Camarillo, CA.

On4 Communications, Inc. (OTCPK: ONCI) announced today that QwickMed will enhance its product sales by offering , as a valuable incentive for its customers to place larger orders of QwickMed kits, a credit card reader at no charge to the customer on each order of 10 cases or more. The credit card reader will operate on any smart phone so that the non-profit customer can receive electronic payment on QwickMed kit sales at point of sale. Providing this convenient payment method will reduce the tracking paperwork burden on non-profits normally associated with the traditional cash and check method of payment and the maintenance of hand written sales ledgers. The non-profit customer will be able to automatically print sales made and the information associated with each sale. Periodically, we will also be able to provide each non-profit group with detailed records to help them track which Fund Raising Campaign was the most successful, and help them review what steps were taken to develop and replicate that success. Timothy Owens, CEO, says “We are thrilled to be able to help our non-profit customers automate their fund raising efforts through the implementation of our credit card reader and the automatic generation of sales data and statistics. This enables them to maximize their fund raising operations – which in turn will lead to greater sales orders for us and well as improved customer relations. We believe that we are on the cutting edge of marketing fund raising programs, products and campaigns”.
