ROCKY MOUNTAIN HIGH BRANDS, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
For the Three Months Ended March 31, 2026

Note 1 - Organization and Nature of Operations

Organization and Nature of Operations

Rocky Mountain High Brands, Inc. (“Rocky Mountain High Brands,” “RMHB”, “we”, “our” or the “Company”), and its operating subsidiaries, is a diversified and dynamic company committed to making a difference by raising the quality and expectations in beverages. We are committed to producing healthier beverages with innovative flavors designed to help people feel inspired.

Our state-of-the-art co-packing facility, Rocky Mountain Productions, Inc., specializes in cold fill beverages, concentrates and ready-to-drink beverages and is uniquely positioned to co- pack our brand drinks as well as private label with all the best-in-class services needed to get products ready for market. The can line was not operational during April 1, 2023, thru December 31, 2023. RMP plans to have the can line production ready in July of 2024. Can line installation may be delayed until August 2024 due to installers schedule. We are currently having can goods produced for us at a profit. The company’s can line is in temporary storage.

Our Eagle Spirit® is a high alkaline spring water that has a high pH, an all-natural refreshing taste, and is sourced from sacred Native American soil rich in history and culture. The name Eagle Spirit represents great power and balance, dignity with grace, and a symbolism as to live in balance with heaven and earth. RMHB has made the decision not to proceed with this product at this time.

In June 2021, the Company entered into a trademark license agreement with AGS Labs, Inc. to produce certain AGS Great Choice products. These products are National Brand Equivalent (NBE) products and compare with national brands, such as Pedialyte beverages. The NBE market is a rapidly growing market, and the Company is exploring adding additional NBE product and business lines. The Agreement also granted to the Company an option to purchase the above-mentioned Great Choice national brand equivalents and the “Great Choice” trademark. The purchase was finalized in March 2022.

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Liquidity, Going Concern and Management's Plans

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and the settlement of liabilities and commitments in the normal course of business.

As reflected in the accompanying consolidated financial statements, for the three months ended March 31, 2026, the Company had:

- Net income (loss) from operations of $1,256; and
- Net cash used in operating activities was $2,190.

Additionally, on March 31, 2026, the Company had:

- Accumulated deficit of $54,437,973;
- Stockholders' deficit of $3,039,413; and
- Working capital deficit of $4,513,641.

The Company manages its liquidity risk by reviewing, on an ongoing basis, its sources of liquidity and capital requirements. The Company had cash on hand of $7,450 on March 31, 2026. Although the Company intends to raise additional debt or equity capital, the Company expects to generate cash flows from operations and ramp up production for new and existing customers in 2024. The anticipated losses in 2024 are expected to be less than those in 2023 as production and revenue ramp up along with major reductions in expenses related to compensation, professional fees, development and regulatory fees. See update on pages 25 & 26 of December 31, 2024 filing. On page 26 review financial data for 2023 compared to 2024 a), b) & c). (See latest 4th quarter update on page 27 & 28 for current data)

The Company has incurred significant losses since its inception but is on its way to generating sufficient revenues from the sales of its products and services to achieve profitable operations in 2024. Rocky Mountain Productions executed a move of its facility and scheduled a break in production during the second quarter of 2023. RMP initially started Leasehold improvements and the move April 1st, with a target of a 120-day completion. Due to a lengthy timetable to obtain certain permits, RMP will not be able to complete set up of both bottling lines until late in the 4th quarter. Sales generated from April through July was produced at the old plant awaiting sleeving, labeling and/or pack out at the new facility. (See latest update on page 26 for current data)

The Company had limited production using the raw materials in inventory during the third quarter of 2023. Key ingredients that are needed for expanded production are experiencing a six to ten week lead time. The two bottle lines are capable of producing $1.5 million to $2 million of revenue per month utilizing a single shift. As a reference, in March 2023, the Company generated revenue of $1,202,627 with net income of $153,078. The good news is our customers are glad that we are production ready and waiting on availability of raw ingredients to restart production of their products. With current commitments, RMP is targeting revenue of over $1,300,000 per month by May or June 2024. These projections have experienced delays due to various issues including long lead time on raw materials and customer preference for receiving product. By the end of the second quarter of 2024, the Company will have the ability to more accurately forecast the third quarter. The turn around team was not put into place until October 4, 2024. See press release dated February 14, 2025 and page 26 of March 31, 2025 filing. (See latest update on page 26 for current data)

