Oicindra’s target market is precious metals mining operations. Oicindra’s proprietary process significantly improves on environmental hazards typically associated with processing ore to extract valuable precious metals significantly reducing the use of mercury by small- & medium-scale miners, and the use of cyanide by medium- & large-scale miners. Oicindra’s solution is designed to reduce or eliminate the use of chemicals and significantly reduce environmental impact for precious metals processing operation managed by Oicindra.

Corporate Management

The Company is managed by Keith Mc Allister, who serves as OICT’s acting CEO, President, and Treasurer.

Corporate History

The Company was incorporated under the name Mobile Wireless Security, Inc. on May 5, 2003 in Nevada. The Company was a development stage company whose business focused on research & development and software solutions for providing software security to users of mobile communications devices. The Company’s research and development activities focused on (i) User authentication and configuration to require passwords or Personal Identification Numbers; (ii) Enabling two factor authentication for sensitive transactions; (iii) Download security; (iv) Anti-malware capability; (v) Installation of security updates; and (vi) Encryption of data.

On October 8, 2004, the Company amended its Articles of Incorporation to increase the number of authorized shares to 500,000,000 with a par value of $0.0001 per share.

On October 26, 2004, the Company filed Articles of Merger with the Nevada Secretary of State's office disclosing its merger with Advanced Definition Systems, Inc., a company whose business focused on the design of network systems architecture. This merger was not successful, and the Company continued with its research and development operations as a development stage company. During this time, the Company actively conducted operations and sought out mergers and acquisitions that would help finance operations and continue its business plans.

On November 24, 2004, the Company amended its Articles of Incorporation to decrease its issued and authorized stock via a reverse stock split in the ratio of 1 for 1,000 shares.

On November 14, 2005, the Company amended its Articles of Incorporation to decrease its issued and authorized stock via a reverse stock split in the ratio of 1 for 1,000 shares.

Due to the Company's difficulty to further and finance its research and development activities after the unsuccessful merger with Advanced Definition Systems, Inc., the Company's Board of Directors and President determined to explore other business opportunities.

In 2006 the Company was presented with opportunities for possible mergers with business entities in the oil and gas industries. The Company actively held investigations and conducted due diligence with a number of possible merger candidates, and coincidentally held management meetings, board meetings and meetings of key shareholders holding a majority of the voting rights in the Company, regarding the Company changing business direction and plans and adopting a plan of operation focused on the oil and gas industry, specifically focusing on exploration and development.

These efforts led the Company to material acquisition negotiations and due diligence investigations in the oil and gas space. The Company filing an Amendment to its Articles of Incorporation on May 31, 2006 changing its name to Hightowers Petroleum Holdings, Inc. in anticipation of its merger with a group of privately held oil and gas assets. This transaction failed to close, but the Company determined to continue with its oil and gas planning based on the amount of time and effort devoted to the space for approximately two years. The Company amended its Articles of Incorporation on July 12, 2006 to change its name to International Oil and Gas Holdings Corp. Thereafter, the Company continued to try to leverage its research, development, networking and operational growth strategies to advance its oil and gas development ambitions.

On September 21, 2006, the Company amended its Articles of Incorporation to increase the number of its authorized shares to 1,000,000,000 with a par value of $0.0001.

On October 11, 2006, the Company amended its Articles of Incorporation to decrease its issued and authorized stock via a reverse stock split in the ratio of 1 for 5 shares.

On May 14, 2008, amended its Articles of Incorporation to decrease its issued and authorized stock via a reverse stock split in the ratio of 1 for 10,000 shares.

During the period from July 12, 2006 to May 3, 2011, the Company remained in the development stage while attempting to enter the oil and gas industry. The Company attempted to attract partners, additional investors, mergers and acquisitions and joint ventures for the acquisition and/or exploration of oil and gas claims, and also explored options for also entering the oil and gas space to obtain related equipment for lease or sale necessary to extract, process and otherwise explore for oil and gas with unrelated third parties. The Company was ultimately unsuccessful in these start up efforts and in 2011 the Company determined to discontinue its development stage efforts in the oil and gas space in favor of a different opportunity presented by INSCOR, Inc.

INSCOR, Inc.'s business focused and specialized in providing significant funding solutions utilizing high cash-value life insurance contracts combined with low-cost financing. INSCOR's business plan was tailored to municipalities, other government entities and corporations, and offered its services to facilitate low-cost solutions to funding retiree and other employee benefits. In addition, INSCOR marketed a variation of the plan to affluent individuals as well.

In 2018 the Company returned to the mining industry and the Company intends to discover and acquire land leases on properties known to have gold deposits. Oicindra's target market is precious metals mining operations. Oicindra's proprietary process significantly improves on environmental hazards typically associated with processing ore to extract valuable precious metals significantly reducing the use of mercury by small- & medium-scale miners, and the use of cyanide by medium- & large-scale miners. Oicindra's solution is designed to reduce or eliminate the use of chemicals and significantly reduce environmental impact for precious metals processing operation managed by Oicindra.

On September 13, 2021, the Company amended its Articles of Incorporation to increase its authorized shares to five billion common shares, par value $0.0001, and designated a series of preferred shares entitled Series B Super Voting Preferred Stock.

