4) Issuer's Business, Products and Services

The purpose of this section is to provide a clear description of the issuer's current operations.
Ensure that these descriptions are updated on the Company's Profile on www.OTCMarkets.com.

A. Summarize the issuer's business operations (If the issuer does not have current operations, state "no operations")

[6] The total number of shares that can be issued upon full conversion of the Outstanding Balance. The number should not factor any "blockers" or limitations on the percentage of outstanding shares that can be owned by the Noteholder at a particular time. For purposes of this calculation, please use the current market pricing (e.g. most recent closing price, bid, etc.) of the security if conversion is based on a variable market rate.

With offices in Irvine, CA, and Taipei, Taiwan, Lucent is committed to providing sustainable, reliable & high performance solutions that empower businesses and public sectors to thrive in a digital world. Through collaboration & partnership with governments, businesses, and communities, and unwavering dedication to environmental responsibility, Lucent strives to create a brighter, cleaner future for all.

B. List any subsidiaries, parent company, or affiliated companies.

Lucent, Inc.

C. Describe the issuers' principal products or services.

Lucent, Inc. began operations in the clean energy sector in 2017, initially specializing in the production of batteries for electric vehicles (EV's) before expanding its reach including acquiring necessary raw material sources. Lucent recently acquired Dijiya Energy Saving Technology, Inc. in early 2024. The wholly-owned subsidiary operates in sustainable energy storage, specializing in providing energy storage efficiencies to the data center and cloud computing sectors through the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI). Lucent's DIJIYA BMS unit (Battery Management System) utilizes AI in the following functions: automatic load balancing, charge and discharge protection where high-voltage electricity is stored, and low-voltage cells are replenished to make the cells more stable, and uniform voltage consistency. Using a machine-learning protocol, energy storage can be increased, leading to as much as 34% more capacity. Through DIJIYA Energy Saving Technology, Lucent caters to the needs of the booming AI infrastructure industry, with a specific focus on battery technologies and hybrid cloud infrastructure. The Company provides high demand solutions, including Infrastructure as a Service (IaaS) to Standalone Server services, Platform as a Service (PaaS) to Software as a Service (SaaS), and Disruptive Next-Gen NiZn Battery Technologies. Lucent is developing multiple Artificial Intelligence Platforms from applications. These capabilities are built on high performance computing applications developed by Lucent's working relationship with The National Applied Research Laboratories, Taiwan (ROC), one of the world leaders in AI. With a mission to revolutionize the datacenter and cloud computing industry by harnessing the power of clean energy, Lucent is committed to providing sustainable, reliable & high-performance solutions that empower businesses to thrive in a digital world. Through collaboration & partnership with governments, businesses and communities, and an unwavering dedication to environmental responsibility, Lucent is seeking more synergistic ways to apply its technology. Lucent's commitment to sustainable practices and aligning with the UN's Sustainable Development Goals underscores its dedication to creating long-term value for shareholders and positively impacting the global community. By expanding its capabilities in AI and leveraging advanced pre-training models, Lucent will enhance its technology portfolio and be well positioned at the forefront of innovation in the EV and Biotech sectors.

continues to increase the strength and breadth of the Company. With inroads in AI technology being applied in the clean energy sector, the company sees opportunity in applying its range of experience and technology to biotech. While signing larger accounts, it became apparent that there was an opportunity to invest in the production of graphite, a key component in the anode of lithium-ion batteries used in electric vehicles (EVs). Approximately 1kg of graphite is needed per kWh of battery energy, which makes it the most significant element of the battery cell by weight. Of the raw materials used in car batteries, graphite is the most difficult to source outside of China. In addition to Dijiwa, at the end of 2024, Lucent, Inc. acquired Mexican mining leases through Lucent Strategic Materials, a wholly owned subsidiary with a large asset base and multiple graphite and gold mining leases and concessions in Mexico. This acquisition was also intended to ensure a steady flow of the largest resource used in Lucent's products, as well as the ability to attain larger purchase contracts with major EV suppliers across the globe. More recently, with newly threatened tariffs and export controls, China has significantly tightened restrictions on graphite exports. The United States currently imports 100% of its graphite. This presents a timely opportunity for Lucent Strategic Materials to increase its market share of graphite production, not only for its own products but for other products that require the resource. Mexico is a large exporter of mining products; with a trade balance surplus of USD 14.87 billion in 2021. Mexican exports of minerals and ores to the world totaled USD 18.9 billion in the same year. The United States relies 100% on imported fluorspar, graphite, manganese, and strontium imports from Mexico and other countries. The U.S. has a strong presence in Mexico's mining industry with thirty-two companies having operations or significant investments in the country. Lucent's future acquisition focus includes: APIs and Pre-Training Models for AI Applications: Lucent targets APIs and pre-training models to enhance AI computing and application ecosystems. Key areas include: Precision Medicine: Using AI to predict patient responses to treatments for personalized medicine. Drug Discovery: AI-driven analysis of large datasets to identify drug candidates and optimize design. Genomics: Machine learning to process genomic data for identifying disease markers and genetic risks. Medical Imaging: AI analysis of medical images for early disease detection. Bioinformatics: Integrating AI models to advance biological research and biotechnology development. IVF: AI to improve the success rate of in vitro fertilization.

