Corporate Information

The Company's corporate office is located at 7117 Florida Boulevard, Suite 203, Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70806; its telephone number is 800-584-3808; and its website is www.clikia.com

History

Our company was incorporated in 2002 in the State of Nevada, under the name MK Automotive, Inc. Our corporate name changed to Clikia Corp., in July 2017.

From 2002 through 2015, our company was engaged in the retail and commercial automotive diagnostic, maintenance and repair services businesses. While ultimately opening five company-operated locations and two franchise locations in the greater Las Vegas, Nevada, metropolitan area, and two franchise locations in St. Louis, Missouri, this business wound down by the end 2015. In December 2015, we acquired Squuak.com, a social media and content sharing tool and platform. Despite significant efforts by our then-management, development of the Squuak.com business model had not achieved the desired results by early 2017. In February 2017, we acquired Clikia Corp. (Clikia-LA), a Baton Rouge, Louisiana-based OTT video streaming service provider, and adopted the OTT video streaming business plan of Clikia-LA.

About the Company

Clikia TV, which is delivered to subscribers by and through the Clikia App, which includes our interconnected Clikia.com website, competes in the over-the-top (OTT) content delivery industry. Over-the-top is the term used to describe the delivery of digital video and TV content via the internet to users, without requiring users to subscribe to a traditional cable or satellite pay-TV service, like Comcast, Time Warner Cable or DirecTV.

Clikia TV subscribers are able to access and watch Clikia TV's streaming cable television content as much as they want, anytime, anywhere, on nearly any internet-connected device.

We believe Clikia TV to be well positioned in a rapidly expanding industry segment. Our initial strategy is to expand the Clikia TV subscriber base in the United States, within the parameters of our profit margin targets. In conjunction with these efforts, we intend always to seek to improve the programming options available to Clikia TV subscribers.

Streaming

The term streaming refers to the delivery method of the medium, rather than the medium itself. Today, streaming refers to situations in which an end-user watches digital video content (or listens to digital audio) on a device over the internet. With streaming content, the end-user is not required to download the entire digital video or digital audio file before consuming the desired content, that is, the desired content is continuously transmitted by a provider to, and received by, the end-user.

Video Delivery (Pay-TV) Industry

Over the past two years, the cable and satellite television industry has experienced an accelerating level of disruption caused by consumers who are cutting the cord. Cord-cutters are consumers who have cancelled their cable or satellite television service, in favor of video services delivered by over-the-top (see discussion below) providers.

Consumers who have cut-the-cord have done so for the following top three reasons:

- Price/Too expensive - 85.3%
- I use an internet streaming service, such as Netflix, Hulu, Amazon Video, etc. - 45.7%
- I use an antenna to get the basic channels on my TV. - 21.8%

Over-the-Top (OTT) Content Industry

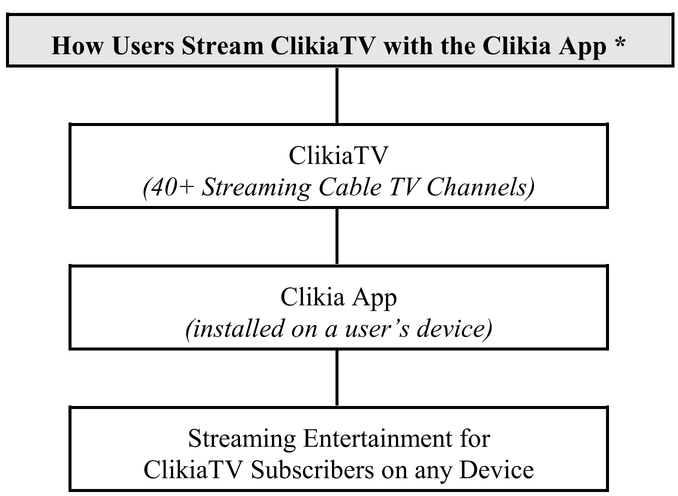
Over-the-Top (OTT). In broadcasting, over-the-top content (OTT) is the audio, video and other media content (e.g., television programming) transmitted, or delivered, to an end-user over the internet, without the involvement of a multiple-system operator. While an Internet Service Provider (ISP) may be aware of the transmitted contents (referred to as internet protocol (IP) packets), the ISP is not responsible for, nor able to control, the viewing abilities, copyrights and/or other redistribution of the IP packets, that is, the delivered content. In short, OTT refers to content from a third party that is delivered to an end-user, with the ISP simply transporting content.