- e) OLD: The company has supplied updated data to the third party processor. The company's understanding is there will be a substantial delay between filing and an official posting. RMHB apologizes for missing the August 2025 completion date on the 15c2-11. Due to required changes for new details, it will be submitted by year end. RMHB apologizes for the delay in completing the filing of the 15c2-11. The company has to use a third-party specialist. A final date for completion should be forthcoming in August 2025
- f) Provide access to private capital. See following update:

RMHB 2026 1st Quarter Update:

Update: May 19, 2026 - In the next 2 weeks, the company will be issuing multiple press releases detailing brand acquisitions and private capital being raised to fuel growth. Some of these events involve the inclusion of experienced personnel joining the RMHB team.

1. Short outline of things to come in 2nd & 3rd Quarters of 2026:

- a) Private capital raise of $250,000 to $700,000 in second and third quarters
- b) Purchase of new product brands
- c) Add additional personnel to our current team to wisely build RMHB by using capital properly for the purpose of developing new products and new customers including large retailers. The management of RMHB's future will always be done in the best interests of all stock holders and convertible note holders by a team without bloated salaries that will deliver great results for all.

Sales of several products start in the 2nd and 3rd quarter of 2026. Management has held all costs to a bare minimum while lowering debt and developing several products with a very bright future for all stock holders.

As you can interpret from above comparison of three months ended March 31, 2026 to three months ended March 31, 2025, RMHB's turn around team has made significant progress. They are now poised to concentrate on revenue and profit. To help accelerate this process, the company will have a 3 to 4 Million Dollar line of credit for qualified customers. This is part of the reason for some of the delays.

In the 3rd quarter of 2025, the Chairman and new President asked David Seeberger to serve as a director and be part of the turn around team in a legal consultant capacity. For product update see page 28.

Early in the second quarter of 2025, the team determined it was in the best interests of the Company to make every effort to focus on settling the heavily disputed lawsuit with their former landlord. After making this issue the top priority, we are pleased to announce a settlement has been reached including the filing of papers releasing RMHB of all claims. This extended and exhausting effort was funded in full by existing investors taking stock in exchange for payment versus increasing the Company's debt.

RMHB's restructure is underway with new capital totaling over $400,000 coming in during the first and second quarters of 2025 designated for wholly owned subsidiary Rocky Mountain NexBev. One of the main members of the turnaround team loaned the Company $251,626 that has been converted to Paid In Capital in the second quarter of 2025.

Rocky Mountain NexBev is the copacker and distribution center for product the turnaround team has decided to move forward with. After making the determination to delay the launch of these products to eliminate the distraction of the formerly impending lawsuit from the previous facility, the Company chose to put its brands and private label customer products in production during the third quarter of this year. The delay while reaching the settlement with capital versus debt has opened the door for new manufacturing opportunities (non-food grade products) to pair with the already existing beverage lines for company and customer owned brands alike.

Capital Raise Update

OLD: Over $85,000 of loans were converted to equity in the 4th quarter 2025. The additional $250,000 to $300,000 investment was delayed until 2nd and 3rd quarter 2026 due to product and packaging upgrades needed for new customers.

In 3rd quarter RMHB had $185,000 in new loans that will be converted to equity in the 4th quarter. The company also has commitments for $250,000 - $500,000 of equity investments during the next 90 days. RMHB has also established a bank line of credit as stated above.

In regards to private capital, the turnaround team has raised over $400,000 Dollars in operating capital and a $300,000 equipment lease for the completed set up of the non-food grade plant and to increase finished goods inventory of company owned brands. These funds have been invested through Convertible Notes that are scheduled to be exchanged for stock (paid in capital). $251,626 converted in the second quarter of 2025. The company has more commitments for substantial sums of operating capital based on staying focused on the current path to success.

Product & Fulfillment Update

NEW: In the last several weeks, shipments have picked up with new distribution starting in 2nd and 3rd quarter 2026.

OLD: Even though sales have been less than expected, 2026 looks very promising for this product. Smart BioHemp Wood Protectant – The company's previous Press Release stated production would start the week of February 23, 2025. Due to lead times, the start date was delayed. Small production runs have been made for inventory. Large volume runs are scheduled to start the week of April 13, 2025.

CBD Drinks

Production scheduled to start in March didn't start until the first week in April. Delays were mostly from long lead times on ingredients and materials.

