Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying value of cash, accounts payable and amounts due to related party approximates its fair value because of the short maturity of these instruments. Unless otherwise noted, it is managements opinion the Company is not exposed to significant interest, currency or credit risks arising from these financial instruments.

Revenue Recognition

Presently, the Company is in the development stage and as such has no revenues. Upon emerging from the development stage the company will adopt a policy of recognizing revenue when a definitive agreement with a determinable price exists, product delivery and/or invoicing (in each case where there is reasonable assurance of meeting customer-specified criteria) has occurred, and the collectibility of the invoice is reasonably assured.

Income Taxes

The Company uses the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes. At December 31, 2011 and 2010, respectively, the deferred tax asset and deferred tax liability accounts, as recorded when material to the financial statements, are entirely the result of temporary differences. Temporary differences represent differences in the recognition of assets and liabilities for tax and financial reporting purposes, primarily accumulated depreciation and amortization.

As of December 31, 2011and 2010, the deferred tax asset related to the Company's net operating loss carry forward is fully reserved. Due to the provisions of Internal Revenue Code Section 338, the Company may have no net operating loss carry forwards available to offset financial statement or tax return taxable income in future periods as a result of a change in control involving 50 percentage points or more of the issued and outstanding securities of the Company.

Foreign Currency Translation

The financial statements are presented in United States dollars. In accordance with FASB ASC 830, "Foreign Currency Translation", foreign denominated monetary assets and liabilities are translated into their United States dollar equivalents using foreign exchange rates which prevailed at the balance sheet date. Non monetary assets are translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the transaction date. Revenue and expenses are translated at average rates of exchange during the year. Gains or losses resulting from foreign currency transactions are included in results of operations.

Earnings (Loss) per Share

Basic earnings (loss) per share is computed by dividing the net income (loss) available to common shareholders by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during the respective period presented in our accompanying financial statements.

Fully diluted earnings (loss) per share is computed similar to basic income (loss) per share except that the denominator is increased to include the number of common stock equivalents (primarily outstanding options and warrants).

Common stock equivalents represent the dilutive effect of the assumed exercise of outstanding stock options and warrants, using the treasury stock method, at either the beginning of the respective period presented or the date of issuance, whichever is later, and only if the common stock equivalents are considered dilutive based upon the Company's net income (loss) position at the calculation date.

Stock Based Compensation

The Company recognizes stock-based compensation in accordance with the fair value recognition provisions of FASB ASC 718 "Compensation – Stock Compensation" which requires share-based payments to employees, including grants of employee stock options and other equity awards, to be recognized in the statement of operations based on their fair values. Thus, the Company records compensation expense for all share-based awards granted, based on the grant date fair value estimated in accordance with the provisions of FASB ASC 718. The Company adopted FASB ASC 718 using the modified prospective method, which requires that compensation expense for the portion of awards for which the requisite service has not yet been rendered and that are outstanding as of the adoption date be recorded over the remaining service period. Prior to the adoption of FASB ASC 718, the Company had no share-based compensation arrangements. Accordingly, no prior periods have been restated, the impact of FASB ASC 718 is not presented, and no pro forma amounts are presented had the Company recognized stock-based compensation in accordance with FASB ASC 718.

Stock-based compensation expense recognized during the period is based on the value of the stock-based payment awards that is ultimately expected to vest. FASB ASC 718 requires forfeitures to be estimated at the time of grant and revised, if necessary, in subsequent periods if actual forfeitures differ from those estimates.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

Except for rules and interpretive releases of the SEC under authority of federal securities laws and a limited number of grandfathered standards, the FASB Accounting Standards Codification™ ("ASC") is the sole source of authoritative GAAP literature recognized by the FASB and applicable to the Company. Management has reviewed the aforementioned rules and releases and believes any effect will not have a material impact on the Company's present or future consolidated financial statements.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of Financial Statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities as of the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

3. Investments

This represents the costs associated with the Company's acquisition of oil and gas leases in the State of Wyoming.

4. Fixed Assets

Fixed Assets are carried at historical cost. The depreciation of the Property and Equipment is provided using the straight-line method for financial reporting purposes.

