Item 8- The nature of the issuer's business

GDT Tek, Inc. is engaged in bringing solutions to the market utilizing low temperature heat sources to produce electricity. Development on GDT's prototype power unit started in 2000 and culminated with the completion of the first operational 15kW waste heat electricity unit in June of 2001. A follow on 50kW unit prototype was completed in May of 2002. After undergoing evaluation and further design refinement at the Republic Federal landfill site in Milpitas, California, GDT operated the upgraded unit at 150KW capacity for five years (production log attached) at the Republic Federal landfill producing revenue of each a month in power sales. The source of waste heat for GDT's unit was a power plant generating electricity utilizing landfill methane gas. The power plant was operated by Fortistar. According to the operating personnel at Fortistar, the GDT unit operated without any major interruptions. The maintenance of the unit corresponded with the maintenance of the feeder plant and came online with any problems or delay. While in operation, the GDT unit caused a noticeable drop in the feeder plant's parasitic load.

The company has licensed patented waste heat to electric power generation technology and is driving its adoption by power plants, landfills and other waste-heat generating industries. GDT Tek's waste heat to electricity systems are powerful enough to serve as a primary energy source, highly efficient, immediately cash-flow positive when installed under a Power Purchase Agreement and are scalable with system sizes from 150 KW/Hr to 5000 KW/Hr currently available. The GDT Tek system has been proven through a long-term five year installation at a San Jose, California-area landfill. Waste heat captured from landfill-generated methane gas generator engine exhaust and radiator jacket coolant systems is used by the GDT Tek system to generate electricity which is then sold to the grid. Professor Robert W. Dibble of the University of California at Berkeley assessed the GDT Tek system and stated that "Of the many technologies that I have evaluated over the course of the past several decades, GDT Tek's heat to power conversion solution has proven to be the most reliable, versatile, efficient, lowest emissions, and overall cost-effective solution available in today's changing world market."

RTR Global Investments, LLC is a wholly owned subsidiary of GDT Tek, Inc. Its holds projects, contracts, and power purchase agreements for its parent company GDT Tek, Inc.

Item 9- The nature of products of services offered

The GDT heat recovery and power generation system is designed to recover low temperature waste heat from industrial process and convert it into electricity. Based on ORC, the process uses environmentally friendly and commercially available refrigerants such as R-123 and R-134a (in the U.S).

The circuit starts at the refrigeration pump, which draws liquid refrigerant at low temperature and pressure (85°F, 16 psia) from a receiver (storage tank). The refrigerant is suctioned off the receiver using positive displacement pump acting as a boiler feed pump. The pump raises the pressure of the refrigerant to 142 psia while maintaining the temperature at around 87 °F. The refrigerant pump is controlled by GDT's proprietary software (US patent no. US 6981377B2), which sends signals to a Variable Frequency Drive, which in turn controls the boiler feed rates in terms of temperature and pressure. The liquid refrigerant is pumped into a waste heat boiler or evaporator, where it absorbs the waste heat from and industrial process and flows out of the evaporator as vapor at relatively high pressure and temperature (142 psia, 240° F). The pressurized gas enters the GDT's proprietary expander where the gas is expanded to relatively low pressure (16 psia) and temperature (127° F). The expander is a conventional compressor configured such that the refrigerant flows in a reverse direction, thereby expanding the vapor instead of compressing it. The energy picked up in the expander is converted to mechanical energy which is used to drive an attached mechanical device such as a generator to produce electricity. The vapor exits the expander and flows through a condenser, where it is condensed to a low-temperature, low-pressure liquid (85°F, 16 psia) same as the original state at the beginning of the process, thus completing the loop.

In addition to the components mentioned in the above process, there is Machine Control Center (MCC) module that has various features, including safety, metering, power control and other control features. The safety feature of MCC contains the main disconnects to the grid providing circuit breakers, over voltage relays, ground fault relays and main bus interconnect to the grid. The metering feature contains power meter, revenue meter and parasitic meter measuring the plants internal power use. The power control section which holds the variable frequency drives and all the power control for MCC. The fourth section holds the low voltage controls, programmable logic controller and speed measuring for the expander. The MCC is built to IES standards for Europe and power generated may be used for net metering and parasitic on-site consumption. Lastly, MCC affords remote monitoring capabilities both via wire line (Ethernet) and wireless enabling low cost remote monitoring of multiple sites

NOTE 2 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation and Principles of Consolidation

The financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly owned subsidiaries and majority-owned subsidiary. They have been prepared in conformity with (i) accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; and (ii) the rules and regulations of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission. All significant intercompany accounts and transactions between the Company and its subsidiaries have been eliminated in consolidation.