RMHB's Electrolyte Products & Fulfillment Center

NEW: The company delayed its launch of electrolyte products from 1st quarter until 2nd and 3rd quarter 2026. New customers requested label and pack out changes. Finished goods inventory is currently being created to start shipping products in May 2026.

OLD: Due to new customers for electrolyte products as well as other products (to be announced), the company has delayed launching this production until December 2025 or 1st quarter of 2026. Production of Half Liter and 1 Liter electrolyte drinks under RMHB owned brands Great Choice & Electro Sportlyte were scheduled to start in March 2025. Due to the redesign of labels and lead times, the company is delaying that production until May.

Note 2 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Principles of Consolidation and Non-Controlling Interest

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP and include the accounts of the Company and its wholly owned subsidiaries. All intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated.

For entities that are consolidated, but not 100% owned, a portion of the income or loss and corresponding equity is allocated to owners other than the Company. The aggregate of the income or loss and corresponding equity that is not owned by us is included in Non- controlling Interests in the consolidated financial statements.

Business Combinations

The Company accounts for business acquisitions using the acquisition method of accounting, in accordance with which assets acquired and liabilities assumed are recorded at their respective fair values at the acquisition date. The fair value of the consideration paid, including contingent consideration, is assigned to the assets acquired and liabilities assumed based on their respective fair values. Goodwill represents an excess of the purchase price over the estimated fair values of the assets acquired and liabilities assumed.

Significant judgments are used in determining fair values of assets acquired and liabilities assumed, as well as intangibles. Fair value and useful life determinations are based on, among other factors, estimates of future expected cash flows, and appropriate discount rates used in computing present values. These judgments may materially impact the estimates used in allocating acquisition date fair values to assets acquired and liabilities assumed, as well as the Company's current and future operating results. Actual results may vary from these estimates which may result in adjustments to goodwill and acquisition date fair values of assets and liabilities during a measurement period or upon a final determination of asset and liability fair values, whichever occurs first. Adjustments to fair values of assets and liabilities made after the end of the measurement period are recorded within the Company's operating results.

On March 31, 2026, and December 31, 2025, goodwill was $579,950.

Business Segments and Concentrations

The Company uses the "management approach" to identify its reportable segments. The management approach requires companies to report segment financial information consistent with information used by management for making operating decisions and assessing performance as the basis for identifying the Company's reportable segments. The Company manages its business as a single reportable segment.

Customers in the United States accounted for approximately 96% of our revenues. We do not have any property or equipment outside of the United States.

Use of Estimates

Preparing financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and revenues and expenses during the reported period. Actual results could differ from those estimates, and those estimates may be material.

Significant estimates during the three months ended March 31, 2026 and 2025, include, allowance for doubtful accounts and other receivables, inventory reserves and classifications, valuation of beneficial conversion features in convertible debt, valuation of loss contingencies, valuation of derivative liabilities, valuation of stock-based compensation, estimated useful lives related to intangible assets and property and equipment, uncertain tax positions, and the valuation allowance on deferred tax assets.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Company operates in an industry that is subject to intense competition and changes in consumer demand. The Company's operations are subject to significant risk and uncertainties including financial and operational risks including the potential risk of business failure.

The Company has experienced, and in the future expects to continue to experience, variability in sales and earnings. The factors expected to contribute to this variability include, among others, (i) the cyclical nature of the industry, (ii) general economic conditions in the various local markets in which the Company competes, including a potential general downturn in the economy, and (iii) the volatility of prices in connection with the Company's distribution of the product. These factors, among others, make it difficult to project the Company's operating results on a consistent basis.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Company accounts for financial instruments under Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") ASC 820, Fair Value Measurements. ASC 820 provides a framework for measuring fair value and requires disclosures regarding fair value measurements. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date, based on the Company's principal or, in absence of a principal, most advantageous market for the specific asset or liability.

The Company uses a three-tier fair value hierarchy to classify and disclose all assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis, as well as assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis, in periods subsequent to their initial measurement. The hierarchy requires the Company to use observable inputs when available, and to minimize the use of unobservable inputs, when determining fair value.

The three tiers are defined as follows:

- Level 1 - Observable inputs that reflect quoted market prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets;
- Level 2 - Observable inputs other than quoted prices in active markets that are observable either directly or indirectly in the marketplace for identical or similar assets and liabilities; and
- Level 3 - Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market data, which require the Company to develop its own assumptions.

