On February 24, 2023, the Company entered into an Asset Acquisition Agreement (the “Agreement”) with Kilimanjaro Lithium, LTD (“KLL”) and Lawrence Stephenson, a director of KLL. Pursuant to the terms of the Agreement, the Company was to acquire up to 100% ownership interest in KLL that would hold two prospecting licenses (“PLs”) which grant the rights to conduct exploration activities on Titan 1 and Titan 2 located in Tanzania (collectively hereinafter the “Titan Projects”). The original agreement allowed for 100% ownership of the PLs in exchange for 133,000,000 shares of Common stock and cash payments that would total $6,275,000. In December 2023, the Agreement was restructured, and the Company removed the cash payment obligations for 100% ownership of the Titan 1 and Titan 2 Prospecting Licenses and all any claims to Net Smelter Return (“NSR”) holdings have been relinquished.

The restructuring resulted in the reduction of $6,275,000 in payments and potential ownership of NSRs for the Company on the projects. The Company was able to secure the two PLs directly from Abdul Stanislaw, the original owner of the PLs. As of March 31, 2023, the Company had completed the payment of $ 65,000 to Mr. Stevenson for his reimbursement payments of exploration expenses.

On April 26, 2022, the Company increased its authorized common stock from 50,000,000 to 500,000,000.

4) Issuer's Business, Products and Services

A. Summarize the issuer's business operations (If the issuer does not have current operations, state "no operations")

China Dongsheng International Inc, through its subsidiary Kilimanjaro Lithium Ltd. is a mineral exploration company.

LITHIUM PROJECT (TANZANIA).

On February 24, 2023, the Company entered into an Asset Acquisition Agreement (the "Agreement") with Kilimanjaro Lithium, LTD ("KLL") and Lawrence Stephenson, a director of KLL. Pursuant to the terms of the Agreement, the Company was to acquire up to 100% ownership interest in KLL that would hold two prospecting licenses ("PLs") which grant the rights to conduct exploration activities on Titan 1 and Titan 2 located in Tanzania (collectively hereinafter the "Titan Projects"). The original agreement allowed for 100% ownership of the PLs in exchange for 133,000,000 shares of Common stock and cash payments that would total $6,275,000. In December 2023, the Agreement was restructured, and the Company removed the cash payment obligations for 100% ownership of the Titan 1 and Titan 2 Prospecting Licenses and all any claims to Net Smelter Return ("NSR") holdings have been relinquished. The restructuring resulted in the reduction of $6,275,000 in payments and potential ownership of NSRs for the Company on the projects. The Company was able to secure the two PLs directly from Abdul Stanislaw, the original owner of the PLs.

After receipt of shares, the title and ownership of and all the legal rights to the Prospecting Licenses (“PLs”) that contain the Titan Lithium Projects (the “Properties”) were transferred to KLL.

LITHIUM CLAYSTONE PROJECT (NEVADA)

On March 17, 2022, CDSG entered into an Agreement with American Lithium Minerals Inc., a Nevada based publicly held corporation, whereby CDSG will have the right to earn up to a Sixty Percent (60%) interest in the West End Lithium Project near Tonopah Nevada. The initial investment of $ 25,000 was made on April 1, 2022, and subsequent investments of $ 50,000 were completed in March 2023. CDSG has the right to acquire an additional 50% of the project by committing to expend an additional $ 1,000,000 on exploration and development expenses over the following 3 years.

The West End Lithium Project is located directly adjacent to the Tonopah Lithium Claims (“TLC”) Project of American Lithium Corp.

OIL FIELD DEVELOPMENT

On March 10, 2022, CDSG entered into a Private Placement agreement with Stallion Energy Group, Inc. (“Stallion”) of Houston Texas, for a Working Interest to develop oil production in Frio County, southwest Texas. An initial investment of $ 50,000 was made on March 18, 2022. The Company has no further financial obligations to Stallion Energy Group.

GOLD RECOVERY CO-PRODUCTION AGREEMENT

On April 22, 2024, the Company has entered into a co-production agreement with a company based in Tanzania to recover gold from the processed tailings within the heart of the gold region of Tanzania.

