List any stock split, stock dividend, recapitalization, merger, acquisition, spin-off, or reorganization either currently anticipated or that occurred within the past 12 months:

The Company has not undergone a stock split, stock dividend, recapitalization, merger, acquisition, spin-off, or reorganization within the last 12 months, and does not anticipate undergoing the same in the near future.

However, as part of its stated plan, the Company is actively seeking merger targets to acquire certain strategic competencies and employees in order to accelerate its business development and growth. Any proposed merger, asset acquisition, or creation of any subsidiary would only be entertained if the Company were to remain as the absolute surviving entity, in all respects.

Additionally, the Company has a stated goal to list its common stock with a national exchange (like the NASDAQ or NYSE), and management believes that in order to qualify for listing with such an exchange a reverse-split of its common stock will be necessary at the time of formal application. However, management firmly believes that a reverse-split of its common stock for any other reason is not in the best interest of the Company and, therefore, any pressure to reverse-split its common stock will be resisted.

Security Description:

The goal of this section is to provide a clear understanding of the material rights and privileges of the securities issued by the company. Please provide the below information for each class of the company's equity securities, as applicable:

1. For common equity, describe any dividend, voting and preemption rights.

Common Stock

- a. Dividend Rights: Holders of Common Stock are entitled to receive dividends and distributions (whether payable in cash or otherwise) as may be declared by the board of directors from time to time out of assets or funds of the Corporation legally available therefor. Stock dividends with respect to Common Stock may be paid only with shares of Common Stock.
- b. Voting Rights: Holders of Common Stock are entitled to one vote for each share of Common Stock held on all matters presented to stockholders, including the election of directors, except as may be provided in the Articles of Incorporation or required by law.
- c. Preemption Rights: There are no preemptive rights for holders of Common Stock.

2. For preferred stock, describe the dividend, voting, conversion, and liquidation rights as well as redemption or sinking fund provisions.

Series A Preferred Stock

- a. Dividends: Series A Preferred Stock holders are entitled to receive dividends, if and when declared by the board of directors, in preference to any other series or class of capital stock.
- b. Voting Rights: Each Series A Preferred Stock share has the same number of votes as if converted into common stock at the time of voting, giving Series A stockholders, as a class, approximately 51.22% of the common stock vote on all matters presented to stockholders.
- c. Conversion: Each holder of the Series A stock is allowed to convert their shares into the Corporation's common stock, with a conversion ratio of one share of Series A for 1.05% of the then-issued and outstanding number of common shares, calculated on a fully-diluted basis. The conversion must be done as a class, meaning all Series A stock must be converted at the same time. The conversion ratio and the number of Series A shares outstanding will not be adjusted for any reason, such as common stock dividends, forward or reverse stock splits, or similar events. As a result of this conversion, the holders of the Series A stock will hold approximately 51.22% of the common stock of the Corporation post-conversion, diluting the existing common stockholders accordingly.
- d. Liquidation: In the event of the Corporation's liquidation, dissolution, or winding up, Series A Preferred Stock holders will receive a distribution of assets on an as-converted basis, on par with the Common Stock.
- e. Redemption: Series A Preferred Stock is not subject to mandatory redemption, sinking fund, or similar provisions, and holders have no right to demand redemption or repurchase of their shares.

Series B Preferred Stock:

- a. Dividends: 4% per annum of the Original Purchase Price ($1.00 per share), cumulative, and payable quarterly if and when declared by the Board of Directors.
- b. Voting Rights: No voting rights for Series B stockholders.
- c. Conversion: Series B shares can be converted into two shares of Common Stock at any time or will automatically convert to common if the common stock price closes above $0.50 for 10 consecutive trading days. The conversion ratio and outstanding number shares of Series B will not be adjusted for events like stock dividends or splits.
- d. Liquidation: In the event of the Corporation's liquidation, dissolution, or winding up, Series B stockholders will receive $1.00 per share after senior stockholders but before junior stockholders. Any remaining assets will be distributed proportionally among Series B holders and others with the same preference. Junior stockholders will receive remaining assets proportionally after Series B and other stockholders with the same preference are paid. Non-cash assets will be valued by the Board of Directors in good faith.
- e. Redemption: Series B shares are not subject to mandatory redemption, sinking fund, or similar provisions, and shareholders have no right to demand redemption or repurchase.

NOTE 1- BASIS OF PRESENTATION

The accompanying interim financial statements were prepared by the Company without audit. Certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America have been condensed or omitted. In management's opinion all necessary adjustments, which consist primarily of normal recurring adjustments, to the financial statements have been made to present fairly the financial position and results of operations and cash flows. The results of operations for the respective periods presented are not necessarily indicative of the results for the respective complete years.