Development Stage Company

We are considered to be in the development stage as defined by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States ("GAAP"). We have devoted substantially all of our efforts to business planning, research and development, recruiting management and technical staff, acquiring operating assets and raising capital.

Reclassifications

Certain reclassifications have been made in the fiscal year 2010 financial statements to conform to the fiscal year 2009 presentation. These reclassifications did not have any effect on net income (loss) or shareholders' equity.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in accordance with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes for assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the year. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Investments

Marketable Securities

The Company considers all of its investments in marketable securities as available-for-sale. Available-for-sale securities are stated at fair value, with the unrealized gains and losses presented net of tax and reported as a separate component of Stockholders' deficit. Realized gains and losses are determined using the specific identification method. Gains are recognized when realized and are recorded in the Consolidated Statements of Operations as Other income. Losses are recognized as realized or when the Company has determined that an other-than-temporary decline in fair value has occurred.

Non-Marketable Securities

The Company uses either the cost or the equity method of accounting to account for its long-term, non-marketable investment securities. If the Company determines that an other-than-temporary decline exists in a non-marketable equity security, the Company writes down the investment to its fair value and records the related write-down as an investment loss in the Consolidated Statements of Operations.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures Topic of the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting standards Codification define fair value as the price at which an asset could be exchanged in a current transaction between knowledgeable, willing parties. A liability's fair value is defined as the amount that would be paid to transfer the liability to a new obligor, not the amount that would be paid to settle the liability with the creditor.

Assets and liabilities measured at fair value are categorized based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure their face value. Hierarchical levels are directly related to the amount of subjectivity associated with the inputs to a fair valuation of these assets and liabilities and are as follows:

Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices that are available in active markets for the identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.

Level 2 – Other observable inputs available at the measurement date, other than quoted prices included in Level 1, either directly or indirectly, including:

- Quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets;
- Quoted prices for identical or similar assets in non-active markets;
- Inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability; and
- Inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by other observable market data.

Level 3 – Unobservable inputs that cannot be corroborated by observable market data and reflect the use of significant management judgment. These values are generally determined using pricing models for which the assumptions utilize management's estimates of market participant assumptions.

Net Loss Per Common Share

Basic net loss per common share is computed based on the weighted average number of shares of Common Stock outstanding.

Common stock equivalents such as convertible preferred stock and convertible debentures, etc were not included in the calculation of the diluted loss per share because their inclusion would have been anti-dilutive.

New Accounting Pronouncements

In May 2011, the FASB issued ASU No. 2011-4, Improving Disclosures About Fair Value Measurements, that amends existing disclosure requirements under FASB Accounting Standards Codification™ (ASC) 820 by adding required disclosures about items transferring into and out of levels 1 and 2 in the fair value hierarchy; adding separate disclosures about purchases, sales, issuances, and settlements relative to level 3 measurements; and clarifying, among other things, the existing fair value disclosures about the level of disaggregation. The ASU is effective for the first quarter of 2012, except for the requirement to provide level 3 activities of purchases, sales, issuances, and settlements on a gross basis, which is effective beginning the first quarter of 2012. Since this standard impacts disclosure requirements only, its adoption did not have a material impact on the Company's consolidated results of operations or financial condition.

In February 2010, the FASB issued ASU 2010-09, Amendments to Certain Recognition and Disclosure Requirements, as an amendment to Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 855, Subsequent Events ("ASC 855"). As a result of ASU 2010-09, Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") registrants will not disclose the date through which management evaluated subsequent events in the financial statements. ASU 2010-09 is effective immediately for all financial statements that have not yet been issued or have not yet become available to be issued. The adoption of ASU 2010-09 is for disclosure purposes only and did not have any effect on our financial position or results of operations.

With the exception of the pronouncements noted above, no other accounting standards or interpretations issued or recently adopted are expected to have a material impact on the Company's financial position, operations or cash flows.

