Supplemental Disclosure Regarding Development Activities

The Company has transitioned its business focus toward sustainable agriculture and health-oriented food products. Emerging Holdings, Inc. currently operates on a 20.06-acre property located in Cuyama, Santa Barbara County, California. The property includes an existing on-site well that provides water for cultivation activities.

The Company is in the process of obtaining a land use permit from Santa Barbara County to construct hoop houses to support controlled-environment agricultural cultivation. As part of its planned operations, the Company intends to develop cultivation infrastructure, including hoop houses and warehouse facilities, to support future growing, processing, and distribution activities. The Company's intended agricultural product offerings include high-value organic vegetables and specialty crops such as oyster mushrooms and red and black goji berries. In addition, the Company plans to develop value-added products, including juices and functional beverages, intended to support health and wellness applications.

To advance these development activities, the Company is required to obtain a Certificate of Compliance for the underlying land. On February 12, 2026, the Company submitted an application for a Certificate of Compliance to the Surveyor Division of Santa Barbara County, California. As of the date of this disclosure, the application remains under review. The Company incurred approximately $2,393 in costs associated with the Certificate of Compliance application process. The Company expects to proceed with additional permitting, construction, and development activities upon receipt of the Certificate of Compliance and any other required regulatory approvals.

The Company is still in the early stages of implementing its agricultural operations and continues to focus on building the necessary infrastructure to support a sustainable, compliant, and scalable production model.
