NOTE 1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of Operations — Global Water Technologies, Inc. (the Company) was incorporated in Delaware in 1990. The Company was known as Fi-Tek VI, Inc. until November 1997. The Company then began operating as Global Water Technologies, Inc., with headquarters in Colorado and operations in the construction of cooling towers and various water treatment services. The Company deregistered with the Securities and Exchange Commission in August 2002 and has had non-reporting status since then. In May 2003, the Company filed a petition under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Code and then emerged from bankruptcy in July 2004. In 2009, new management took control of the Company, moved the headquarters to Indiana and undertook a series of steps to reduce overhead expenses and develop new business opportunities.

The Company is currently involved in the development and commercialization of new technologies to improve efficiency in drinking water systems and sales of water treatment products and services. The Company's sales of water treatment products and services are conducted through its Electric H2O, Inc. subsidiary.

The Company's Electric H2O, Inc. subsidiary produces the ED2000™ line of products. ED2000™ uses a proprietary controller and offset coil fitted around a pipe to deliver an oscillating electric field to treat water. The products have historically been sold for use on cooling towers to reduce fouling and the formation of scale on heat transfer surfaces. Electric H2O, Inc. utilizes contract manufacturing and distribution that generates both domestic and international sales. Historically sales volumes have been nominal and uneven, resulting in poor economies of scale and a long sales cycle. Although revenues are minimal, there is growing interest in such non-chemical water treatment.

The Company had maintained its legacy ED2000™ technology until the COVID-19 pandemic and resulting shutdowns caused Electric H2O, Inc. to limit operations and going forward it may only accept special orders or end production. The Company had also spent efforts on the process of identifying and developing new water technology opportunities through the formation of strategic partnerships and collaboration with other companies and organizations. Those are also being evaluated to determine which move forward after the pandemic and which will not.

In 2012, the Company began efforts to develop business opportunities in “smart water” systems that use information technology (IT) such as sensors and software to improve the efficiency of drinking water systems. This continues to be an emerging sector of the water industry where significant opportunities exist for better ways to reduce water loss in aging, underground pipes that routinely lose 20 percent of treated drinking water in the United States.

In 2013, the Company completed two acquisitions of small companies that fit its objective to provide technologies to improve water efficiency.

The Company acquired GreenSuite, LLC an Indiana-based start-up that was developing a Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) platform to provide usage data, analysis, education and rewards to the customers of utilities. GreenSuite developed an initial version of the software for use by utilities, but has been inactive pending commercial deployment.

The Company also acquired Water and Sewer Innovative Resources (WASIR), LLC, a South Carolina-based consulting group that has expertise in reviewing and commercializing underground pipeline technologies. WASIR established initial distribution of trenchless technologies into the China market that was active from 2014 to 2018.

Each of the Company's subsidiaries operate independently; however financial information is reported on a consolidated basis.

Development work on these business opportunities is also being evaluated to determine which continue to have potential. The company has also indicated it is reviewing potential merger and acquisition opportunities in related areas and more information may be available on the company's web site at www.gwtr.com.

Basis of Accounting — The Company's financial statements are prepared on an accrual basis and are unaudited; however, they contain all normal recurring accruals and adjustments that, in the opinion of management, are necessary to present fairly the Company's financial position at June 30, 2025 and 2024, and the results of its operations and cash flows for the three months ended June 30, 2025 and 2024.

Consolidation Policy — The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Global Water Technologies, Inc., Electric H2O, Inc., (subsidiary) and GreenSuite, LLC (subsidiary). Intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated from the consolidated financial statements.

Use of Estimates — The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates. Significant estimates include the recoverability of long-lived assets and the collectability of accounts receivable.

Cash and Cash Equivalents — The Company maintains its cash accounts at a commercial bank. The total cash balance is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) up to $250,000 per commercial bank. As of September 30, 2025, the Company had no amounts in excess of the FDIC insured limits. For purposes of the statements of cash flows, the Company considers all cash and highly liquid investments with initial maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Accounts Receivable — The Company reviews accounts receivable periodically for collectability and establishes an allowance for doubtful accounts and records bad debt expense when deemed necessary. At September 30, 2025 and 2024, the Company had no balance in its allowance for doubtful accounts.

Inventory — The Company carries its inventories at the lower of its cost or market value. Cost is determined using the first-in, first-out ("FIFO") method. Market is determined based on net realizable value. The Company also provides due consideration to obsolescence, excess quantities, and other factors in evaluating net realizable value.

Revenue Recognition — Revenue is recognized when earned. Sales revenue is recognized at the date of shipment to customers, when a formal arrangement exists, the price is fixed or determinable, the delivery is completed, no other significant obligations of the Company exist and collectability is reasonably assured. Payments received before all of the relevant criteria for revenue recognition are satisfied are recorded as unearned revenue.