5) Issuer's Facilities

The goal of this section is to provide investors with a clear understanding of all assets, properties or facilities owned, used or leased by the issuer and the extent in which the facilities are utilized.

In responding to this item, please clearly describe the assets, properties or facilities of the issuer. Describe the location of office space, data centers, principal plants, and other property of the issuer and describe the condition of the properties. Specify if the assets, properties, or facilities are owned or leased and the terms of their leases. If the issuer does not have complete ownership or control of the property, describe the limitations on the ownership.

The Company leases offices at 5151 California Ave. Suite 100 Irvine, CA 92617 in addition to owning manufacturing facilities in Tiawan and office facilities in Mexico.

Lucent, Inc and Subsidiaries
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements
September 30, 2025
(Unaudited)

NOTE 1 - ORGANIZATION AND NATURE OF BUSINESS

Lucent, Inc. ("the Company", "we", "us" or "our") was incorporated on December 5, 2017 in the State of Nevada. The former name of the Company was TipMeFast, Inc. The former offices that were located at HaShmura St. 1, ZihronYa'akov, Israel. After the reverse acquisition with Lucent, Inc. the Company amended its articles of incorporation and changed its name. The Company's headquarters are in Irvine, California.

Lucent, Inc. has a wholly owned subsidiary Dijiya Energy Saving Technology, Inc.

Lucent's mission is to revolutionize the AI datacenter and cloud computing industry by AI applications platform and harnessing the power of clean energy. With offices in Irvine, CA and Taipei, Taiwan, Lucent is committed to providing sustainable, reliable & high-performance solutions that empower businesses and public sectors to thrive in a digital world. Through collaboration & partnership with governments, businesses and communities, and unwavering dedication to environmental responsibility, Lucent strives to create a brighter, cleaner future for all.

On December 31, 2024, the Company entered into an agreement for the purchase of graphite and other mineral concessions in Mexico ensuring a vital supply for the Company's future.

NOTE 2 - GOING CONCERN

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles, which contemplate the continuation of the Company as a going concern. The Company has no recurring gross losses and incurred net losses during the nine months ended September 30, 2025 and 2024. The Company currently has limited working capital and has not completed its efforts to establish a stabilized source of revenue sufficient to cover operating costs over an extended period of time.

Management anticipates that the Company will be dependent, for the near future, on additional investment capital to fund operating expenses. The Company intends to position itself so that it will be able to raise additional funds through the capital markets. In light of management's efforts, there are no assurances that the Company will be successful in this or any of its endeavors or become financially viable and continue as a going concern.

NOTE 3 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America, and pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") and reflect all adjustments, consisting of normal recurring adjustments, which management believes are necessary to fairly present the financial position, results of operations and cash flows of the Company for the nine months ended September 30, 2025 and 2024.

The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements were prepared using the reverse acquisition application method of accounting as described in ASC 805-40, with Lucent, Inc. and its subsidiary treated as the acquiror for accounting and financial reporting purposes. Accordingly, the condensed consolidated financial statements are presented as a continuation of Lucent, Inc. and its subsidiary's financial statements with an adjustment to reflect the issued equity capital of the former TipMeFast, Inc., the legal parent, including the equity issued by the Company to effect the business combination.

Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements incorporate the financial statements of Lucent, Inc. and entity controlled by Lucent, Inc. (its subsidiary).

Income and expenses of subsidiaries acquired or disposed of are included in the consolidated statements of profit or loss and other comprehensive income from the effective date of acquisition and up to the effective date of disposal, as appropriate. Total comprehensive income of subsidiaries is attributed to the shareholders of the parent and to the non-controlling interests even if this results in the non-controlling interests having a deficit balance.

When necessary, adjustments are made to the financial statements of subsidiaries to bring their accounting policies into line with those used by the Company.

All intra-group transactions, balances, income and expenses are eliminated in full on consolidation.

