1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES1.1 Nature of Operations

Sincerity Applied Material Holdings Corp (the "Company") is a specialized provider of technologically advanced packing materials for the automotive, packaging, building & construction, and engineering industries, with headquarters located near Melbourne, Australia. The Company's primary customer is an unrelated entity with global operations that accounts for approximately 80%-90% of The Company's revenue, and The Company's primary suppliers are in China and Malaysia.

1.2 Basis of Accounting

The accompanying financial statements include the accounts of Sincerity Applied Material Holdings Corp which is a company domiciled in Australia. These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in the United States ("GAAP") and Regulation S-X published by the US Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"). Certain prior period amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current period presentation. Such reclassifications had no effect on the prior period net income, accumulated deficit, net assets, or total shareholders' deficit. The Company has evaluated events or transactions through the date of issuance of this report in conjunction with the preparation of these consolidated financial statements. All amounts presented are in US dollars, unless otherwise noted.

The financial statements, except for cash flow information, have been prepared on an accruals basis and are based on historical costs, modified, where applicable, by the measurement at fair value of selected non-current assets, financial assets and financial liabilities. The amounts presented in the financial statements have been rounded to the nearest dollar.

1.3 Going Concern Basis

The financial statements of Sincerity Applied Materials Holdings Corp ("the Company" or "SINC") have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the continuation of business operations and the realization of assets and settlement of liabilities in the normal course of business. However, certain conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern

At March 31, 2025, the Company had a current asset deficiency of $318,742 (December 31, 2024 current asset deficiency of $2,362,962) and reported an after-tax gain of $2,575,740 for the three months ended March 31, 2025 (March 31, 2024 after-tax loss of $35,046). The increase in losses and asset deficiency was primarily attributable to legacy operations that have since been restructured. In response, the Company has undertaken significant strategic initiatives to improve financial stability and long-term profitability.

To address these financial challenges, SINC has executed a corporate restructuring plan, including the pin-off of unprofitable business segments in 2025. This strategic divestment will allow the Company to concentrate its resources on the expansion of its water treatment chemicals division and the commercialization of its innovative quantum glass technology, both of which are expected to drive substantial revenue growth in the coming years.

Moreover, the Company has successfully secured commitments from Australian-based institutional investors to support its next phase of growth. This funding is expected to provide additional working capital, facilitating market expansion and the commercialization of its core product lines. The Company continues to explore further financing options, including strategic partnerships and potential capital raises, to ensure operational sustainability.

The ability of the Company to continue as a going concern is dependent on its capacity to generate sufficient revenues from its core business operations and secure additional funding as needed. While management remains confident in the successful execution of its growth strategy, there can be no assurance that the anticipated improvements in financial performance and liquidity will be realized within the expected timeframe. As such, these factors indicate the existence of material uncertainty that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

Management continues to monitor its financial position closely and is committed to taking all necessary steps to strengthen its balance sheet and achieve long-term financial sustainability.

1.4 Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP") requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

1.5 Foreign Currency Translation

The functional currency of the Company is its local currency, the Australian dollar (AUD). The financial statements of the Company have been translated into U.S. dollars (USD). All balance sheet accounts, other than those in stockholder's deficiency, which are translated, based on historical rates accumulated over time, have been translated using the exchange rate in effect at the balance sheet date. Income statement amounts have been translated using the average exchange rate in effect for the three months ended March 31, 2025. Accumulated net translation adjustments have been reported separately in other comprehensive loss in the financial statements. Foreign currency translation adjustments resulted in $nil for the three months ended March 31, 2025; such translation adjustments are not subject to income taxes. Foreign currency transaction loss resulting from exchange rate fluctuations on transactions denominated in a currency other than the AUD, the functional currency, totaled $nil for the three months ended March 31, 2025, and is included in the accompanying statement of income for the period.

1.6 Cash and Cash Equivalents and Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company considers all highly liquid short-term investments with original maturities of three months or less at the date of acquisition to be cash equivalents. The carrying value of cash and cash equivalents approximates fair value due to the short-term nature of these instruments.