The Company is presently planning a 200 ton per day Carbon in Pulp (“CIP”) processing plant that will serve to initially process 20,000 - 30,000 tons of tailings annually. CDSG has begun sourcing out prefabricated CIP plants that are available. Typically, CIP plant costs include all materials, shipping and construction. Operating costs per ounce for the CIP plant is anticipated to be extremely low, between $400 - $500 per ounce, which will allow the company to achieve robust profits per ounce.

The processing project is located in the northwest of Tanzania within a world class region containing many large gold deposits including the Geita mine, operated by AngloGold Ashanti, a deposit which has been in operation for over 50 years and still contains 9.9 Moz of gold resources and the Bulyanhulu mine containing gold, silver and copper operated by Barrick Gold.

Recently, a CIP pilot test program at the site proved very effective in recovering gold at the site. CDSG intends to rapidly develop positive cash flow for the company. Predicted annual operating costs of under $2.0 million could generate over $5 million in positive cash flow which could run for 7 to 10 years.

B. List any subsidiaries, parent company, or affiliated companies.

China Dongsheng International Inc, through its subsidiary Kilimanjaro Lithium Ltd., is a mineral explorer and developer with operations in Nevada, USA and The United Republic of Tanzania.

C. Describe the issuers’ principal products or services.

CHINA DONGSHENG INTERNATIONAL, INC (the “Company”) through its subsidiary Kilimanjaro Lithium Ltd. is a lithium explorer and developer with operations in Nevada, USA and The United Republic of Tanzania. The Company has 8 employees, all of which are employed on a full-time basis. There is no collective agreement between the Company and its employees. The employment relationship between employees and the Company is standard for the industry.

Titan Projects (Tanzania)

The Titan (“T1 and T2”) projects are centered over flat-lying sparsely vegetated playas covered by a thin layer of alluvium overlying volcano-sedimentary basin fill. Both projects visually and morphologically resemble other sedimentary-hosted lithium deposits and geochemical soil sampling of the projects resulted in anomalous lithium values that were returned from the independent and ISO 9001 certified African Minerals and Geosciences Centre (AMGC) in Dar es Salaam. The Company has concluded that further work was warranted in both areas covered by the initial geochemical studies.

Lithium Claystone Project (Nevada)

On March 17, 2022, CDSG entered into an Agreement with American Lithium Minerals Inc., a Nevada based publicly held corporation, whereby CDSG will have the right to earn up to a Sixty Percent (60%) interest in the West End Lithium Project near Tonopah Nevada. The initial investment of $ 25,000 was made on April 1, 2022, and subsequent investments of $ 50,000 were completed in March 2023. CDSG has the right to acquire an additional 50% of the project by committing to expend an additional $ 1,000,000 on exploration and development expenses over the following 3 years. The West End Lithium Project is located just six miles northwest of the town of Tonopah, Nevada and just 200 miles by road from Tesla’s Nevada Gigafactory.

Competition

The mining industry is intensely competitive. We compete with numerous individuals and companies, including many major mining companies, which have substantially greater technical, financial, and operational resources and staff. Accordingly, there is a high degree of competition for access to funds. There are other competitors that have operations in the area and the presence of these competitors could adversely affect our ability to compete for financing and obtain the service providers, staff, or equipment necessary for the exploration and exploitation of our properties.

Many of the mineral exploration companies with which we compete for financing and for the acquisition of mineral exploration properties have greater financial and technical resources than those available to us. Many of our competitors have been in business longer than us, have established more strategic partnerships and relationships than us, and have greater access to financial resources than we do. Accordingly, our competitors may be able to spend greater amounts of time and/or money on acquiring mineral exploration interests of merit or on exploring or developing their mineral exploration properties. This advantage could enable our competitors to acquire mineral exploration properties of greater quality and interest to prospective investors who may choose to finance their additional exploration and development. Because we compete with companies that have greater financial resources and larger technical staffs, we may be at a competitive disadvantage in acquiring desirable mineral properties, and certain properties that would otherwise be attractive to us for exploration or acquisition may be unavailable due to our relative lack of financial and technical resources. Such competition could adversely impact our ability to attain the financing necessary for us to acquire further mineral exploration interests or explore and develop our current or future mineral exploration properties.

