

Blue Diamond Consulting LLC secures rights to Oricann® Cannabis Lighting

Developed in Israel, Oricann® will redefine “Cannabis Grow Lights” on Multiple Levels.

December 5th, 2017, Blue Diamond Ventures Inc. (OTC PK: BLDV) Denver, Colorado / Toronto

Blue Diamond Ventures Inc. (BLDV) has secured the North American rights to the Oricann® brand of Cannabis Grow Lights for their wholly owned subsidiary Blue Diamond Consulting LLC. Oricann® has deployed specialized lighting systems in Israel, in other vertical industries, and has now turned their attention to Cannabis Cultivation Fixtures.

“The focus on Induction Technology of this first offering is significant” said Josh Alper CEO of BLDV, “The low operating temperatures combined with energy savings and spectrum control makes the Oricann® uniquely suited to the Cannabis Industry”

Induction lights use radio waves to produce light and are fundamentally different than HPS or LED lighting, although Oricann® is not the first to introduce Induction Technology to the market, they are the first manufacturer of this technology to fully embrace the Cannabis space with application support and customized spectrum offerings.

Multiple clients of BLDV have signed on to be included in the side by side test grows that will document the advantages of the Oricann® fixtures including Quality Green Inc.

As Cannabis Growers look to create a sustainable competitive advantage in the market by expressing unique genetics and cannabinoid profiles Oricann® can be an asset to achieve profitable goals.

Blue Diamond Consulting LLC will receive a commission on all sales in North America and will be responsible for appointing distributors in all areas starting with Canada.