The Company's financial instruments exposed to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of cash and cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents are held in several Australian bank accounts. The Company regularly assesses the level of credit risk we are exposed to and whether there are better ways of managing credit risk. The Company invests its cash and cash equivalents with reputable financial institutions. The Company has not incurred any losses related to these deposits.

1.7 Accounts Receivable

The Company carries its accounts receivable at cost less an allowance for doubtful accounts. The Company evaluates its accounts receivable on a regular basis and establishes an allowance for doubtful accounts, when deemed necessary, based on a history of past write-offs and collections and current credit conditions. A receivable is considered past-due based either on contractual terms or payment history. Accounts are written off as uncollectible after collection efforts have failed. In addition, The Company does not generally charge interest on past-due accounts or require collateral. It is at least reasonably possible that changes may occur in the near term that would affect management's estimate of the allowance for doubtful accounts. At March 31, 2024, management determined that no allowance for doubtful accounts was required.

1.8 Goodwill

Goodwill is tested for impairment at the reporting unit level (operating segment or one level below an operating segment) on an annual basis and between annual tests if an event occurs or circumstances change that would more likely than not reduce the fair value of a reporting unit below its carrying value.

1.9 Payables

Payables are carried at amortized cost and, due to their short-term nature, they are not discounted. They represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Company prior to the end of the financial period that are unpaid and arise when the Company becomes obliged to make future payments in respect of the purchase of these goods and services. The amounts are unsecured and are usually paid within 30 days of recognition.

1.10 Provisions

Provisions are recognized when the Company has a legal or constructive obligation, as a result of past events, for which it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will result and that outflow can be reliably measured. Provisions are measured using the best estimate of the amounts required to settle the obligation at the end of the reporting period.

1.11 Leases

Leases of fixed assets, where substantially all the risks and benefits incidental to the ownership of the asset – but not the legal ownership – are transferred to entities in the consolidated group, are classified as finance leases.

Finance leases are capitalized by recognizing an asset and a liability at the lower of the amounts equal to the fair value of the leased property or the present value of the minimum lease payments, including any guaranteed residual values. Lease payments are allocated between the reduction of the lease liability and the lease interest expense for the period.

Leased assets are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the shorter of their estimated useful lives or the lease term.

Lease payments for operating leases, where substantially all the risks and benefits remain with the lessor, are recognized as expenses on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

1.12 Loans and Borrowings

All loans and borrowings are initially recognized at cost, being the fair value of the consideration received net of issue costs associated with the borrowing.

After initial recognition, interest-bearing loans and borrowings are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method. Amortized cost is calculated by taking into account any issue costs, and any discount or premium on settlement.

1.13 Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenue when the goods are delivered at the port of shipment by the supplier, the price is fixed or determinable, and collectability is reasonably assured.

Interest revenue is recognized using the effective interest method, which for floating rate financial assets is the rate inherent in the instrument.

All revenue is stated net of the amount of goods and services tax.

1.14 Income Tax

We account for income taxes using the asset and liability method, under which the current income tax expense or benefit is the amount of income tax expected to be payable or refundable in the current year. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recorded for the estimated future tax consequences of temporary differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases, and for operating loss and tax credit carryforwards. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the year in which the temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled.

We evaluate the realizability of our deferred tax assets and establish a valuation allowance when it is more likely than not that all or a portion of our deferred tax assets will not be realized. In making such a determination, we consider all available positive and negative evidence, including future reversals of existing taxable temporary differences, projected future taxable income, tax planning strategies, and results of recent operations. If we determine that we would be able to realize our deferred tax assets in the future in excess of their net recorded amount, we would make an adjustment to the deferred tax asset valuation allowance, which would reduce the provision for income taxes.

We account for the uncertainty in income tax components based on tax positions taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. To recognize a benefit, a tax position must be more likely than not to be sustained upon examination by taxing authorities. We do not recognize tax benefits that have a less than 50 percent likelihood of being sustained. Our policy is to recognize interest and tax penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits in income tax expense; no interest or tax penalties on uncertain tax benefits have been recorded through the three months ended March 31, 2025.