General competitive conditions may be substantially affected by various forms of legislation and/or regulation introduced from time to time by the governments of the United States and other countries, as well as factors beyond our control, such as international political conditions, fluctuations in market prices, and fluctuations in overall levels of supply and demand for mineral exploration and mineral products.

In the face of competition, we may not be successful in acquiring, exploring or developing profitable mineral properties or interests, and we cannot give any assurance that suitable properties or interests will be available for our acquisition, exploration or development. Despite this, we intend to compete successfully in the mineral exploration industry by: (i) keeping our costs low; (ii) relying on the strength of our management’s contacts; and

(iii) using our size and experience to our advantage by adapting quickly to changing market conditions or responding swiftly to potential opportunities.

Compliance with Government Regulation

Mining operations and exploration activities are subject to various national, state, provincial and local laws and regulations in United States, as well as other jurisdictions, which govern prospecting, development, mining, production, exports, taxes, labor standards, occupational health, waste disposal, protection of the environment, mine safety, hazardous substances and other matters.

With respect to the regulation of mineral exploration and processing, legislation and regulations in various jurisdictions establish performance standards, air and water quality emission standards and other design or operational requirements for various aspects of the operations, including health and safety standards. Legislation and regulations also establish requirements for decommissioning, reclamation and rehabilitation of mineral exploration properties following the cessation of operations and may require that some former mineral properties be managed for long periods of time.

Our current and future mineral exploration activities will be subject to various levels of federal, state, local and foreign laws and regulations relating to the protection of the environment.

Compliance with applicable laws and regulations may involve feasibility studies on the surface impact of our proposed operations, costs associated with minimizing surface impact, water treatment and protection, reclamation activities, including rehabilitation of various sites, on-going efforts at alleviating the mining impact on wildlife and permits or bonds as may be required to ensure our compliance with applicable laws and regulations. It is possible that the costs and delays associated with such compliance could become so prohibitive that we may decide not to proceed with exploration, development, or mining operations on any of our mineral properties.

We will secure all state, federal, local, and foreign permits necessary for our exploration activities, and will file applications for the required permits to conduct our exploration programs, as necessary. It is difficult to estimate the cost of compliance with environmental laws and regulations because the full nature and extent of our proposed activities cannot definitively be determined at this time.

Industry

The commercial viability of an established mineral deposit will depend on a number of factors including, by way of example, the size, grade and other attributes of the mineral deposit, the proximity of the resource to infrastructure such as a smelter, roads and a point for shipping, government regulation, and market prices.

Most of these factors will be beyond our control, and any of them could increase costs and make extraction of any identified mineral resource unprofitable.

Worldwide lithium production increased by an estimated 21% in 2021 in response to increased lithium demand for electric cars, and lithium is a key metal used in the batteries that power electric cars. The Company believes the growing demand for Lithium-ion batteries will continue to drive demand for lithium products, and that the domestic market for lithium products will be under-supplied for years to come. This situation should position the Company well if the Company is able to raise the required capital to continue its exploration efforts and successfully identify a commercially viable lithium deposit.

Long-term supply is uncertain as the major lithium producers are brine projects which cannot easily increase capacity (risk collapse of water table), and hard rock lithium mining operations are relatively expensive and time intensive, which can be cost prohibitive. Even if we are eventually able to discover a mineral reserve on one or more of our properties, there can be no assurance that we will be able to develop our properties into producing mines to extract those resources. Both mineral exploration and development involve a high degree of risk, and few properties which are explored are ultimately developed into producing mines.

CHINA DONGSHENG INTERNATIONAL, INC.
Notes to the Financial Statements as of December 31, 2024 and 2023

NOTE 1 - ORGANIZATION AND DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

CHINA DONGSHENG INTERNATIONAL, INC (the “Company”) through its wholly owned subsidiary Titan Lithium Inc., is a mineral explorer and developer with operations in Nevada, USA and The United Republic of Tanzania.

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The Company’s financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“U.S. GAAP”).

