RE: Recent UNAUTHORIZED promotions and volatility of stock

Recently the company's stock has been inaccurately touted and promoted through the use of email campaigns, message boards, twitter and other social networks. This was 100% completely unauthorized by the company. In addition those same promoters took advantage of the company's share structure and sold into unsuspecting shareholders after they themselves promoted it. The company has not hired or compensated anything or anyone related to the promotion or awareness of the company's stock directly or indirectly.

The company has provided financial statements through OTCMarkets.com. There shareholders and investors can see the financial condition the company is in. We hope this puts this issue to rest so the company can focus on its current projects and working to get out of this condition we are in. The company will continue to work towards reaching higher levels of transparency this year by upgrading with OTC Markets.

Company developments will be announced only when fully completed or executed and no earlier.