NOTE 2 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP") for financial information.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Specifically, such estimates were made by the Company for stock compensation expenses. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Financial Instruments

Pursuant to ASC Topic 820, Fair Value Measurements, an entity is required to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value. ASC 820 establishes a fair value hierarchy based on the level of independent, objective evidence surrounding the inputs used to measure fair value. A financial instrument's categorization within the fair value hierarchy is based upon the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement. ASC 820 prioritizes the inputs into three levels that may be used to measure fair value:

- Level 1 applies to assets or liabilities for which there are quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 applies to assets or liabilities for which there are inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets; quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in markets with insufficient volume or infrequent transactions (less active markets); or model-derived valuations in which significant inputs are observable or can be derived principally from, or corroborated by, observable market data.
- Level 3 applies to assets or liabilities for which there are unobservable inputs to the valuation methodology that are significant to the measurement of the fair value of the assets or liabilities.

Net Loss Per Share

Basic net loss per share is computed by dividing the net loss attributable to common stockholders by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the period. Diluted loss per share gives the effect to all dilutive potential common shares outstanding during the period, including stock options, warrants and convertible instruments. Diluted net loss per share excludes all potentially issuable shares if their effect is anti-dilutive. Because the effect of the Company's dilutive securities is anti-dilutive, diluted net loss per share is the same as basic loss per share for the periods presented.

Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncements

The Company has implemented all new accounting pronouncements that are in effect and that may impact its financial statements and does not believe that there are any other new pronouncements that have been issued that might have a material impact on its financial position or results of operations.

Income Taxes

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets, including tax loss and credit carry forwards, and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date. Deferred income tax expense represents the change during the period in the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities. The components of the deferred tax assets and liabilities are individually classified as current and non-current based on their characteristics. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance when, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized.

On December 18, 2019, the FASB issued ASU 2019-12 which modifies ASC 740 to simplify the accounting for income taxes. The ASU's amendments are based on changes that were suggested by stakeholders as part of the FASB's simplification initiative (i.e., the Board's effort to reduce the complexity of accounting standards while maintaining or enhancing the helpfulness of information provided to financial statement users).

ASC 740-10-25, "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes", is intended to clarify the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in a company's financial statements and prescribes the recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. ASC 740-10-25 also provides guidance on de-recognition, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosure and transition.

Under ASC 740-10-25, evaluation of a tax position is a two-step process. The first step is to determine whether it is more-likely-than-not that a tax position will be sustained upon examination, including the resolution of any related appeals or litigation based on the technical merits of that position. The second step is to measure a tax position that meets the more-likely-than-not threshold to determine the amount of benefit to be recognized in the financial statements. A tax position is measured at the largest amount of benefit that is greater than 50 percent likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement.

Tax positions that previously failed to meet the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold should be recognized in the first subsequent period in which the threshold is met. Previously recognized tax positions that no longer meet the more-likely-than-not criteria should be de-recognized in the first subsequent financial reporting period in which the threshold is no longer met.

Revenue Recognition

The Company currently has no active revenue-generating operations and, accordingly, has not recognized any revenue during the reporting periods presented.

Historically, the Company evaluated business opportunities in the oil and gas sector, and prior disclosure language reflected accounting policies applicable to those activities. The Company has since discontinued those efforts and is presently focused on the development and commercialization of its precious metals processing technologies. As of the date of this report, the Company has not commenced revenue-generating activities under its current business plan.

The Company will recognize revenue in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, when and if operations commence. Under ASC 606, the Company will apply the five-step model to: (i) identify the contract with a customer; (ii) identify the performance obligations in the contract; (iii) determine the transaction price; (iv) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations; and (v) recognize revenue when (or as) the Company satisfies its performance obligations.

The Company anticipates that its future revenue, if any, will be derived from providing processing services and/or licensing its proprietary extraction technologies to customers in the mining and precious metals sector. Revenue is expected to be recognized at a point in time or over time depending on the nature of the contractual arrangement and when control of the promised goods or services is transferred to the customer. Control is generally considered transferred when the customer obtains the ability to direct the use of, and obtain substantially all of the remaining benefits from, the underlying goods or services.

The Company will evaluate its contracts with customers to determine the appropriate timing of revenue recognition, including whether performance obligations are satisfied over time or at a point in time, and will recognize revenue in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled in exchange for transferring goods or services to its customers.

NOTE 3 - GOING CONCERN

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. The Company has not generated revenues from operations and has incurred recurring losses since inception. For the year ended December 31, 2025, the Company reported a net loss of $359 and had an accumulated deficit of approximately $115.3 million. As of December 31, 2025, the Company had cash and cash equivalents of $20 and no current sources of operating revenue.

These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern within one year after the date that these financial statements are issued.

Management’s plans to address these conditions include, but are not limited to: (i) pursuing equity financing from third-party investors; (ii) seeking strategic partnerships, joint ventures, or licensing arrangements related to the Company’s proprietary precious metals processing technologies; (iii) reducing or deferring operating expenses to preserve cash resources; and (iv) evaluating potential acquisitions or business combinations that may provide access to capital, operational capabilities, or revenue-generating activities.

The Company’s ability to continue as a going concern is dependent upon its ability to successfully execute these plans, obtain additional financing, and ultimately achieve profitable operations. There can be no assurance that the Company will be successful in these efforts or that additional financing will be available on acceptable terms, if at all.

The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty

NOTE 4 – CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS
