On April 16, 2021, Fastbase, Inc., a Nevada corporation ("Fastbase"), and SCI Inc. entered into a Share Purchase Agreement with James Shipley, the owner 50,000,000 shares of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock in Trustfeed Corp., for the purchase of 4,750,000 shares of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock for cash consideration of $108,200 USD. Mr. Shipley agreed to cancel 45,000,000 shares in the process. The transaction closed on April 21, 2021.

On September 14, 2021, Trustfeed Corp. entered into a Contribution Agreement (the "Agreement") with Fastbase for the acquisition of certain assets of Fastbase in exchange for shares of super voting preferred stock in the Company. The assets are associated with Fastbase's review platform giving access to value information about products, which includes proprietary software to crawl, organize, verify, with A.I. rendering, algorithms to do data mining, and an A.I. rendering database of companies, websites, contacts and approximately 500,000 products descriptions. The Company paid for the assets contributed by issuing to Fastbase 45,000,000 shares of the Company's Series A Convertible Preferred Stock.

As a result of these transactions, there has been a change in control of the Company and Fastbase has voting control over all aspects of the Company, including the election of directors, and other corporate actions of the Company that require shareholder approval.

On September 2, 2022, Trustfeed Corp. conducted a reverse split of one to two thousand in which each shareholder was issued one common share in exchange for every two thousand common shares of their currently issued common stock.

On the market effective date of the reverse split, September 2, 2022, there were a total of 266,157 issued and outstanding shares of common stock, par value $0.001, of Trustfeed Corp. In addition to the reverse split, the company approved a name change to Trustfeed Corp.

On October 26, 2022, Fastbase, Inc. requested that the board of directors cancel and return to unissued capital stock, the remaining shares of its Series A Convertible Preferred Stock in Trustfeed Corp., such that we would hold 500,000 shares of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock after the transaction.

On November 4, 2022, Trustfeed Corp. cancelled all outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock, save 500,000 shares of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock which are outstanding and held by Fastbase, Inc.

Also on November 4, 2022, Trustfeed reduced its authorized shares of common stock, par value $0.001 per share, from 1,000,000,000 shares to 295,000,000 shares. Trustfeed also reduced the authorized shares of preferred stock, par value $0.001 per share, from 75,000,000 shares to 500,000 shares. As of November 4, 2022, Trustfeed had authorized 295,000,000 shares of common stock and 500,000 shares of preferred stock, each with par value of $0.001 per share.

Also on November 4, 2022, Trustfeed amended and restated its Certificate of Designation for the Series A Preferred Stock to reduce the number of authorized shares of preferred stock designated and available from 50,000,000 shares to 500,000 shares, with the same conversion ratio of 20 shares of common stock for every share of Series A Preferred Stock.

Finally, on November 4, 2022, Trustfeed filed Certificates of Withdrawal in Nevada to withdraw the Certificates of Designation for Series B Preferred Stock and Series C Preferred Stock. Following the transaction, the only designated and outstanding shares of preferred stock are the company's Series A Preferred Stock.

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of presentation

The Company’s financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“U.S. GAAP”).

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in The United States of America and the rules and regulations of the OTC Markets alternative reporting standard for interim financial information. Accordingly, they do not include all the information necessary for a comprehensive presentation of financial position and results of operations.

It is management's opinion, however, that all material adjustments (consisting of normal and recurring adjustments) have been made which are necessary for a fair financial statements presentation. The results for the interim period are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the year.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ significantly from those estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents

For the purpose of the statements of cash flows, all highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less are considered to be cash equivalents. The carrying value of these investments approximates fair value. The Company did not have any cash equivalents as of September 30, 2022 and December 31, 2021.

Stock-based compensation

The Company follows ASC 718-10, "Stock Compensation", which addresses the accounting for transactions in which an entity exchanges its equity instruments for goods or services, with a primary focus on transactions in which an entity obtains employee services in share-based payment transactions. ASC 718-10 is a revision to SFAS No. 123, "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation," and supersedes Accounting Principles Board ("APB") Opinion No. 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees," and its related implementation guidance. ASC 718-10 requires measurement of the cost of employee services received in exchange for an award of equity instruments based on the grant-date fair value of the award (with limited exceptions). Incremental compensation costs arising from subsequent modifications of awards after the grant date must be recognized.

Earnings per share

The Company follows ASC Topic 260 to account for the earnings per share. Basic earnings per common share (“EPS”) calculations are determined by dividing net income by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the year. Diluted earnings per common share calculations are determined by dividing net income by the weighted average number of common shares and dilutive common share equivalents outstanding. During periods when common stock equivalents, if any, are anti-dilutive they are not considered in the computation.

Revenue recognition

We recognize revenue in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles as outlined in the Financial Accounting Standard Board's ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 606, Revenue From Contracts with Customers, which requires that five basic criteria be met before revenue can be recognized: (i) identify the contract with the customer; (ii) identify the performance obligations in the contract; (iii) determine the transaction price; (iv) allocate the transaction price; and (v) recognize revenue when or as the entity satisfied a performance obligation.

Revenue recognition occurs at the time product is shipped to customers, when control transfers to customers, provided there are no material remaining performance obligations required of the Company or any matters of customer acceptance. We only record revenue when collectability is probable.

Fair value of financial instruments

The Company measures fair value in accordance with ASC 820 - Fair Value Measurements. ASC 820 defines fair value and establishes a three-level valuation hierarchy for disclosures of fair value measurements. ASC 820 establishes a framework for measuring fair value in generally accepted accounting principles, and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. To increase consistency and comparability in fair value measurements and related disclosures, ASC 820 establishes a fair value hierarchy which prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three (3) broad levels. The fair value hierarchy gives the highest priority to quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs. The three (3) levels of fair value hierarchy defined by ASC 820 are:

Level 1 - Inputs are unadjusted, quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.

