Shareholder update:

Good morning.

Our development and deployment teams continue to work hard. We currently have 348 apps uploaded to our All Pro App developer account, as well as 14 to our Best developer account and 53 to our T3 developer account. I am providing screen shots directly from our iTunes accounts for your review as part of our commitment to transparency.

Unfortunately, we have had a large number of Apple Rejections on our recent batch of uploaded Apps. Most of these Apps are part of the portfolio that we purchased at the direction of our former CMO. We have also noticed that Apple has become much more critical of App content and retina display and an App that would have easily been approved 6 months ago is now being rejected. It also appears that Apple may not want as many Apps as we are uploading at one time and we may need to look at setting up another developer account or spreading deployment over a longer period of time. We are subject to the standard terms and conditions for application developers and Apple has broad discretion to change their acceptance terms, which can be unfavorable to us. A quick Google search will also verify that Apple is becoming more strict with its approvals. As in any good business, it doesn't happen overnight, it takes hard work, focus and persistence to become successful and we will meet any setback with an increased focus for success.

As frustrating as this process is, we will continue to work through all of our Apps to provide compliance with the ever-changing benchmark provided by Apple. Unfortunately, when Apple rejects the app, they do not provide specific reasons for the rejection, which makes it more troublesome and time consuming to correct.

We currently have another 154 Apps in different levels of production, which are included on our internal spreadsheet at the end of this scan and are not included in the numbers listed above. As we continue to grow our company, we will continue to share our Apps with you. Our goal, is to establish a very broad base of Apps that is interesting to many different levels of consumers thereby continuing to build a base of solid downloads and users. With our established base of Apps and with each new App released, we increase our odds of having one or more of our Apps reach a viral status.

Also, keep your eye out for further information about Android deployment for our Apps.
