4) Issuer's Business, Products and Services

The purpose of this section is to provide a clear description of the issuer's current operations.

Descriptions have been updated on the Company's Profile on www.otcmarkets.com

A. Summarize the issuer's business operations (If the issuer does not have current operations, state "no operations")

Allied is in the business of producing oil and natural gas from leases located in West Virginia and Texas.

Allied's financial condition, results of operations and the carrying value of its oil and natural gas properties depends on the revenue generated from the sale of oil and natural gas products offset by production costs. Revenue is dictated by energy prices and the quantity of production.

During the first nine-months of 2025, oil and natural gas prices declined when compared with prior periods. The WTI spot price for oil closed on September 30, 2025, at $63.96 down from $68.17 on June 30, 2025, $68.24 on March 31, 2025, $70.12 on December 31, 2024, and $74.24 on September 30, 2024.¹ Over the same periods, the Henry Hub spot price for natural gas closed on September 30, 2025, at $2.97 MMBtu, down from $3.02 on June 30, 2025, $4.12 MMBtu on March 31, 2025, $3.01 MMBtu on December 31, 2024, and $2.97 on September 30, 2024.² Rig counts fell to 542 on September 30, 2025, down from 554 at June 30, 2025, 592 at March 31, 2025, 589 at December 31, 2024, and 587 at September 30, 2024.³ Despite the decrease in rig counts, U.S. oil production and natural gas production increased over the last twelve months.^{4,5}

Despite the fall in production volumes and lower prices in the current nine-month period, Allied's results of operation continue to have a positive impacted on operating losses. Allied believes that its operating results, while improved, are unlikely to realize operating profits in future periods as the price of oil trends lower and the price of natural gas while improved remains uncertain over the longer term. Factors that can impact energy prices include geopolitical instability, global tariffs, economic growth, and domestic energy production. Allied continues to expect that these aggravating factors will continue to create energy surpluses over the next twelve-months which oversupply versus demand is likely to curb energy prices and negatively affect results.

Results of Operations

During the period January 1, 2025 – September 30, 2025, Allied was engaged in overseeing operations, monitoring its investments, seeking additional energy investments, and evaluating business opportunities.

Over the nine-month period ended September 30, 2025, Allied realized net losses from operations due to the decrease in oil prices and a decline in natural gas production volumes.

Revenue

Revenue from operations for the three-month period ended September 30, 2025, decreased to $40,558 from $68,465 for the comparable three-month period ended September 30, 2024, a decrease of 41%. Revenue from operations for the nine-month period ended September 30, 2025, increased to $185,809 from $134,333 over the comparable nine-month period ended September 30, 2024, an increase of 38%. The decrease in revenue over the comparative three-month periods ended September 30, 2025, can be attributed to lower natural gas production volumes in the current three-month period. The increase in revenue over the comparative nine-month periods ended September 30, 2025, is attributed to higher oil and natural gas prices in the current nine-month period.

Other income of $13,114 was realized in the three-month period ended September 30, 2025, as compared to other income of $25,365 in the three-month period ended September 30, 2024, a decrease of 48%. Other income of $65,768 was realized in the nine-month period ended September 30, 2025, as compared to other income of $38,374 in the nine-month period ended September 30, 2024, an increase of 71%. The decrease in other income over the three-month periods ended September 30, 2025, is attributed to lower interest income and gains on investments in the current three-month period. The increase in other income over the nine-month periods end September 30, 2025, are due to an increase in gain on investments offset by a decrease in interest income when compared to the prior nine-month period.

Allied's revenue from operations is dependent on energy prices and production volumes which will likely continue to be volatile due to uncertainty in the global economy, energy prices fluctuate and diminishing production volumes. Other income depends on results realized by Allied's portfolio of investments which are monitored and adjusted as necessary to improve financial performance.

Net Loss

Net loss for the three-month period ended September 30, 2025, was $53,728, as compared to a net loss of $4,865 for the three-month period ended September 30, 2024, an increase of 91%. Net loss for the nine-month period ended September 30, 2025, was $70,513, as compared to a net loss of $137,039 for the nine-month period ended September 30, 2024, a decrease of 49%. The increase in net loss in the three-month period ended September 30, 2025, over the comparative period ended September 30, 2024, is attributed to a decrease in revenues and other income, in addition to an increase in operating expenses. The decrease in net loss in the nine-month period ended September 30, 2025, over the comparative period ended September 30, 2024, is attributed to an increase in revenue, and other income, offset by an increase in operating expenses.

Allied expects net losses to continue as future revenue will remain volatile due to ever changing energy prices, production volumes, operating expenses, and financial markets.

Operating Expenses

Operating expenses for the three-month period ended September 30, 2025, increased to $107,400 from $98,695 for the three-month period ended September 30, 2024, an increase of 9%. Operating expenses for the nine-month period ended September 30, 2025, increased to $322,090 from $309,746 for the nine-month period ended September 30, 2024, an increase of 4%. The increase in operating expenses in the three and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2025, over the comparative three and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2024, is attributed to production costs, depletion expenses and general and administrative expenses offset by a decrease in general and administrative expenses in the current three-month period.

Allied expects that operating expenses will increase in future periods due to production costs and depletion expense.