The determination of fair value and the assessment of a measurement's placement within the hierarchy requires judgment. Level 3 valuations often involve a higher degree of judgment and complexity. Level 3 valuations may require the use of various cost, market, or income valuation methodologies applied to unobservable management estimates and assumptions. Management's assumptions could vary depending on the asset or liability valued and the valuation method used. Such assumptions could include estimates of prices, earnings, costs, actions of market participants, market factors, or the weighting of various valuation methods. The Company may also engage external advisors to assist us in determining fair value, as appropriate.

Although the Company believes that the recorded fair value of our financial instruments is appropriate, these fair values may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values.

The Company's financial instruments, including cash, accounts receivable, and accounts payable and accrued expenses, are carried at historical cost. As of March 31, 2026 and December 31, 2025, the carrying amounts of these instruments approximated their fair values because of the short-term nature of these instruments.

ASC 825-10 "Financial Instruments" allows entities to voluntarily choose to measure certain financial assets and liabilities at fair value ("fair value option"). The fair value option may be elected on an instrument-by-instrument basis and is irrevocable unless a new election date occurs. If the fair value option is elected for an instrument, unrealized gains and losses for that instrument should be reported in earnings at each subsequent reporting date. The Company did not elect to apply the fair value option to any outstanding financial instruments.

Cash and Cash Equivalents and Concentration of Credit Risk

For the purposes of the consolidated statements of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid instruments with a maturity of a year or less at the purchase date and money market accounts to be cash equivalents.

On March 31, 2026 and on December 31, 2025, the Company had cash of $7,450 and $5,857, respectively; the Company did not have any cash equivalents.

The Company is exposed to credit risk on its cash and cash equivalents in the event of default by the financial institutions to the extent account balances exceed the amount insured by the FDIC, which is $250,000. There were no accounts in excess of this insured limit.

Accounts Receivable

The Company has a policy of reserving uncollectible accounts based on the best estimate of the amount of probable credit losses in our existing accounts receivable. We extend credit to customers based on an evaluation of their financial condition and other factors. The Company generally does not require collateral or other security to support accounts receivable and perform ongoing credit evaluations of customers and maintain an allowance for potential bad debts if required.

It is determined whether an allowance for doubtful accounts is required by evaluating specific accounts where information indicates the customers may have an inability to meet financial obligations. In these cases, we use assumptions and judgment, based on the best available facts and circumstances, to record a specific allowance for those customers against amounts due to reduce the receivable to the amount expected to be collected. These specific allowances are re-evaluated and adjusted as additional information is received. The amounts calculated are analyzed to determine the total amount of the allowance. The Company may also record a general allowance, as necessary.

Direct write-offs are taken in the period when we have exhausted our efforts to collect overdue and unpaid receivables or otherwise evaluate other circumstances that indicate the collectability of receivables.

Allowance for doubtful accounts were not material on March 31, 2026, and December 31, 2025, respectively. For the three months ended March 31, 2026, and 2025, the Company recorded bad debt expense of $0 and $0, respectively. Bad debt expense is recorded as a component of general and administrative expenses in the accompanying consolidated statements of operations.

Inventory

Inventory primarily consists of finished products held for resale. Inventory is stated at a lower of cost or net realizable value using the first-in, first-out (FIFO) valuation method.

At March 31, 2026, and December 31, 2025, inventory consisted of:

Classification	March 31, 2026	December 31, 2025
Finished goods	$0.00	$0.00

Raw materials and packaging	$475,114	$475,114
Total inventory	$475,114	$475,114

If the Company identifies excess, obsolete, or unsalable items, inventory is written down to net realizable value in the period in which the impairment is first identified. Shipping and handling costs incurred for inventory purchases and product shipments are recorded in cost of sales in the Company's consolidated statements of operations.

During the three months ended March 31, 2026, and 2025, impairment expenses were $0 and $0, respectively.

Impairment of Long-lived Assets

Management evaluates the recoverability of the Company's identifiable intangible assets and other long-lived assets when events or circumstances indicate a potential impairment exists, in accordance with the provisions of ASC 360-10-35-15 "Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets." Events and circumstances considered by the Company in determining whether the carrying value of identifiable intangible assets and other long-lived assets may not be recoverable include but are not limited to significant changes in performance relative to expected operating results; significant changes in the use of the assets; significant negative industry or economic trends; and changes in the Company's business strategy. In determining if impairment exists, the Company estimates the undiscounted cash flows to be generated from the use and ultimate disposition of these assets.

