Item 4 Management's discussion and analysis or plan of operation.

1. Plan for next 12 months: Company management has begun the process to build a commercial store on the world-wide web at MCEndeavors.com where all of its products can be purchased online increased product sales revenue. We will continue to leverage our existing architectural and consulting revenue sources and utilize them as a foundation to cover operational costs basis while pursuing additional capital through the public markets in order to finance more aggressive expansion efforts such as augmenting the sales staff, constructing a modular building facility, and pursuing untapped revenue sources. Management believes expansion of the sales force in the oil producing areas of Texas and North Dakota to increase building product sales and the addition of online oil absorption product sales internationally will increase overall revenues significantly.
 - i. Lower net revenues are in evidence this past quarter (2012-Q1), due to the restructuring and reorganization of the company in January. However, this was an expected outcome by management, as management positions the company for what it believes will be significant growth in 2012 thru 2013. Management believes that the Company is currently capable of sustaining itself through its continued operations without necessitating additional outside capital sources. However, management is also convinced that the ability to raise additional capital will be extremely beneficial for its plans for expansion and to build and/or partner with a modular home builder here in Texas.
 - ii. Management does not anticipate the need for development of any new products or services that would require additional investment in product research/development. Our biodegradable oil absorption products will be tested in a certified laboratory for their ability to absorb and convert raw human sewage sludge into agricultural grade fertilizer here in the U.S. and other selected international countries. Internally the company can support this research and testing process.
 - iii. Management expects to leverage funds raised through capital markets to enter additional construction markets.
 - iv. Management also expects to increase sales and construction staff by another 8 to 12 people.

NOTE 1 - BUSINESS ACTIVITY AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (cont'd)

Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenue and expense during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Additions, renewals, and betterments are capitalized, whereas expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged to expense. The cost and related accumulated depreciation of assets retired or sold are removed from the appropriate asset and depreciation accounts, and the resulting gain or loss is reflected in income.

It is the policy of the company to provide depreciation based on the estimated useful life of the individual units of property and equipment. The depreciation methods and the estimated useful lives for the application of those methods are as follows:

Vehicles:	5-7 years
Equipment:	5-10 years
Buildings:	20 years

Income Taxes

MC Endeavors, Inc. (a "C" Corporation) has adopted Financial Accounting Standards No. 109 which requires the recognition of deferred tax liabilities and assets for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been included in the financial statements of tax returns. Under this method, deferred tax liabilities and assets are determined based on the difference between financial statements and tax basis of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect of the year in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established, when necessary, to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized. The Company generated a deferred tax credit through net operating loss carry-forward.