Capital Expenditures

Allied made capital expenditures on property or equipment of $nil for the three-month period ended September 30, 2025, and $nil for the three-month period ended September 30, 2024.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Allied had a working capital surplus of $1,199,190 as of September 30, 2025, and has funded its cash needs since inception from revenues, debt instruments, private equity placements and the partial assignment of leasehold interests. Existing working capital and anticipated cash flow are expected to be sufficient to maintain operations over the next twelve months.

Net cash used in operating activities in the current period can be attributed to net loss and several items that are book expense items that do not affect the total amount relative to actual cash including depletion, accretion, and gains or losses on investments. Balance sheet accounts that affect cash but are not income statement related items that are added or deducted to arrive at net cash used in operating activities, include accounts receivable, and accounts payable.

Allied expects that net cash used in operating activities will continue to increase as revenues decline, operating costs increase and return on investments remains uncertain.

Allied expects to continue to realize net cash provided by investing activities over future periods as it identifies business opportunities, considers acquisitions, and hones its investment portfolio.

Net cash provided by financing activities for the nine-month periods ended September 30, 2025, and September 30, 2024, was $nil.

B. List any subsidiaries, parent company, or affiliated companies.

None.

C. Describe the issuers' principal products or services.

Allied is an independent oil and natural gas producer involved in the exploration, development, production and sale of oil and gas derived from properties located in Calhoun and Ritchie Counties, West Virginia, and Goliad and Edwards Counties, Texas. Principal products are comprised of oil, natural gas, and liquids. Oil and liquids are sold at a spot price rate determined on pick up. Natural gas is sold through a pipeline either at a spot price rate or according to term contracts.

The products sold by Allied, natural gas, liquids and crude oil, are commodities purchased by many distribution and retail companies around the country. Crude oil can be easily sold wherever it is produced subject to transportation costs. The crude oil and liquids produced by Allied's operators are transported by truck from the collection points to the purchaser. Natural gas is however more difficult to sell since transportation from point of production to point of purchase requires a pipeline. Most of Allied's current gas production interests are transported by pipelines owned by the purchasers though we do own an interest in a pipeline gathering systems connected to our wells in Edwards County, Texas.

Allied has made partial assignments of certain oil and gas leases in Ritchie County, West Virginia to third-party exploration and development companies. The assignments leave our existing wells in place and enable the assignees to develop a portion of the Marcellus formation for oil, natural gas, and liquids. The partial assignments provide for an overriding royalty interest to be paid to Allied in the event production is realized from efforts made to develop this prospective resource. Neither of the assignees have commenced development of these properties though the Marcellus and Utica shale structures are major reservoirs for hydrocarbon recovery. Historical drilling by third party operators in Ritchie County has indicated successful rates of recovery and Allied's open hole well logs indicate the presence of potentially productive Marcellus shale. Nevertheless, to date, no oil or natural gas reserves derived from the Marcellus shale structure underlying our interests in West Virginia have been proven. Development of these shale formations is influenced by the high risk/reward ratio of exploratory drilling in relation to oil and natural gas prices.

Allied continues to explore non-operated oil and gas producing opportunities for prospective purchase and works with independent operators to implement improved production efficiencies on existing wells. Our criteria for purchasing oil and gas producing properties is defined by near term returns on investment, long term growth in revenue, and development potential predicated on historical production.

5) Issuer's Facilities

The goal of this section is to provide a potential investor with a clear understanding of all assets, properties or facilities owned, used, or leased by the issuer and the extent in which the facilities are utilized.

In responding to this item, please clearly describe the assets, properties, or facilities of the issuer. Describe the location of office space, data centers, principal plants, and other property of the issuer, and describe the condition of the properties. Specify if the assets, properties, or facilities are owned or leased and the terms of their leases. If the issuer does not have complete ownership or control of the property, describe the limitations on the ownership.

West Virginia Well Information

Allied owns varying interests in a total of 145 wells in West Virginia on several leases operated by an independent operator. Some leases contain multiple wells. All the wells in which we have an interest are situated on developed acreage spread over 3,400 acres in Ritchie and Calhoun Counties. Depth of the producing intervals varies from 1,730 ft to 5,472 ft. Many of our wells share production equipment to minimize lease operating costs.

Our working interest is defined as interest in oil and gas that includes responsibility for all drilling, developing, and operating costs varying from 18.75% to 75%. Our net revenue interest is defined as that portion of oil and gas production revenue after deduction of royalties, varying from 15.00% to 65.625%.

Texas Well Information

Allied owns varying interests in 6 wells in Texas on two leases operated by independent third parties. All the wells in which we have an interest are situated on developed acreage spread over 2,470 acres in Goliad, and Edwards Counties. Depth of the producing intervals vary from 7,600 ft. to 9,600 ft.

Due to negative pricing for natural gas in 2024, Allied elected to shut-in three of its wells in Edwards County Texas during the third quarter of last year, to minimize production costs. The shut-in wells will likely be plugged and abandoned in future periods as the price for natural gas would need to quadruple to return the wells to commercial production.

Our working interest is defined as interest in oil and gas that includes responsibility for all drilling, developing, and operating costs varying from 3.73% to 21%. Our net revenue interest is defined as that portion of oil and gas production revenue after deduction of royalties, varying from 3.9388% to 12.75%.

Corporate Office Information

Allied leases office space owned by its chief executive officer to serve as its corporate office for which it pays $1,000 per month on a month-to-month basis.