If impairment is indicated based on a comparison of the assets' carrying values and the undiscounted cash flows, the impairment to be recognized is measured as the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the fair value of the assets.

During the three months ended March 31, 2026, and 2025, impairment expenses were $0 and $0, respectively.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is provided on the straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which range from one to seven years.

Expenditures for repair and maintenance which do not materially extend the useful lives of property and equipment are charged to operations. When property or equipment is sold or otherwise disposed of, the cost and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the respective accounts with the resulting gain or loss reflected in operations.

Management reviews the carrying value of its property and equipment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset may not be recoverable.

During the three months ended March 31, 2026, and 2025, impairment expenses were $0 and $0, respectively.

Capitalized Software

Direct costs related to software development, including coding, website application development, infrastructure development and graphics development, are capitalized and included in other assets. Amortization is provided for on a straight-line basis over the useful life of the software. Costs related to planning, content development, and operating and maintaining software are expensed as incurred.

Derivative Liabilities

The Company analyzes all financial instruments with features of both liabilities and equity under FASB ASC Topic No. 480, ("ASC 480"), "Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity" and FASB ASC Topic No. 815, ("ASC 815") "Derivatives and Hedging". Derivative liabilities are adjusted to reflect fair value at each period end, with any increase or decrease in the fair value being recorded in results of operations as adjustments to fair value of derivatives. The Company uses a binomial model to determine fair value.

Upon conversion of a note for shares of common stock, where the embedded conversion option has been bifurcated and accounted for as a derivative liability, the Company records the shares at fair value, relieves all related notes, derivatives, and debt discounts, and recognizes a net gain or loss on debt extinguishment. Equity instruments that are initially classified as equity that become subject to reclassification under ASC Topic 815 are reclassified to liabilities at the fair value of the instrument on the reclassification date.

Original Issue Discount

For certain notes issued, the Company may provide the debt holder with an original issue discount. The original issue discount is recorded as a debt discount, reducing the face amount of the note, and is amortized to interest expense in the Consolidated Statements of Operations over the life of the debt.

Debt Issue Cost

Debt issuance cost paid to lenders, or third parties are recorded as debt discounts and amortized to interest expense in the consolidated statements of operations, over the life of the underlying debt instrument.

Operating Lease

From time to time, we may enter into operating lease or sub-lease agreements, including our corporate headquarters. We account for leases in accordance with ASC Topic 842: Leases, which requires a lessee to utilize the right-of-use model and to record a right-of-use asset and a lease liability on the balance sheet for all leases with terms longer than 12 months. Leases are classified as either financing or operating, with classification affecting the pattern of expense recognition in the statement of operations. In addition, a lessor is required to classify leases as either sales-type, financing or operating. A lease will be treated as a sale if it transfers all of the risks and rewards, as well as control of the underlying asset, to the lessee. If risks and rewards are conveyed without the transfer of control, the lease is treated as financing. If the lessor does not convey risk and rewards or control, the lease is treated as operating. We determine if an arrangement is a lease, or contains a lease, at inception and record the lease in our financial statements upon lease commencement, which is the date when the underlying asset is made available for use by the lessor.

Right-of-use assets represent our right to use an underlying asset for the lease term and lease liabilities represent our obligation to make lease payments over the lease term. Lease right-of-use assets and liabilities at commencement are initially measured at the present value of lease payments over the lease term. We generally use our incremental borrowing rate based on the information available at commencement to determine the present value of lease payments except when an implicit interest rate is readily determinable. We determine our incremental borrowing rate based on market sources including relevant industry data.

We have lease agreements with lease and non-lease components and have elected to utilize the practical expedient to account for lease and non-lease components together as a single combined lease component, from both a lessee and lessor perspective with the exception of direct sales-type leases and production equipment classes embedded in supply agreements. From a lessor perspective, the timing and pattern of transfer are the same for the non-lease components and associated lease component and, the lease component, if accounted for separately, would be classified as an operating lease.

We have elected not to present short-term leases on the balance sheet as these leases have a lease term of 12 months or less at lease inception and do not contain purchase options or renewal terms that we are reasonably certain to exercise. All other lease assets and lease liabilities are recognized based on the present value of lease payments over the lease term at commencement date. Because most of our leases do not provide an implicit rate of return, we used our incremental borrowing rate based on the information available at lease commencement date in determining the present value of lease payments.