SINCERITY APPLIED MATERIALS HOLDINGS CORP.

Notes to Consolidated Statements

1.15 Goods and Services Tax (GST)

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognized net of the amount of GST, except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of the amount of GST receivable or payable. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included with other receivables or payables in the statement of financial position.

Cash flows are presented on a gross basis. The GST components of cash flows arising from investing or financing activities, which are recoverable from or payable to the ATO, are presented as operating cash flows included in receipts from customers or payments to suppliers.

1.16 Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

The Company reviews long-lived assets, including fixed assets, for impairment whenever events or circumstances indicate that the carrying value of such assets may not be fully recoverable. Impairment is present when the sum of undiscounted estimated future cash flows expected to result from use of the asset is less than carrying value. If impairment is present, the carrying value of the impaired asset is reduced to its fair value. Fair value is determined based on discounted cash flows or appraised values, depending on the nature of the asset. During the three months ended March 31, 2024, no impairment losses were recognized for long-lived assets.

1.17 Stock-Based Compensation

The Company recognizes all employee share-based compensation as a cost in the consolidated financial statements. Equity-classified awards principally related to stock options, restricted stock units ("RSUs") and performance stock units ("PSU"), are measured at the grant date fair value of the award. The Company determines grant date fair value of stock option awards using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model. The fair value of restricted stock awards is determined using the closing price of the Company's common stock on the grant date. For service based vesting grants, expense is recognized over the requisite service period based on the number of options or shares expected to ultimately vest. For performance-based vesting grants, expense is recognized over the requisite period until the performance obligation is met, assuming that it is probable. No expense is recognized for performance-based grants until it is probable the vesting criteria will be satisfied. Forfeitures are estimated at the date of grant and revised when actual or expected forfeiture activity differs materially from original estimates.

Stock-based payments to non-employees are re-measured at each reporting date and recognized as services are rendered, generally on a straight-line basis. The Company believes that the fair values of these awards are more reliably measurable than the fair values of the services rendered.

1.18 Earnings (Loss) per Common Share

Basic earnings (loss) per common share is computed by dividing income or losses available to common shareholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding for the period. Diluted earnings (loss) per common share is computed similar to basic net income or losses per share except that the denominator is increased to include the number of additional common shares that would have been outstanding if all the potential common shares, warrants and stock options had been issued and of the additional common shares were dilutive. Diluted earnings (loss) per common share is based on the assumption that all dilutive convertible shares and stock options were converted or exercised. Dilution is computed by applying the treasury stock method for the outstanding options and the if-converted method for the outstanding convertible preferred shares. Under the treasury stock method, options and warrants are assumed to be exercised at the beginning of the period (or at the time of issuance, if later), and as if funds obtained thereby were used to purchase common stock at the average market price during the period. Under if converted method, convertible outstanding instruments are assumed to be converted into common stock at the beginning of the period (or at the time of issuance, if later).

1.19 Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income (Loss)

Comprehensive income (loss) is presented net of applicable income taxes in the accompanying consolidated statements of stockholders' equity and comprehensive income (loss). Other comprehensive income (loss) is comprised of revenues, expenses, gains, and losses that under GAAP are reported as separate components of stockholders' equity instead of net income (loss).

1.20 Recently Issued Accounting Standards

The Company continually assesses any new accounting pronouncements to determine their applicability to the Company. Where it is determined that a new accounting pronouncement affects the Company's financial reporting, the Company undertakes a study to determine the consequence of the change to its financial statements and assures that there are proper controls in place to ascertain that the Company's financials properly reflect the change. The Company currently does not have any recent accounting pronouncements that they are studying and feel may be applicable.

1.21 Reverse Acquisition Accounting

In accordance with "reverse acquisition" accounting treatment, our historical financial statements as of period ends, and for periods ended, prior to the Acquisition will be replaced with the historical financial statements of Sincerity Australia Pty Ltd ("SAPL"), prior to the Acquisition, in all future filings with the SEC. Consequently retroactive adjustments have been made to the equity balances of SAPL to reflect the equity balances of the legal parent company Sincerity Applied Materials Holdings Corp as required under ASC 805 and the application of reverse acquisition accounting.

