6) Describe the Issuer's Business, Products and Services

Describe the issuer's business so a potential investor can clearly understand the company. In answering this item, please include the following:

- a description of the issuer's business operations;

Sidney Resources Corporation management was able to re-negotiate our lease on the Lucky Ben Mine Group properties and were successful in eliminating the annual lease payments of $60,000.00 per year. This lease is now secure and Sidney Resources Corporation Management is currently in negotiations on numerous other high producing properties located within the Warren Mining District of Idaho. Management is focused on acquiring the funds necessary to move the Lucky Ben Mine Group project forward as well as being development work on other properties. Management will be releasing an attractive investment opportunity during the second quarter of 2016 and we anticipate beginning development work in June on the Lucky Ben by clearing the main tunnel and conducting extensive sampling work.

Sidney Resources Corporation has been preparing for work to begin on July 25, 2015 at the Lucky Ben Mine Group properties located in the Warren Mining District in Central Idaho. The Lucky Ben Mine Group properties consists of three patented, deeded claims totaling 53 acres+/- and 2 unpatented claims totaling 80 acres +/-. Dan Hally of Sidney Resources Corporation will be accompanied by Project Geologist, Richard Morris, along with a field assistant, a Mining Engineer, and a Project Engineer.

Our Team is planning to examine the Adit for necessary improvements as well as the area around the Adit that will be necessary to provide safe access to remove the cave in which currently blocks full tunnel access approximately 75 feet into the tunnel. It was common practice in mines such as the Lucky Ben for miners to close a tunnel by causing a cave in just inside the tunnel entrance. The purpose of these closures was to protect the valuable ore from unauthorized mining activities. Our Project Engineer is preparing an operation plan and cost estimate for removing the blockage and open the remaining tunnel for further sampling and inspection.

On June 2, 2015, Sidney Resources personnel met with staff members of the Payette National Forest McCall Ranger District on site to complete a review of the permit application for use of the Arlise Gulch Road and to complete an assessment of the current road conditions and outline necessary improvements and hazard mitigation work to be completed upon approval and issuing of the road use permit requested by Sidney Resources.

A notice was received from the McCall Ranger District that the permit application for use of the Arlise Gulch Road was approved and permission was granted for work to begin clearing downed trees and debris from the road.

On July 3rd work began to clear downed trees, rocks and brush from the road and the work was completed on July 5th. The Lucky Ben Mine Property and main Adit are now accessible and additional work has begun to protect the creek crossing and manage water runoff as outlined in the permit.

It is our goal to complete the removal of the tunnel blockage and inspect and sample the existing underground structures to include the tunnel, shafts and stopes. In addition to this work, it is our plan to complete sampling of the main historical dump as well as multiple other smaller dumps we located during our assessment of the claims. We will do an extensive trenching program to allow sampling along the primary vein structure and in areas we located that upon initial assessment indicate the likelihood of additional structures located on the claims.

The following is an anticipated plan for future development activities:

1. Receive and review operational plan & estimates by Ground Hog Mining for opening the tunnel and cleaning out the cave-in.
2. Open tunnel and trench NE from the "Open Cut".
3. Complete inspection, mapping, and sampling of all safely accessible areas.
4. Improve Adit area
5. Submit all samples for assay. Continue work with the U.S. Forest Service to improve access to the properties and minimize environmental impact.
6. Review assay data.
7. Develop continued exploration/development work based on data & funding.

We are working with our Project Geologist and a group of Mining Engineers who have extensive experience in the development of properties similar to the Lucky Ben Mine Group. The team of experts we have assembled have an extensive level of experience in the Warren Mine District and they will play a key role in developing the plan for moving the property forward and have been invaluable this season as we continue to complete work on site.

Work continued in September on site at the Lucky Ben Mine Group properties and Dan Hally of Sidney Resources Corporation and Project Geologist, Richard Morris, along with a small crew continued work to clear the Adit of material and water in preparation for work to begin on clearing the cave in located approximately 50 feet inside the tunnel.

Our Team was successful in clearing the Adit of debris and completed the work on a temporary drainage system to keep water from building within the tunnel. Accessible areas of the tunnel and main stoop were mapped and measured.

Trenching was completed in the area of the landing in front of the Adit which is one of the locations of the historical main dump. Road work in this area that was completed under the previous administration buried the dump well under parts of the road. Trenching was completed in an attempt to sample the historical dump and determine the economic feasibility of processing the dump contents. The results of the trenching at this time indicate that it wouldn't be economically feasible to process the dump material because it is highly diluted with overburden and fill from the road construction and landing construction that was previously completed in this area.

The first stoop was accessed and strongly iron-oxidized vein quartz material was removed from the stoop where the early mining activity stopped. Samples contained visible gold.

This past year has been a good year for progress at the Lucky Ben Mine Property site. We have made significant progress in the planning and development phase of the project and we were putting ourselves in a position for an exciting 2016 season but we have not been able to negotiate terms of our lease that make it economically feasible to continue the development work on the Lucky Ben Property. The current lease structure requires funding to go to our Lessor instead of being put into the development of the property. We have made every effort to resolve this issue and will continue to do so over the next few weeks but because of the situation we have worked with our experts and have identified alternative properties for development. We are in the process of securing these properties and look forward to announcing full details once negotiations are complete.

The following is a recap of what has been accomplished over the past year:

Work began on site at the Lucky Ben Mine Group properties located in the Warren Mining District in Central Idaho. The Lucky Ben Mine Group properties consists of three patented, deeded claims totaling 53 acres+/- and 2 unpatented claims totaling 80 acres +/- . Dan Hally of Sidney Resources Corporation and Project Geologist, Richard Morris, along with a small crew continued work to clear the Adit of material and water in preparation for work to begin on clearing the cave in located approximately 50 feet inside the tunnel.

Our Team was successful in clearing the Adit of debris and completed the work on a temporary drainage system to keep water from building within the tunnel. Accessible areas of the tunnel and main stoop were mapped and measured. The following pictures include the Adit prior to work being completed and work being done to clear the debris.

The following photos are of the crew working in the tunnel after debris and water was cleared. The photos with the ladder are of the raise which leads into the first stoop.

Trenching was completed in the area of the landing in front of the Adit which is one of the locations of the historical main dump. Road work in this area that was completed under the previous administration buried the dump well under parts of the road. Trenching was completed in an attempt to sample the historical dump and determine the economic feasibility of processing the dump contents. The results of the trenching at this time indicate that it wouldn't be economically feasible to process the dump material because it is highly diluted with overburden and fill from the road construction and landing construction that was previously completed in this area.

The first stope was accessed and strongly iron-oxidized vein quartz material was removed from the stope where the early mining activity stopped. The following are pictures of a few of the samples that were recovered. The first photo shows a sample removed from the vein structure near the surface and it contained visible free gold.

Our Project Engineer and Mining Contractor have completed an operation plan and cost estimate for removing the blockage and open the remaining tunnel for further sampling and inspection. The following photos are of the tunnel blockage.