Our leases, where we are the lessee, do not include an option to extend the lease term. Our lease also includes an option to terminate the lease prior to the end of the agreed upon lease term. For the purpose of calculating lease liabilities, the lease term would include options to extend or terminate the lease when it is reasonably certain that we will exercise such options.

Lease expense for operating leases is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term as an operating expense, included as a component of general and administrative expenses, in the accompanying consolidated statements of operations.

Certain operating leases provide for annual increases to lease payments based on an index or rate, our lease has no stated increase, payments were fixed at lease inception. We calculate the present value of future lease payments based on the index or rate at the lease commencement date. Differences between the calculated lease payment and actual payment are expensed as incurred.

Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenue in accordance with ASC 606 to align revenue recognition more closely with the delivery of the Company's services and will provide financial statement readers with enhanced disclosures. In accordance with ASC 606, revenue is recognized when a customer obtains control of promised services. The amount of revenue recognized reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled to receive in exchange for these services. To achieve this core principle, the Company applies the following five steps:

Identify the contract with a customer.

A contract with a customer exists when (i) the Company enters into an enforceable contract with a customer that defines each party's rights regarding the services to be transferred and identifies the payment terms related to these services, (ii) the contract has commercial substance and, (iii) the Company determines that collection of substantially all consideration for services that are transferred is probable based on the customer's intent and ability to pay the promised consideration. The Company applies judgment in determining the customer's ability and intention to pay, which is based on a variety of factors including the customer's historical payment experience or, in the case of a new customer, published credit and financial information pertaining to the customer.

Identify the performance obligations in the contract.

Performance obligations promised in a contract are identified based on the services that will be transferred to the customer that are both capable of being distinct, whereby the customer can benefit from the service either on its own or together with other resources that are readily available from third parties or from the Company, and are distinct in the context of the contract, whereby the transfer of the services is separately identifiable from other promises in the contract. To the extent a contract includes multiple promised services, the Company must apply judgment to determine whether promised services are capable of being distinct and distinct in the context of the contract. If these criteria are not met the promised services are accounted for as a combined performance obligation.

Determine the transaction price.

The transaction price is determined based on the consideration to which the Company will be entitled in exchange for transferring services to the customer. To the extent the transaction price includes variable consideration, the Company estimates the amount of variable consideration that should be included in the transaction price utilizing either the expected value method or the most likely amount method depending on the nature of the variable consideration. Variable consideration is included in the transaction price if, in the Company's judgment, it is probable that a significant future reversal of cumulative revenue under the contract will not occur. None of the Company's contracts as of March 31, 2026, and December 31, 2025, contained a significant financing component.

Allocate the transaction price to performance obligations in the contract.

If the contract contains a single performance obligation, the entire transaction price is allocated to the single performance obligation. However, if a series of distinct services that are substantially the same qualifies as a single performance obligation in a contract with variable consideration, the Company must determine if the variable consideration is attributable to the entire contract or to a specific part of the contract. For example, a bonus or penalty may be associated with one or more, but not all, distinct services promised in a series of distinct services that forms part of a single performance obligation. Contracts that contain multiple performance obligations require an allocation of the transaction price to each performance obligation based on a relative standalone selling price basis unless the transaction price is variable and meets the criteria to be allocated entirely to a performance obligation or to a distinct service that forms part of a single performance obligation. The Company determines standalone selling prices based on the price at which the performance obligation is sold separately. If the standalone selling price is not observable through past transactions, the Company estimates the standalone selling price taking into account available information such as market conditions and internally approved pricing guidelines related to the performance obligations.

Recognize revenue when or as the Company satisfies a performance obligation.

The Company satisfies performance obligations either overtime or at a point in time. Revenue is recognized at the time the related performance obligation is satisfied by transferring a promised service to a customer.

The following reflects additional discussion regarding our revenue recognition policies for each of our material revenue streams. For each revenue stream we do not offer any returns, refunds or warranties, and no arrangements are cancellable.

Additionally, all contract consideration is fixed and determinable at the initiation of the contract.

All sales are recognized upon delivery of products to the customer. When determining revenues, no significant judgements or assumptions are required. For all transactions, the sales price is fixed (no variable consideration). All consideration from contracts is included in the transaction price. The Company’s contracts are all single performance obligations.

