6. Describe the Issuer's Business, Products and Services

Describe the issuer's business so a potential investor can clearly understand the company. In answering this item, please include the following:

a. Description of the issuer's business operations:

The Company provides Telemedicine equipment and services to schools across the southeast. The Company is committed to providing schools with the most current, highest level of healthcare available, at absolutely no costs to the schools. The Company will make their money from billing the private insurance providers, Medicaid and Medicaid providers the same charge as an office visit. This is a provision in healthcare called the Parity Law and is currently in place in 24 states requiring the insurance and Medicaid companies to reimburse the medical providers the same amount for a Telemedicine Consultation as they do for an office visit: provided the Telemedicine Consultation is done via live HIPAA compliant video conferencing and incorporates remote diagnostic equipment to allow the medical provider to see the ears, throat and skin of the patient and also hear their heart beat and lungs via a stethoscope.

The Company's operations are currently focused in Georgia and North Carolina. In Georgia, schools using Telemedicine has grown from 3 in 2012 to more than 88 in 2017. This growth has been accelerated by the success of Telemedicine in keeping kids in class and parents at work. It is our goal to have 50 schools online by the end of the school year 2018.

Studies have shown that they we can expect one call per day per school, with an average gross income of $63 for a Medicaid visit plus $22 originating site fee for a total of $85. We have agreements with Nurse Practitioners to provide a 15-minute Telemedicine Consultation at a cost of $25 per visit. That leaves the Company. with a $60 profit per student. Using the assumption from above of one call per day per school in each of the 50 schools it would result in a daily profit of $3,000.

Currently there are 88 schools using Telemedicine in Georgia. There are approximately 500 schools in the United States that are paying for their Telemedicine hardware and software using government grants and private corporate donations. The average cost of the Telemedicine equipment being installed is $25,000 per school.

The Company has developed a Telemedicine solution for schools that delivers to the medical providers the same functionality as the $25,000 Telemedicine equipment, but at a fraction of the costs (about 10%). Therefore, our philosophy is to provide the Telemedicine hardware and software for free.

Management is of the opinion Telemedicine is the way medicine will be delivered in the future. The home market will be exploding in the next few years and we believe our best strategy to obtain market share is thru the schools.

An investment of $125,000 in Telemedicine hardware and software allows us to equip 50 schools, generating annual revenue over $500,000. These numbers are assuming only 20% of the parents enrolling their children in this new technology and only using it once a day per school.