The estimated useful lives of the assets are as follows:

Office Equipment	5 Years

For Federal income tax purposes, depreciation is computed using the Modified Accelerated Cost Recovery System (MACRS) using the half-year convention. Expenditures for major renovations and overhauls that extend the useful lives of the property and equipment are capitalized. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred.

5. Accrued Liabilities

At December 31, 2011 and 2010, the Company had accrued liabilities consisting of accrued rent totaling $5,224 and $5,224, respectively.

6. Related Party Transactions

7. Stockholders' Equity

The Company was organized in the State of Nevada and has 200,000,000 shares of common stock authorized, at a par value of $0.001. At December 31, 2011 and 2010 there were 17,505,576 common shares issued and outstanding.

On March 18, 2008, the Company entered into an agreement whereby it authorized the issuance of 100,000,000 shares of restricted common stock in exchange for services rendered in the development of commercial solar energy alternatives. These shares will be issued as milestones are achieved during the term of this contract which will rollover on a yearly basis until either party gives notice of cancellation at the end of the year. At December 31, 2011 and 2010, none of the milestones specified in the agreement were achieved.

8. Income Taxes

Company provides for income taxes using the asset and liability approach in accounting for income taxes. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recorded based on the differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities and the tax rates in effect when these differences are expected to reverse. This method requires the reduction of deferred tax assets by a valuation allowance if, based on the weight of available evidence, it is more likely than not that some or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized.

The provision for income taxes differs from the amounts which would be provided by applying the statutory federal income tax rate of 39% to the net loss before provision for income taxes for the following reasons:

	For the Year Ended December 31, 2011	For the Year Ended December 31, 2010
Income tax expense at statutory rate	$ (5,605)	$(7,481)
Valuation allowance	5,605	7,481
Income tax expense per books	$ -	$ -

Deferred tax assets consist of the following components as of:

	December 31, 2011	December 31, 2010
Net Operating Loss Carryover	$549,592	$543,987
Valuation allowance	(549,592)	(543,987)
Net deferred tax asset	$ -	$ -

The Company has a net operating loss carryover of $1,409,210 as of December 31, 2011 which expires n beginning 2023. Due to the change in ownership provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, net operating loss carry forwards for federal income tax reporting purposes are subject to annual limitations. Should a change in ownership occur net operating loss carry forwards may be limited as to use in future years.

The Company has net operating loss carryforwards that were derived solely from operating losses from prior years. These amounts can be carried forward to offset future taxable income for a period of 20 years for each tax year's loss. No provision was made for federal income taxes as the Company has significant net operating losses.

At December 31, 2011 and 2010, the Company has established a valuation allowance equal to the deferred tax assets as there is no assurance that the Company will generate future taxable income to utilize these assets.

Due to the provisions of Internal Revenue Code Section 338, the Company may have no net operating loss carryforwards available to offset financial statement or tax return taxable income in future periods as a result of a change in control involving 50 percentage points or more of the issued and outstanding securities of the Company. The Company had no uncertain tax positions at either December 31, 2011 or 2010.

9. Operating Leases

The Company has entered into land leases with the United States Department of the Interior Bureau of Land Management for the exclusive rights to oil and gas properties in the State of Wyoming. These leases are non-cancellable year to year leases.

10. Key Operating Officer

The company's principal officer possesses the necessary experience to develop the company. This puts the Company at a high degree of risk if he was no longer able to function in that capacity.

11. Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern, which contemplates the realization of assets and the liquidation of liabilities in the normal course of business. However, the Company has incurred significant losses and is dependent on obtaining adequate capital to fund operating losses until it becomes profitable. If the Company is unable to obtain the necessary funding it could cease operations as a new enterprise.

Management anticipates that the Company will be dependent, for the near future, on additional investment capital to fund operating expenses The Company intends to position itself so that it may be able to raise additional funds through the capital markets. In light of management's efforts, there are no assurances that the Company will be successful in this or any of its endeavors or become financially viable and continue as a going concern. This raises substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. These financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from this uncertainty.