Level 2 - Inputs (other than quoted market prices included in Level 1) are either directly or indirectly observable for the asset or liability through correlation with market data at the measurement date and for the duration of the instrument's anticipated life.

Level 3 - Inputs reflect management's best estimate of what market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date. Consideration is given to the risk inherent in the valuation technique and the risk inherent in the inputs to the model. Valuation of instruments includes unobservable inputs to the valuation methodology that are significant to the measurement of fair value of assets or liabilities.

As defined by ASC 820, the fair value of a financial instrument is the amount at which the instrument could be exchanged in a current transaction between willing parties, other than in a forced or liquidation sale, which was further clarified as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability ("an exit price") in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

The reported fair values for financial instruments that use Level 2 and Level 3 inputs to determine fair value are based on a variety of factors and assumptions. Accordingly, certain fair values may not represent actual values of the Company's financial instruments that could have been realized as of September 30, 2022 or that will be recognized in the future, and do not include expenses that could be incurred in an actual settlement. The carrying amounts of the Company's financial assets and liabilities, such as cash, accounts receivable, receivables from related parties, prepaid expenses and other, accounts payable, accrued liabilities, and related party and third-party notes payables approximate fair value due to their relatively short maturities. The Company's notes payable to related parties approximates the fair value of such instrument based upon management's best estimate of terms that would be available to the Company for similar financial arrangements at September 30, 2022 and December 31, 2021.

NOTE 3 - GOING CONCERN

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and the satisfaction of liabilities and commitments in the normal course of business.

Management evaluated all relevant conditions and events that are reasonably known or reasonably knowable, in the aggregate, as of the date the consolidated financial statements are issued and determined that substantial doubt exists about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The Company's ability to continue as a going concern is dependent on the Company's ability to generate revenues and raise capital. The Company has not generated any revenues to provide sufficient cash flows to enable the Company to finance its operations internally. As of September 30, 2022, the Company had $4,604 cash on hand. At September 30, 2022 the Company has an accumulated deficit of $830,108. For the nine months ended September 30, 2022, the Company had a net loss of $29,399, and cash used in operations of $25,321. These factors raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern within one year from the date of filing.

Over the next twelve months management plans to raise additional capital and to invest its working capital resources in sales and marketing in order to increase the distribution and demand for its products. However, there is no guarantee the Company will generate sufficient revenues or raise capital to continue operations. If the Company fails to generate sufficient revenue and obtain additional capital to continue at its expected level of operations, the Company may be forced to scale back or discontinue its sales and marketing efforts. The consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments that might be necessary if the Company is unable to continue as a going concern.

Recent accounting pronouncements

Company management does not believe that any recently issued, but not yet effective accounting pronouncements, if adopted, would have a material effect on the accompanying financial statements.

NOTE 4 – RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

5) Issuer's Business, Products and Services

The purpose of this section is to provide a clear description of the issuer's current operations. In answering this item, please include the following:

- A. Summarize the issuer's business operations (If the issuer does not have current operations, state "no operations")

The Company, Trusteed Corp., was in the business of acquiring, leasing, and licensing growers for the cultivation and production (processing and distribution of cannabis and cannabis-related products within an incubator environment). The Company was also in the business of renewable fresh water and real estate.

As a result of the change in ownership of the Company, the Company is now a technology company with access to a global database of information to provide consumers with trusted information about the companies they do business with.

To make sound purchasing decisions, consumers need to trust the companies they buy from and the products they sell. Three big problems stand in the way.

1. Finding Trustworthy Company Information

There is no go-to place to get reliable company information. In each country the Government may have a searchable database which will give very basic information. One would need to look at the company website, LinkedIn, Glassdoor, Google My Business or paid services like LinkedIn Sales Navigator, D&B or Forrester. Review sites have little real information about the company. They mostly focus on a brief description and it varies from one site to the other.

When over 50% of Amazon sales are made through third party sellers (42 billion USD in third party service revenues) it is important to be able to have fundamental information available about a company. A European-sounding company name like Elle Network may turn out to be located in Zhengzhou City, and that can affect delivery times and returns or product support.

2. Trusting reviews

On the other hand, there is no shortage of review sites. Regardless of whether a business buyer (B2B) or a consumer (B2C) there are a few options to perform due diligence and research the companies and products on offer. B2B buyers of software will use one of the growing numbers of software reviewing sites that aggregate reviews like G2, Capterra or IT Central Station. Any company can create a listing. To encourage reviews, incentives are offered, or the vendor sends the invitation to the reviewer.

B2C buyers go to sites that specialize in consumer product reviews for anything from kitchen goods to garden furniture. Most people are familiar with sites like Amazon, Trustpilot, Best Buy, Google and Yelp. Nearly half of U.S. internet users start product searches on Amazon compared to 35% on Google.

There are good reviews and bad reviews. It is not possible to tell whether a glowing review was written by the business owner, its employee or a paid reviewer. A study of fraud found that up to 16% of Yelp review were suspicious. Some Amazon categories had up to 64% of fake reviews.

Bad reviews are written not just by consumers. They are written by the competition, disgruntled employees, in naming and shaming or just for malicious fun.

Many sites combine reviews in their comments sections. It is so easy to manipulate site content that reviews are becoming less trustworthy every day. Even the review sites themselves are often shells for companies or affiliate programs.