According to a recent study from Digital TV Research, global over-the-top (OTT) TV revenues will more than double from $37 billion in 2016 to $83 billion in 2022, driven in large measure by the success of subscription video-on-demand (SVOD) services, such as Netflix and Clikia TV. It is the success of SVOD services like Netflix that propelled SVOD to the top of OTT revenues sources in 2013: by 2022, SVOD is expected to generate $41.2 billion, or approximately 50%, of OTT revenues, compared to $29.0 billion for advertising-supported video on demand (VOD), $8.1 billion for download-to-own and electronic sell-through and $5.2 billion for rental.

Recent Industry Development. Recently, a pirated streaming cable television App known as XTV was forced to cease operations, including its availability on the Roku streaming platform (Roku, Inc. is the operator of the leading TV streaming platform in the United States (as measured by total hours streamed) [Source: Kantar Millward Brown via Roku, Inc.]).

Our management views the demise of XTV as a positive sign for our properly licensed Clikia TV streaming cable television subscription service, in that it reflects a growing, and proper, effort by content owners to protect their properties from illegitimate distribution. Further, the demise of XTV has strengthened its belief that the legitimacy of Clikia TV's streaming cable television subscription service is a timely entrant into the rapidly expanding OTT industry.

OTT Delivery Model. The OTT content delivery model is in contrast to the traditional model whereby video content is delivered to an end-user through a pay television provider, that is, a cable company. Figure A below depicts the delivery system by which Clikia TV (OTT) delivers video streaming content to a subscriber, without the involvement of a cable or satellite television company.



* ClikiaTV eliminates the need for a Cable TV Subscription and eliminates the layer of cost imposed by the Cable Company. Lower subscription rates are available to ClikiaTV Subscribers.

Figure A

Modes of Access. End-users access OTT content through internet-connected devices, such as smart phones, including iPhone and Android phones, smart TVs, including Google TV, set-top boxes, including Fire TV and Roku, gaming consoles, including PlayStation 4,WiiU and Xbox One, and desktop/laptop computers.

Clikia TV and the Clikia App

General. The Clikia App delivers Clikia TV, a subscription-based cable television streaming service that targets consumers who wish to join the cord-cutting movement, the movement away from traditional cable television subscriptions.

Internet + Device + Clikia App = Clikia TV Anywhere

The Clikia App, itself, is available for download for free in the iTunes Store, the Google Play Store, on Amazon and Roku, and via Google Chromecast, for any device, as well as through its inter-connected www.Clikia.com website.

Clikia TV: A Streaming Cable TV Subscription Service. Currently, Clikia TV is comprised of over 40 channels that are commonly associated with a typical Cable TV subscription. We believe that Clikia TV is currently the only OTT offering that delivers a streaming Cable TV-equivalent service that is not interconnected with a traditional cable or satellite television subscription. Clikia TV includes the channels listed in Figure B below.

Premium Cable TV Streaming Package. Currently, we are pursuing the rights to provide streaming service with respect to a series of channels that are commonly offered as a premium package as an add-on to a typical Cable TV subscription, including certain movie channels, such as HBO and Showtime. There is no assurance that we will be successful in the efforts.

Subscribers. As of the date of this Quarterly Report, the Clikia App provides Clikia TV streaming cable television services to a small number of subscribers.

Marketing

Our initial marketing efforts will focus on social media channels, with a gradual inclusion of traditional marketing channels, including radio, print and television, over time. Our primary target demographic is the population between 13 and 40 years of age. As OTT services become more ubiquitous and better understood, we expect that persons of nearly any age will be candidates for our Clikia TV streaming cable television subscription service.