Foreign Currencies

The financial statements of each individual consolidated entity were expressed in the currency which reflected its primary economic environment (functional currency). The functional currency of the Company and presentation currency of the consolidated financial statements are both New Taiwan Dollars (NT$). For convenience only, U.S. dollar amounts presented in the accompanying consolidated financial statements have been translated from New Taiwan dollars at the exchange rate as set forth in the statistical release of the Federal Reserve Board of the United States, which was NT $30.00 to US $1 as of September 30, 2025 and NT$32.79 to US$1.00 as of December 31, 2024. The convenience translations should not be construed as representations that the New Taiwan dollar amounts have been, could have been, or could in the future be, converted into U.S. dollars at this or any other rate of exchange.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments with the original maturities of six months or less to be cash equivalents. The Company had $0 of cash as at September 30, 2025 and December 31, 2024.

Inventory

Inventory includes raw materials, manufactured goods, finished goods and merchandise inventory. Inventory is measured at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost is determined using the weighted average method or other similar methods. Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less the estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale. The cost of inventory includes the purchase price and the weighted average method.

Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are tangible items that are held for use in the production or supply of goods or services, for rental to others, or for administrative purposes, and are expected to be used during more than one period, including land, buildings, machinery and equipment, transportation equipment, office equipment and other equipment items.

Property, plant and equipment are measured at cost at acquisition or construction less. Accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. The cost includes expenditures that are directly attributable to the acquisition of the asset. The cost of self-constructed assets includes the cost of materials and direct labor, any other costs directly attributable to bringing the assets to a working condition for their intended use, and the costs of dismantling and removing the items and restoring the site on which they are located.

Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount or recognized as a separate asset, as appropriate, only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of any component accounted for as a separate asset is derecognized when replaced. All other repairs and maintenance are charged to profit or loss during the financial period in which they are incurred.

Property, plant and equipment are depreciated using the straight-line method to allocate their cost, net of their residual values, over their estimated useful lives. Land is not depreciated. The Company reviews the depreciation method, useful life and residual value at each financial year-end, and the effect of any changes in estimates is accounted for on a prospective basis. The estimated useful lives are as follows:

1. Machinery and equipment: 5-8 years
2. Transportation equipment: 5 years
3. Production equipment: 3-5 years
4. Other equipment: 2-5 years

When assets are retired or disposed of, their cost and accumulated depreciation are eliminated from the accounts and any gain or loss resulting from their disposal is included in other comprehensive income. When the revaluation results in an increase in carrying amount, the increase is recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity under revaluation surplus. When the carrying amount is decreased as a result of a revaluation, the decrease is recognized in profit or loss as a reclassification adjustment.

Gains and losses on disposals of property, plant and equipment are determined by comparing the proceeds with the carrying amount and are recognized in profit or loss.

Intangible Assets

Intangible assets are measured at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses. Amortization is calculated using the straight-line method to allocate the cost of intangible assets, net of their residual values, over their estimated useful lives, and is recognized in profit or loss.

The estimated useful lives for the current and comparative periods are as follows:

Patents: 1-20 years
Trademarks: 2.5-10 years

Intangible assets are subject to impairment testing in accordance with the accounting policy for asset impairment, and their carrying amounts are written down to recoverable amounts when there is objective evidence of impairment. Other rights that are not subject to amortization are tested for impairment annually and whenever there is an indication that the asset may be impaired, and are carried at cost less accumulated impairment losses.

Impairment of Tangible and Intangible Assets

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is any indication that an asset (other than inventories) may be impaired. If any such indication exists, the Company estimates the asset's recoverable amount. For intangible assets with indefinite useful lives, the Company estimates the recoverable amount annually. The Company uses the asset's fair value less costs to sell and its value in use, whichever is higher, as the basis for determining the recoverable amount, and allocates it to individual cash-generating units.

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is any indication that an asset (other than inventories) may be impaired. If any such indication exists, the Company estimates the asset's recoverable amount. For intangible assets with indefinite useful lives, the Company estimates the recoverable amount annually. The Company uses the asset's fair value less costs to sell and its value in use, whichever is higher, as the basis for determining the recoverable amount, and allocates it to individual cash-generating units.

When the recoverable amount increases, the asset or cash-generating unit's carrying amount is increased to its recoverable amount, but the increased carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined (net of amortization or depreciation) had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset or cash-generating unit in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognized in profit or loss.

Employee Benefits

Short-term Employee Benefits
Short-term employee benefits are expensed as the related service is provided. A liability is recognized for the amount expected to be paid if the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation to pay this amount as a result of past service provided by the employee and the obligation can be estimated reliably.