Income Taxes

The Company recognizes an asset or liability for the deferred tax consequences of all temporary differences between the tax bases of assets or liabilities and their reported amounts in the financial statements that will result in taxable or deductible amounts in future years when the reported amounts of the asset or liabilities are recovered or settled and for operating loss carry forwards. These deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using the enacted tax rates that will be in effect when the differences are expected to reverse and the carry forwards are expected to be realized. Deferred tax assets are reviewed periodically for recoverability and a valuation allowance is provided as necessary.

At June 30, 2011, the Company has net operating loss that will be offset against future taxable income. No tax benefit has been reported in the year ended June 30, 2011 because the potential tax benefit of the loss carry forward is offset by a valuation allowance of the same amount.

Management has evaluated and concluded that there were no material uncertain tax positions requiring recognition in the Company's condensed consolidated financial statements as of June 30, 2011.

The Company is no longer subject to federal or state and local income tax examination by tax authorities for the years before 2006.

NOTE 3 – GOING CONCERN

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles, which contemplate continuation of the company as a going concern. The Company has experienced significant losses in recent years. At December 31, 2011, the Company had an accumulated deficit of $26,200,862.

The Company is actively pursuing additional equity financing through discussions with investment bankers and private investors. There can be no assurance the Company will be successful in its effort to secure additional equity financing. The Company's ability to continue as a going concern is contingent upon its ability to secure financing and attain profitable operations. The financial statements do not include any adjustment to reflect the possible future effects on the recoverability and classification of assets or the amounts and classification of liabilities that may result from the possible inability of the Company to continue as a going concern.

NOTE 4 – DISCONTINUED OPERATIONS

On June 24, 2010, the Company ceased its business operations and entered into an agreement to sell all of the Company's subsidiaries: Seamless Corp., Seamless Tek Labs, Inc., Seamless Tek Ware, Inc., and Seamless Sales LLC (collectively, the "Company's subsidiaries") to 1st Global Financial Corp. ("FGBF") in consideration of 200,000 shares of Preferred A Stock of FGBF. Subsequently, the Company and FGBF agreed to increase the consideration to 500,000 shares of Preferred A Stock of FGBF.

On October 18, 2010, the Company and FGBF renegotiated the transaction. The parties revised the consideration by cancelling the 500,000 shares of Preferred A Stock of FGBF; and in return, the Company will receive a note receivable from Integrated Resources Tech, Inc in the amount of $2,000,000 in exchange for the Company's subsidiaries.

The Company recognized $2,000,000 gain on the sale of discontinued operations. The Company also made a reserve of $2,000,000 on the note receivable due to its collectability.

The carrying amount of the assets and liabilities of the discontinued operations at December 31, 2011, June 30, 2011 and 2010, were as follows:

Overview

GDT Tek is engaged in bringing solutions to the market utilizing low temperature heat sources to produce electricity. Development on GDT's prototype power unit started in 2000 and culminated with the completion of the first operational 15kW waste heat electricity unit in June of 2001. A follow on 50kW unit prototype was completed in May of 2002. After undergoing evaluation and further design refinement at the Republic Federal landfill site in Milpitas, California, GDT operated the upgraded unit at 150KW capacity for five years (production log attached) at the Republic Federal landfill producing revenue of each a month in power sales. The source of waste heat for GDT's unit was a power plant generating electricity utilizing landfill methane gas. The power plant was operated by Fortistar. According to the operating personnel at Fortistar, the GDT unit operated without any major interruptions. The maintenance of the unit corresponded with the maintenance of the feeder plant and came online with any problems or delay. While in operation, the GDT unit caused a noticeable drop in the feeder plant's parasitic load.

The company has licensed patented waste heat to electric power generation technology and is driving its adoption by power plants, landfills and other waste-heat generating industries. GDT Tek's waste heat to electricity systems are powerful enough to serve as a primary energy source, highly efficient, immediately cash-flow positive when installed under a Power Purchase Agreement and are scalable with system sizes from 150 KW/Hr to 5000 KW/Hr currently available. The GDT Tek system has been proven through a long-term five year installation at a San Jose, California-area landfill. Waste heat captured from landfill-generated methane gas generator engine exhaust and radiator jacket coolant systems is used by the GDT Tek system to generate electricity which is then sold to the grid.

RTR Global Investments, LLC is a wholly owned subsidiary of GDT Tek, Inc. Its holds projects, contracts, and power purchase agreements for its parent company GDT Tek, Inc.