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Significant estimates include the estimated useful lives of property and equipment. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Concentrations of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially expose the Company to concentration of credit risk consist primarily of cash and accounts receivable. The Company’s cash is deposited with major financial institutions. At times, such deposits may be in excess of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insurable amount.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all cash accounts, which are not subject to withdrawal restrictions or penalties, and all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less as cash and cash equivalents. The carrying amount of financial instruments included in cash and cash equivalents approximates fair value because of the short maturities for the instruments held. There was zero in cash and cash equivalents for the periods ended December 31, 2024 and 2023

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Fair value is defined as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. ASC Topic No. 820 establishes a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three broad levels, as described below:

Level 1: Level 1 inputs are unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2: Level 2 inputs are inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable, either directly or indirectly. Level 2 inputs include quoted prices for similar assets, quoted prices in markets that are not considered to be active, and observable inputs other than quoted prices such as interest rates.

Level 3: Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs.

The following required disclosure of the estimated fair value of financial instruments has been determined by the Company using available market information and appropriate valuation methodologies. However, considerable judgment is required to interpret market data to develop the estimates of fair value. Accordingly, the use of different market assumptions and/or estimation methodologies may have a material effect on the estimated fair value amounts. The methods and assumptions used to estimate the fair values of each class of financial instruments are as follows: Accounts Receivable, and Accounts Payable. The items are generally short-term in nature, and accordingly, the carrying amounts reported on the consolidated balance sheets are reasonable approximations of their fair values.

The carrying amounts of Notes Payable approximate the fair value as the notes bear interest rates that are consistent with current market rates.

Income Taxes

We follow ASC 740-10-30, which requires recognition of deferred tax assets and liabilities for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been included in the financial statements or tax returns. Under this method, deferred tax assets and liabilities are based on the differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for the fiscal year in which the differences are expected to reverse. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance to the extent management concludes it is more likely than not that the assets will not be realized. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the fiscal years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in the Statements of Income in the period that includes the enactment date.

We adopted ASC 740-10-25 (“ASC 740-10-25”) with regard to uncertainty income taxes. ASC 740-10-25 addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under ASC 740-10-25, we may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by the taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. The tax benefits recognized in the financial statements from such a position should be measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50% likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. ASC 740-10-25 also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, interest and penalties on income taxes, and accounting in interim periods and requires increased disclosures. We had no material adjustments to our liabilities for unrecognized income tax benefits according to the provisions of ASC 740-10-25.

Basic EPS is calculated by dividing net income (loss) available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of shares of the Company’s common stock outstanding during the period. Diluted EPS is calculated based on the net income (loss) available to common stockholders and the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the period, adjusted for the effects of all potential dilutive common stock issuances related to options, warrants, restricted stock units and convertible preferred stock. The dilutive effect of our share-based awards and warrants is computed using the treasury stock method, which assumes all share-based awards and warrants are exercised and the hypothetical proceeds from exercise are used to purchase common stock at the average market price during the period. The incremental shares (i.e., the difference between shares assumed to be issued versus purchased), to the extent they would have been dilutive, are included in the denominator of the diluted EPS calculation. The dilutive effect of our convertible preferred stock is computed using the if-converted method, which assumes conversion at the beginning of the year. However, when a net loss exists, no potential common stock equivalents are included in the computation of the diluted per-share amount because the computation would result in an anti-dilutive per-share amount.

Potentially dilutive securities excluded from the computation of basic and diluted net loss per share for the period ended December 31, 2024, and September 30, 2024 were as follows:

	December 31, 2024,	September 30, 2024
Convertible debt	17,598,515	13,681,848
Total	17,598,515	13,681,848

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

The Company has implemented all applicable accounting pronouncements that are in effect. These pronouncements did not have any material impact on the financial statements unless otherwise disclosed, and the Company does not believe that there are any other new accounting pronouncements that have been issued that might have a material impact on its financial position or results of operations.

NOTE 3 - GOING CONCERN

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the company will continue as a going concern, the Company has incurred a net loss of $230,554 for the period ended December 31, 2024, and an accumulated deficit of $2,116,889. The continuation of the Company as a going concern through December 31, 2024, is dependent upon improving profitability and the continuing financial support from its stockholders. Management believes the existing shareholders or external financing will provide additional cash to meet the Company's obligations as they become due.

These factors raise substantial doubt about the company's ability to continue as a going concern. These financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of the uncertainty.
