Item 4. Management's discussion and analysis or plan of operation

A. Plan of Operation.

Within the next quarter we plan on raising additional funds through investors and some revenue. With the continued increase of our client base, we can predict an increase of revenue from the quarters before. Because our current customers are now more knowledgeable about our services, we can expect increased revenues from this. We anticipate raising upwards of $1,000,000 to support our growth objectives for the next 12 months, primarily from accredited investors and small institutions. One of the major milestones for us is landing a large nationally known account, which will serve as a key confidence vote in our Company. Another milestone will be to process in excess of $10,000,000 in transactions in a single month. Either one of these events will dramatically increase our stature in the market, open doors for us to obtain new clients, and significantly increase our potential for obtaining additional growth financing.

The company will not expect more product research or development will be needed within the quarter. There are no expected purchases of significant equipment within the next quarter. Carbon Credits International expects no significant changes in the number employees.

C. Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements.

We have no significant off-balance sheet arrangements that have or are reasonably likely to have a current or future effect on our financial condition, changes in financial condition, revenues or expenses, results of operations, liquidity, capital expenditures or capital resources that are material to stockholders.
