Other Events

Ingen Technologies, Inc., a Georgia corporation (the "Company") and its CEO, Scott Sand were named as defendants in an enforcement action filed the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Complaint was filed on October 7, 2010 in the Southern District of Florida. Case Number 1:10-cv-23602-PAS styled Securities and Exchange Commission vs. Scott R. Sand and Ingen Technologies, Inc.

The United States filed a criminal information statement against the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer, Scott Sand in the Southern District of Florida on October 7, 2010. In United States v. Scott Sand, Case No. 10-60257-CR-WPD, defendant Scott Sand, 52, of Yucaipa, California, is charged with engaging in a scheme to pay kickbacks to a pension fund fiduciary to induce the fiduciary to misappropriate money from a pension fund in order to buy restricted common stock at inflated prices.

Charles E. Vorwaller resigned as a director of the Company on October 7, 2010. Chris A. Wirth resigned as a director of the Company on October 12, 2010. Yong Sin Khoo resigned as a director of the Company on October 13, 2010.

On October 18, 2010, the Company's board of directors, consisting of Scott R. Sand and Curt Miedema concluded that it is in the best interest of the Company for Scott Sand to remain the Chief Executive Officer of the Company until such time as a suitable replacement can be identified and hired. The Company began a search for additional directors to join its board. There can be no assurance that suitable candidates will join the board.

The Company intends to proceed with the reverse split of its common stock that was approved by the shareholders. The Company has reduced its workforce to one employee, Mr. Sand. The Company intends to rely upon outside consultants to market the Company's products and to perform all other management functions. There exists substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.
