A. Business Development. The Company was operated as a development stage company for the last three years. Recently in May 2012 the majority interest of the Company was purchased by Riverside Development Management, Inc., which is a private corporation engaged in oil and gas exploration and drilling. Riverside purchased its majority interest from the current CEO and Director of the Company. Our company is an oil drilling company that has been organized to pursue oil-drilling projects throughout the United States. Currently we are engaged in a project located in Wyoming, which involves us partnering with a turbine energy company, a water treatment plant that will deploy their most recent technology to treat and purify water on the drill site and the State of Wyoming.

The Company will benefit from revenues produced from the sale of oil and gas that are currently located on the drill site in Wyoming. In addition, the Company will benefit from certain tax credits that are typically provided to projects of this nature that involve the acquisition of land and the deployment of green technologies used to clean the land and water located on the site.