2. Critical Accounting Estimates and Judgments

The Directors evaluate estimates and judgments incorporated into the financial statements based on historical knowledge and best available current information. Estimates assume a reasonable expectation of future events and are based on current trends and economic data, obtained both externally and within the Company.

Key Estimates(i) Useful lives

The Company determines the estimated useful lives and related depreciation and amortization charges for its property and equipment and finite life intangible assets. The useful lives could change significantly as a result of technical innovations or some other event. The depreciation and amortization charge will increase where the useful lives are less than previously estimated lives, or technically obsolete or non-strategic assets that have been abandoned or sold will be written off or written down.

(ii) Income tax

The Company is subject to income taxes in the jurisdictions in which it operates. Significant judgement is required in determining the provision for income tax. There are many transactions and calculations undertaken during the ordinary course of business for which the ultimate tax determination is uncertain. The Company recognizes liabilities for anticipated tax audit issues based on the Company's current understanding of the tax law. Where the final tax outcome of these matters is different from the carrying amounts, such differences will impact the current and deferred tax provisions in the period in which such determination is made.

(iii) Fair value measure of shares issued and convertible notes payable

The calculation of the fair value of shares issued requires significant estimate to be made in regards to several variables. The estimations made are subject to variability that may alter the overall fair value determined.

Convertible notes payable are analyzed at issue date to determine balance sheet classification, issue discounts or premiums, and embedded or derivative features. Embedded or derivative features are evaluated in accordance with accounting guidance for derivative securities and, if the features give rise to separate accounting, we make an election to account for the notes at cost or at fair value.

If fair value accounting is elected, on the issue date we record the difference between the issue price of the notes and their fair value as a gain or loss in the consolidated statement of operations. We re-measure the fair value at each reporting date and record again (upon a decrease in fair value) or loss (upon an increase in fair value) for the change in fair value. Fair value is determined using a Black Scholes valuation model with; inputs to the model include the market value of the underlying stock, a life equal to the contractual life of the notes, incremental borrowing rates that correspond to debt with similar credit worthiness, estimated volatility based on the historical prices of our trading securities, and we make assumptions as to our abilities to test and commercialize our product(s), to obtain future financings when and if needed, and to comply with the terms and conditions of the notes.

SINCERITY APPLIED MATERIALS HOLDINGS CORP.Notes to Consolidated Statements

Following an analysis of their embedded and derivative features and a projection of the volatility of their effective interest rates under the cost method, we elected to utilize fair value accounting for the convertible notes payable we issued on during the three months ended 30 June 2018. Management believes the fair value method of accounting provides a more appropriate presentation of these liabilities than would be provided under the cost method.

Key Judgements(i) Provision for impairment of receivables

The provision for impairment of receivables assessment requires a degree of estimation and judgement. The level of provision is assessed by taking into account the recent sales experience, the ageing of receivables, historical collection rates and specific knowledge of the individual debtors' financial position.

(ii) Impairment

The Company assessed that no indicators of impairment existed at the reporting date and as such no impairment testing was performed.

3. Segment Information

The consolidated entity operates predominantly in one industry and one geographical segment, those being sales of technical advanced plastics materials in Australia, respectively.

10. Convertible notes payable and Common stock warrant liabilityFair Value Measurements:

We measure the fair value of our financial and non-financial assets and liabilities at each reporting date. Fair value is defined as the exchange price at which an asset or liability would be transferred in the principal or most advantageous market in an orderly transaction between market participants as of a measurement date.

Accounting guidance provides an established hierarchy to be used in measuring fair value that maximizes the use of observable inputs and minimizes the use of unobservable inputs; observable inputs are required to be used when available. Observable inputs are those used by market participants to value an asset or liability and are developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of us.