Agreement with TikiLive

We have entered into a contract with TikiLive, Inc., an OTT delivery solutions company, pursuant to which we obtained the necessary software licenses and related services for the implementation of the Clika App's video streaming service, including for the operation of its interconnected website, www.Clikia.com website. TikiLive, Inc. currently owns approximately 9% of our issued and outstanding shares of common stock and represents a vital part of our continuing and future operations.

Competition

The market for entertainment video is intensely competitive and subject to rapid change. Clikia TV competes against other entertainment video providers, such as multichannel video programming distributors (MVPDs), internet-based movie and TV content providers (including those that provide pirated content), video gaming providers and DVD rental outlets and, more broadly, against other sources of entertainment that Clikia TV subscribers could choose in their free time.

Clikia TV also competes against entertainment video providers in obtaining content that subscribers will enjoy. Because consumers often maintain simultaneous subscriptions with multiple entertainment sources, we strive, and will continue to strive, to cause consumers to choose Clikia TV in their free time. To accomplish this objective, we will seek continually to improve Clika TV, in both technology and content. There is no assurance that Clikia TV will be able to compete effectively.

Netflix, the leading video streaming content provider, and Hulu are among the most well-known of our competitors, as is AT&T, who has aggressively pursued video streaming market share by bundling its DirecTV(R), AT&T Fibre(R) (inexpensive broadband internet service) and cellular services. Many of our competitors, including Netflix, Hulu and AT&T, possess substantially greater resources, financial and otherwise, than does our company. No assurances can be given that we will be able to compete successfully in the OTT video streaming industry.

Intellectual Property

We regard our trademarks, service marks, business know-how and proprietary recipes as having significant value and as being an important factor in the marketing of the Clikia App. Our policy is to establish, enforce and protect our intellectual property rights using the intellectual property laws.

We are the owner of the following trademarks: Clikia, Clikia TV and Sustainable TV. In the near future, we intend to file for registration of these trademarks with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

Facilities

Our corporate and operational office of approximately 200 square-feet is leased and is located at 7117 Florida Boulevard, Suite 203, Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70806. The monthly rent is $300, under a one-year lease expiring in February 2018. Should additional space may be required as we expand our operations, we expect that such space would be available within the current building. We do not own any real property.

Employees

We currently have two part-time employees, in addition to our officers, David Loflin (CEO) and Brian Wendt (Chief Technology Officer). Our business development, corporate administration and business operations are overseen directly by Mr. Loflin. Mr. Loflin also oversees record keeping and financial reporting functions. We intend to hire a small number of employees, at such times as business conditions warrant. We have used, and, in the future, expect to use, the services of certain outside consultants and advisors as needed, on a consulting basis.

These reports are made available on our website as soon as reasonably practicable after their filing with OTCMarkets.com. The monthly rent is $99, under a one-year lease expiring in February 2018. NOTE 1. NATURE OF THE BUSINESS

Clikia Corp. (the "Company") was incorporated in 2002 in the State of Nevada, under the name "MK Automotive, Inc." The Company's corporate name changed to "Clikia Corp." in July 2017. From 2002 through 2015, the Company was engaged in the retail and commercial automotive diagnostic, maintenance and repair services businesses, and, from December 2015 through January 2017, our company pursued the commercial exploitation of Squuak.com, a social media and content sharing tool and platform. Ultimately, these business efforts were unsuccessful. In February 2017, the Company acquired Clikia Corp., a Louisiana corporation ("Clikia-LA"), a Baton Rouge, Louisiana-based "over-the-top", or OTT, video streaming service provider, and adopted the OTT video streaming business plan of Clikia-LA.

"Clikia TV" is the Company's subscription-based streaming cable television service delivered via its Clikia App, which is available in the iTunes Store, the Google Play Store, on Amazon and Roku, and via Google Chromecast for any device, and through the Company's interconnected website, www.Clikia.com, that targets consumers who wish to join the "cord-cutting" movement, the movement away from traditional cable television subscriptions.

Clikia TV competes in the "over-the-top" content (video) delivery industry. "Over-the-top," or OTT, is the term used to describe the delivery of film and TV content via the internet, without requiring users to subscribe to a traditional cable or satellite pay-TV service, like Comcast, Time Warner Cable or DirecTV.