Intangible Assets — Intangible assets are recorded on the balance sheet and consist of goodwill, trade secrets and intellectual property. The development costs of patents are not reflected as an asset on the balance sheet of the company. However, legal fees and filing costs associated with any patent are carried as an intangible asset on the financial statements of the Company. The purchase price (cost allocation to the patent) is also recorded as an intangible asset on the balance sheet.

Stock-Based Compensation — The Company adopted the provisions of and accounts for stock-based compensation using an estimate of value in accordance with the fair value method. Under the fair value recognition provisions of this statement, stock-based compensation cost is measured at the grant date based on the fair value of the award and is recognized as expense on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period, which generally is the vesting period. The Company elected the modified-prospective method, under which prior periods are not revised for comparative purposes. The valuation method applies to new grants and to grants that were outstanding as of the effective date and are subsequently modified.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments — The carrying amount of accounts payable, accrued expenses and convertible promissory notes are considered to be representative of their respective fair values because of the short-term nature of these financial instruments.

Other Comprehensive Income — The Company has no material components of other comprehensive income (loss) and accordingly, net loss is equal to comprehensive loss in all periods.

Income Taxes — Provision for income taxes represents actual or estimated amounts payable on tax return filings each year. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recorded for the estimated future tax effects of temporary differences between the tax basis of assets and liabilities and amounts reported in the accompanying balance sheets, and for operating loss and tax credit carry forwards. The change in deferred tax assets and liabilities for the period measures the deferred tax provision or benefit for the period. Effects of changes in enacted tax laws on deferred tax assets and liabilities are reflected as adjustment to the tax provision or benefit in the period of enactment.

NOTE 2. GOING CONCERN AND MANAGEMENT'S PLAN

The Company's financial statements for the three months ended September 30, 2025 and 2024 have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and the settlement of liabilities and commitments in the normal course of business. The Company reported net sales of $0 and a net loss of $33,612 for the three months ended September 30, 2025. At September 30, 2025, the Company had cash on hand of $1,419.

The Company is working to increase revenues through the addition of new products and services and additional applications for its existing technology. The Company is also working to identify additional areas where it can create value by facilitating the development and commercialization of new water technologies. The Company may also review deal opportunities, including potential mergers and acquisitions that could leverage its status under the new alternative reporting standards that were implemented by OTC Markets in 2021.

Historically revenues have not been sufficient to meet operating and capital costs. The Company may need further capital to continue new technology development and commercialization opportunities.

The Company has been operating with negative working capital. The Company requires funds to enable it to address minimum current and ongoing expenses and to continue with the development and marketing of its products and services. The Company expects to reduce its current and long-term liabilities as its convertible debentures mature. Those debentures convert into common shares at the option of the Company and at fixed rates.

The Company's ability to continue as a going concern is dependent on the success of management's plan. The financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of assets or the amounts and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

To the extent the Company's operations are not sufficient to fund the Company's capital requirements, the Company may attempt to enter into a revolving loan agreement with financial institutions or attempt to raise capital through the sale of additional capital stock or through the issuance of debt. At the present time, the Company does not have a revolving loan agreement with any financial institution nor can the Company provide any assurance that it will be able to enter into any such agreement in the future or be able to raise funds through the further issuance of debt or equity in the Company. The continuation of the Company as a going concern is dependent upon the continued financial support from its directors and officers, the ability to raise equity or debt financing and the attainment of profitable operations from the business.

These factors raise substantial doubt regarding the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. These financial statements do not include any adjustments to the recoverability and classification of recorded asset amounts and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

NOTE 3. INTANGIBLE ASSETS

The Company had a small patent portfolio that included patents for water treatment which have expired and U.S. Patent No. 7,867,470 for the On-Site Manufacture of Sulfuric Acid that was assigned to an open science platform. The company has also secured an exclusive worldwide license for a version of capacitive deionization that it secured to compete in the five-year XPRIZE Water Scarcity competition that kicked off in 2024.

During 2013, the Company acquired GreenSuite, LLC, which included $54,420 of intellectual property.

Also during 2013, the Company purchased WASIR and recorded $150,000 of goodwill.

NOTE 6. INCOME TAXES

The Company is subject to domestic income taxes. Following its emergence from bankruptcy, income tax returns were filed for 2004 and 2005. Extensions have been filed for some subsequent years. The Company does not anticipate that any income taxes are due for the years from 2006 through 2024 because the Company recorded losses in each year during that time.

Deferred income taxes arise from temporary timing differences in the recognition of income and expenses for financial reporting and tax purposes. The Company's deferred tax assets consist entirely of the benefit from net operating loss (NOL) carryforwards. The NOL carryforwards expire in various future years. The Company's deferred tax assets are offset by a valuation allowance due to the uncertainty of the realization of the NOL carryforwards. NOL carryforwards may be further limited by a change in company ownership and other provisions of the tax laws. The company is also reviewing NOL carryforwards from years prior to 2004, but has not included any valuation for NOL carryforwards in its current financial statements.