Unobservable inputs are those that reflect our assumptions about factors that market participants would use to value an asset or liability. Fair value measurements are classified and disclosed in one of the following three categories:

- Level 1 – Quoted market prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets at the measurement date;
- Level 2 – Inputs other than Level 1 that are observable, either directly or indirectly, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active or non-active markets, or other inputs that can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of an asset or liability; and,
- Level 3 – Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of an asset or liability, including management's best estimate of the factors that market participants would use in pricing an asset or liability at the measurement date.

We carry our convertible notes payable and common stock warrant liability at fair value. We carry our other financial instruments at amortized cost; these items include cash, accounts payable, and accrued expenses. The carrying amounts of our cash and cash equivalents, accounts payable, and accrued expenses are considered to be reasonable estimates of their respective fair values due to their short-term nature and, therefore, fair value information is not provided.

On December 22, 2017, new tax reform legislation in the U.S., known as the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (the "Act") was signed into law. At March 31, 2024, the Company has not yet completed its accounting assessment for the tax effects of the enactment of the Act; however, as described below, the Company has made a reasonable estimate of the effects on the existing deferred tax balances.

As a result of the lower enacted corporate tax rate, the Company has remeasured certain deferred tax assets and liabilities based on the rates at which they are expected to reverse in the future, which is generally 21%.

Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 118 ("SAB 118") was issued to address the application of US GAAP in situations when a registrant does not have the necessary information available, prepared, or analyzed (including computations) in reasonable detail to complete the accounting for certain income tax effects of the Act. In accordance with SAB 118, the Company has provisionally determined that there is no deferred tax benefit or expense with respect to the remeasurement of certain deferred tax assets and liabilities due to the full valuation allowance against net deferred tax assets. The Company is still analyzing certain aspects of the Act and refining its calculations, which could potentially affect the measurement of these balances or potentially give rise to new deferred tax amounts. Additional analysis of the law and the impact to the Company will be performed and any impact will be recorded in the respective quarter in 2023.

We will test goodwill for impairment annually at the reporting unit level, primarily using a discounted cash flow methodology with a peer-based, risk-adjusted weighted average cost of capital. We believe the use of a discounted cash flow approach is the most reliable indicator of the fair values of the businesses. As B D Pacific was acquired recently, we believed that there is no impairment at this time.

Reverse Stock Split

On May 1st, 2025, the Board of Directors of Sincerity Applied Materials Holdings Corp. (“SINC” or the “Company”) approved a 1-for-100,000 reverse stock split of its common stock. The reverse split is expected to become effective following regulatory processing and approval by FINRA.

This action was taken to significantly reduce the number of outstanding shares and improve the Company’s capital structure, which has been impaired by legacy share issuances and historical convertible debt financing. The goal is to align the share structure with SINC’s future growth potential and capital market aspirations.

Rationale

The Company’s decision was based on the following key factors:

1. Underperforming Third-Party Agreements: A large volume of shares, including approximately 77.3 million, were issued to a third party who failed to deliver contracted performance. Despite provisions for refund or cancellation, these shares remain unrecovered, diluting shareholder equity.
2. Non-returned Shares from Former Management Agreements: Approximately 504.5 million shares issued under prior management and vendor arrangements, particularly within Agrosshield’s previous structure, remain outstanding despite the cessation of related obligations.
3. Toxic Financing History and Market Saturation: Prior to the current management’s restructuring efforts, SINC was subject to several convertible debt instruments that resulted in excessive dilution and float saturation. This has suppressed the Company’s stock price and hindered its ability to pursue uplisting to a senior exchange.

Notes to Consolidated Statements

Strategic Outlook

The reverse split is a foundational step in restoring SINC's capital integrity and positioning the Company for future institutional investment and potential uplisting to the NASDAQ Capital Market. This coincides with the Company's expansion into advanced filtration technologies, including the establishment of its first quantum glass manufacturing facility in Adelaide, Australia – with an annual production capacity of 15,000 metric tons, targeting gross margins above 50%.

Management believes that aligning SINC's share structure with its industrial scale, proprietary technology, and international growth roadmap is essential to delivering long-term value for shareholders.