Retirement Benefits
The Company provides defined benefit pension plans during the service period, and the amounts recognized are expensed in the current year.

Income Taxes

Income tax expense comprises current income tax and deferred income tax.

Current Income Tax
Current income tax is based on taxable income for the year. Taxable income differs from profit as reported in the statement of comprehensive income because it excludes items of income or expense that are taxable or deductible in other years and it further excludes items that are never taxable or deductible. The Company's liability for current tax is calculated using tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period, and adjustments to current income tax of prior years are included in current period income tax.

The Company is subject to income tax on undistributed earnings and additional tax on undistributed earnings for the current period.

Deferred Income Tax
Deferred income tax assets or deferred income tax liabilities are non-current items. Deferred income tax is provided on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for taxation purposes. Deferred income tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable temporary differences; deferred income tax assets are recognized for all deductible temporary differences to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilized.

Deferred income tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries and associates and interests in joint ventures, except where the Company is able to control the timing of the reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred income tax assets arising from deductible temporary differences associated with such investments and interests are only recognized to the extent that it is probable that there will be sufficient taxable profits against which to utilize the benefits of the temporary differences and they are expected to reverse in the foreseeable future.

The carrying amount of deferred income tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered. Unrecognized deferred income tax assets are reassessed at each reporting date and are recognized to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profits will allow the deferred income tax asset to be recovered.

Current and Deferred Income Tax Recognition
Current and deferred income tax are recognized in profit or loss, except when they relate to items that are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, in which case the current and deferred tax are also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively.

Current and Deferred Income Tax Offset
When the Company has a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and when the deferred income tax assets and liabilities relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority, current income tax assets and current income tax liabilities are offset and deferred income tax assets and deferred income tax liabilities are offset.

Revenue Recognition

We recognize revenue in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers ("ASC 606"). The ASC 606's stated core principle is that an entity should recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. To achieve this core principle, ASC 606 includes provisions within a five-step model that includes identifying the contract with a customer, identifying the performance obligations in the contract, determining the transaction price, allocating the transaction price to the performance obligations, and recognizing revenue when, or as, an entity satisfies a performance obligation.

Other Income

Rental income, interest income, dividend income, royalty income and other similar investment income are recognized when it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company and the amount of revenue can be measured reliably, based on the following criteria:
1. Rental income is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term.
2. Interest income is recognized using the time proportion method based on the principal outstanding and the applicable interest rate.
3. Dividend income is recognized when the right to receive payment is established.
4. Royalty income is recognized on an accrual basis in accordance with the substance of the relevant agreement.
5. Dividends and investments: If there is a right to receive dividends before the acquisition date, the subsequent collection of dividends is allocated to the acquisition cost; dividends received after the acquisition date are recognized as income.

Leases

When lease contracts do not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of an asset to the lessee, they are classified as operating leases. All other leases are classified as finance leases.

1. The Company as Lessor
Operating lease income is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

2. The Company as Lessee
Finance lease assets (after lease commencement) are measured at each reporting date at the lower of the fair value of the leased asset at the commencement of the lease or the present value of the minimum lease payments, and are recognized as assets and liabilities.

Operating lease payments are recognized as an expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2025, the Company terminated all its leases and paid early termination fees.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

AS topic 820 "Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures" establishes a three-tier fair value hierarchy, which prioritizes the inputs in measuring fair value. The hierarchy prioritizes the inputs into three levels based on the extent to which inputs used in measuring fair value are observable in the market.

These tiers include:

Level 1: defined as observable inputs such as quoted prices in active markets;

Level 2: defined as inputs other than quoted prices in active markets that are either directly or indirectly observable; and

Level 3: defined as unobservable inputs in which little or no market data exists, therefore requiring an entity to develop its own assumptions.

The carrying value of cash approximates its fair value due to its short-term maturity.

Basic and Diluted Net Loss per Common Share

Basic loss per common share is computed by dividing the net loss by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding for each period. Diluted loss per share is computed by dividing the net loss by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding plus the dilutive effect of shares issuable through the common stock equivalents. The weighted-average number of common shares outstanding excludes common stock equivalents because their inclusion would be anti-dilutive.

Comprehensive Income

Comprehensive income is defined as all changes in stockholders' deficit, exclusive of transactions with owners, such as capital investments. Comprehensive income includes net income or loss, changes in certain assets and liabilities that are reported directly in equity such as translation adjustments on investments in foreign subsidiaries and unrealized gains (losses) on available-for-sale securities. As of September 30, 2025 and December 31, 2024, there were no differences between our comprehensive loss and net loss.
