Note 1: Basis of Presentation and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Organization

The exact name of the issuer is Advanced Deposition Technologies, Inc. (herein sometimes called the "Company") The Company was incorporated in Massachusetts on January 11, 1985 under the name of Advanced Dielectric Technologies, Inc. In July of 1993 the Company changed its name to Advanced Deposition Technologies, Inc. and changed domicile to Delaware.

Going Concern

The Company's financial statements have been prepared using accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America applicable to a going concern, which contemplates the realization of assets and liquidation of liabilities in the normal course of business. The Company has not generated any revenue for several years. As the Company develops a new business, it assumes that management will be able to make arrangements for future capital sources, but no assurance thereof can be given. The accompanying financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Income Taxes

The Company utilizes the liability method of accounting for income taxes as set forth in ASC 740-20, "Accounting for Income Taxes." Under the liability method, deferred taxes are determined based on the difference between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect in the years in which the differences are expected to reverse. An allowance against deferred tax assets is recorded when it is more likely than not that such tax benefits will not be realized.

Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of reporting cash flows, the Company considers all highly-liquid debt instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Advanced Deposition Technologies, Inc.

Revenue Recognition

The Company plans to recognize revenue when the following four conditions are present: (1) persuasive evidence of an agreement exists, (2) the price is fixed or determinable, (3) delivery has occurred or services are rendered, and (4) collection is reasonably assured.

Income (Loss) Per Common Share

Income (Loss) per common share is computed by dividing net loss available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the periods presented. The Company had no potentially dilutive securities in 2015 and 2014. Accordingly, basic and dilutive loss per common share are the same.

Fair Value

The carrying values of cash and cash equivalents, and accounts payable and accrued liabilities approximate their fair values because of the short-term maturity of these financial instruments.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

The Company has reviewed recently issued, but not yet adopted, accounting standards in order to determine their effects, if any, on its results of operations, financial position or cash flows. Based on that review, the Company believes that none of these pronouncements will have a significant effect on its financial statements.

Note 2: Income Taxes

The Company had no revenue and expenses of $10,159 and $15,490 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. Due to forgiveness of debts by related parties there was other income for the Company for which the income tax liability is not yet determined. The Company has no tax positions at December 31, 2015 and 2014, for which the ultimate deductibility is highly certain but for which there is uncertainty about the timing of such deductibility. The Company recognizes interest accrued related to unrecognized tax benefits in interest expense and penalties in operating expenses. During the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company recognized no interest and penalties. Under the rules of the Internal Revenue Service, the Company's tax returns for the previous three years remain open for examination.

Note 3: Capital Stock

Preferred Stock - The Company is authorized to issue 1,000,000 shares of Preferred Stock, par value $0.01 per share which may be issued in one or more series or classes, with each series or class having the rights and privileges respecting voting rights, preferences as to dividends and liquidation, conversion rights, and other rights of such series as determined by the board of directors at the time of issuance. There are several possible uses for shares of Preferred Stock, including expediting financing and minimizing the impact of a hostile takeover attempt.

Advanced Deposition Technologies, Inc.

As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, there were -0- shares of Preferred Stock outstanding.

Common Stock – The Company is authorized to issue 10,000,000 shares of common stock, par value $0.01. The Company's Board of Directors is expressly granted the authority to issue, without stockholder action, the authorized shares of the Company's common stock. The Board of Directors may issue shares and determine the powers, preferences, limitations, and relative rights of any class of shares before the issuance thereof.

Note 4: Related Party Transactions

4,900,000 shares were issued to a related party in 2008 in exchange for the cancellation of a $4,900.00 promissory note. In November of 2015 the Company and the individual rescinded this transaction. On the same date, the former president of the Company issued 4,900,000 shares to an entity he controlled in exchange for cancelling all accrued wages owed him. He then sold the shares in a private transaction to Mr. Arai, the current president of the Company.

Effective December 31, 2015, the Company negotiated the cancellation and forgiveness of all accrued fees and interest payable on all related party and private notes totaling $18,000.

Note 5: Subsequent Events

ASC 855-16-50-4 establishes accounting and disclosure requirements for subsequent events. ASC 855 details the period after the balance sheet date during which we should evaluate events or transactions that occur for potential recognition or disclosure in the financial statements, the circumstances under which we should recognize events or transactions occurring after the balance sheet date in our financial statements and the required disclosures for such events.

In January 2016, the Company amended the authorized capital of the Company. The Company is now authorized to issue a total of 1,000,000,000 shares of stock, consisting of 200,000,000 shares of preferred stock, par value $0.001, and 800,000,000 shares of common stock, par value $.001.

In January 2016, the Company entered into an Agreement and Plan of Reorganization ("Agreement") with Tahou Natural Resources Development Co., Ltd., a Japanese corporation ("Tahou") and its shareholder. Pursuant to the Agreement, the Company acquired one hundred percent (100%) of the issued and outstanding share capital of Tahou from the Tahou Shareholder in exchange for a new issuance of 300,000,000 shares of common stock of the Company. In January, 2016, 10,000,000 restricted common shares were issued to an advisor to the Company.
