MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OR PLAN OF OPERATION

Overview

The public entity initially filed for a public offering in 1996 in the Thrift Management business that operated a string of Thrift stores in Florida. The Company has been involved in two other business ventures since going public before becoming Baron Capital Enterprise, Inc. The Company's Sole Officer and Director has been an Officer and Director with the Company since January of 2004.

Baron Capital Enterprise, Inc., became the official name of the entity in December of 2011 at which time the goal was to setup and operate several subsidiary companies to service the needs of private and public companies. Baron Capital was to become a one-stop shop servicing clients needs in-house and using clients from one subsidiary as leads to generate income for the other subsidiaries.

In 2012 Baron tried to acquire two small transfer agents to merge into Baron Capital Transfer and rebrand them under the Baron name. The Company was unable to successfully complete the acquisition due to a lack of cash flow and continued need for additional cash to grow the business. The Company decided to delay the transfer agency part of its business plan due to the fact that it will require allocating substantial resources to hire and retain the personnel to run the daily operations.

Baron Capital has decided to focus for now on two key parts that are synergistic in servicing the needs of its target clients. These parts are a bank and brokerage firm. Baron Capital was setup to service small cap companies looking to go public as well as existing public companies. Currently Baron has been able to assist a handful of companies with loans and/or consulting services. However with a brokerage firm, Baron Capital will be able to offer a broader range of services. By working with only audited and reporting companies, this will ensure a quicker turn around for Baron Capital. The biggest problem with servicing non-reporting companies is the length of time money is tied up for. This requires a large pool of cash to continue trying to attract new clients. Baron Capital as part of refining its core business will require all new clients to enter into a two-year non-cancelable consulting agreement paying the company a monthly retainer and quarterly stock options.

Baron Capital does not have an obstacle engaging new clients. Its main roadblock is collecting money owed to the Company in order to service new clients.

In 2012 Baron Capital began selling shares in the market of companies that it held debt in and has continued this practice throughout 2013 and 2014. In the first quarter 2014 the Company sold $42,000 worth of stock in companies in which it owned debt and closed the quarter with $32,000 in cash. Baron closed the second quarter end with over $170,000 in cash, and tradable securities. The Company projects it will continue in its collection throughout 2014 and this will enable the Company to participate in other deals keeping the cycle going.

In 2012 Baron purchased two shell companies and sought to find qualified operating companies to merge into the shells. Baron will retain a piece of the company and enter into a two year consulting agreement with the client paying the company a monthly retainer and stock options. Since March of 2014 Baron has been working with a group to merge an operating company generating over $1 million annually into one of its shell companies. They are in the process of getting the company audited which is a prerequisite to close, and a closing is anticipated this quarter.

On July 1, 2014 the share freeze was eliminated from the Bylaws of the Company. This would enable the Company to amend the share structure or effect a reverse split by majority shareholder consent. At this time Baron has not increased the share structure or filed for a reverse split and does not believe any changes will take place anytime soon so long as the Company can continue to collect the money that is owed.

Baron Capital went dark in January 2013 when its status was downgraded to "Stop" by OTCMarkets and it has not issued a news release since December 2012. The Company was evaluating the business model and the changes that have taken place within the industry for trading OTCPink companies. The debt held in RIGH and TGGI was at the time in two companies that had DTC Chills on them. Even if Baron had sold any shares to pay down the debt owed to it, the funds would be tied up for a minimum of 33 days, which makes it difficult to plan. Baron also had one deal go dark and the other changed business direction right after going public, both of which collectively placed a cash crunch on the company severely limiting its options. The timing to come out of a self imposed quiet period was directly tied to Baron's ability to collect on its debt and have operating capital.

Baron Capital has met with a new auditor which will be retained in August to audit 2012, 2013 and the first six months of 2014. Once that is done the Company has a few ways to achieve an OTCQB listing and will examine its options and chose the one that will give the Company and its shareholders the path of least resistance to achieving this listing. Prior to an OTCQB uplisting, Baron plans to expand its Board and has had discussions with two potential members along with additional staff to ensure the Company has the ability to maximize returns on its investments. At this same time with an expanded Board in place, a method shall be effected to cancel the remaining Preferred shares and remove all series of Preferred shares from the Article of Incorporation. A special provision shall be added to the Bylaws mandating that no less than 75% of the Outstanding Common stock must vote to approve any new Preferred Series, and must vote to approve the Rights and Preferences of the Preferred.
