maker’s discretion, in cash or through the exercise of a concurrently issued Put Option.

The Put Option allowed the Maker to put the 1,400,000 common shares liability to the Company which would fully satisfy the Note, plus any accrued interest at the time of exercise irrespective of the market price of the common shares at the time of the exercised option. The Note and Put Option are linked to one another and, with the exception of any unrealized gain (loss), will offset each other should the holder elect to exercise the put option. Upon exercise, no cash will exchange hands, but the asset, interest and offsetting equity reserves will be adjusted on the Company’s books at that time.

At any time prior to the due date of the Note, the Maker could satisfy the note and accrued interest in cash in exchange for the delivery of 1,400,000 common shares. The offsetting equity reserves would be adjusted on the Company’s books at that time, if the Maker elects to pay the Note in cash.

The Company had discounted the net realizable value of the note receivable and accrued interest receivable on August 31, 2021, to the market value of the 1,400,000 pledged shares.

In May of 2021, the Company received notice that the holder had elected to exercise his option to put the shares and, as a result, the Company wrote off the Note, cancelling the holder’s claim on the 1,400,000 shares; however, the Company was obligated to issue 1,400,000 shares to satisfy the Apollo Acquisition Debenture which had been accrued as an Unissued Capital Stock liability. The 1,400,000 were issued on February 9, 2022.

NOTE 5. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

On November 8, 2022, the Company reacquired the rad8Life™ brand and rad8life.com from Noho, Inc., together with Noho, Inc. hangover beverage assets in exchange for the assumption of $300,000 in debt and the cancellation of certain liabilities owed by Noho to the Company for a net value of $267,450. The Company is actively engaged in developing and running these assets.