Contract Liabilities (Deferred Revenue)

Contract liabilities represent deposits made by customers before the satisfaction of performance obligation and recognition of revenue. Upon completion of the performance obligation that the Company has with the customer based on the terms of the contract, the liability for the customer deposit is relieved and revenue is recognized.

On March 31, 2026, and December 31, 2025, the Company had deferred revenue of $0.

The following represents the Company’s disaggregation of revenues for the three months ended March 31, 2026 and 2025:

	March 31, 2026		March 31, 2025
	Revenue	% of Revenues	Revenue	% of Revenues
Private label	$ 26,280	100%	$ 178,449	100%
Total Revenues	$26,280	100%	$ 178,449	100%

Cost of Revenues

Cost of revenues primarily consists of purchased supplies, materials freight and labor.

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income tax using the asset and liability method prescribed by ASC 740, “Income Taxes”. Under this method, deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on the difference between the financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates that will be in effect in the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. The Company records a valuation allowance to offset deferred tax assets if based on the weight of available evidence, it is more-likely-than-not that some portion, or all, of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The effect on deferred taxes of a change in tax rates is recognized as income or loss in the period that includes the enactment date.

The Company follows the accounting guidance for uncertainty in income taxes using the provisions of ASC 740 “Income Taxes”. Using that guidance, tax positions initially need to be recognized in the financial statements when it is more likely than not the position will be sustained upon examination by the tax authorities. As of March 31, 2026, and December 31, 2025, respectively, the Company had no uncertain tax positions that qualify for either recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.

The Company recognizes interest and penalties related to uncertain income tax positions in other expenses. No interest and penalties related to uncertain income tax positions were recorded for the three months ended March 31, 2026, and 2025.

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act (“CARES Act”) was signed into law in March 2020. The CARES Act lifts certain deduction limitations originally imposed by the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (“2017 Tax Act”). Corporate taxpayers may carry back net operating losses (NOLs) originating between 2018 and 2020 for up to five years, which was not previously allowed under the 2017 Tax Act. The CARES Act also eliminates the 80% of taxable income limitations by allowing corporate entities to fully utilize NOL carryforwards to offset taxable income in 2019, 2020 or 2021. Taxpayers may generally deduct interest up to the sum of 50% of adjusted taxable income plus business interest income (30% limit under the 2017 Tax Act) for 2019 and 2020. The CARES Act allows taxpayers with alternative minimum tax credits to claim a refund in 2020 for the entire amount of the credits instead of recovering the credits through refunds over a period of years, as originally enacted by the 2017 Tax Act.

In addition, the CARES Act raises the corporate charitable deduction limit to 25% of taxable income and makes qualified improvement property generally eligible for 15-year cost- recovery and 100% bonus depreciation. The enactment of the CARES Act did not result in any material adjustments to our income tax provision for the three months ended March 31, 2026, and 2025, respectively.

Advertising Costs

Advertising costs are expensed as incurred. Advertising costs are included as a component of general and administrative expenses in the consolidated statements of operations.

The Company recognized $0 and $0 in marketing and advertising costs during three months ended March 31, 2026 and 2025, respectively.

Stock-Based Compensation

The Company accounts for our stock-based compensation under ASC 718 “Compensation – Stock Compensation” using the fair value-based method. Under this method, compensation cost is measured at the grant date based on the value of the award and is recognized over the service period, which is usually the vesting period. This guidance establishes standards for the accounting for transactions in which an entity exchanges its equity instruments for goods or services. It also addresses transactions in which an entity incurs liabilities in exchange for goods or services that are based on the fair value of the entity’s equity instruments or that may be settled by the issuance of those equity instruments.

The Company uses the fair value method for equity instruments granted to non-employees and use the Black-Scholes model for measuring the fair value of options.

The fair value of stock-based compensation is determined as of the date of the grant or the date at which the performance of the services is completed (measurement date) and is recognized over the vesting periods.

When determining fair value, the Company considers the following assumptions in the Black- Scholes model:

- Exercise price,
- Expected dividends,
- Expected volatility,
- Risk-free interest rate; and

- Expected life of option

Stock Warrants

In connection with certain financing, consulting and collaboration arrangements, the Company may issue warrants to purchase shares of its common stock. The outstanding warrants are standalone instruments that are not puttable or mandatorily redeemable by the holder and are classified as equity awards. The Company measures the fair value of the awards using the Black-Scholes option pricing model as of the measurement date.

Warrants issued in conjunction with the issuance of common stock are initially recorded at fair value as a reduction in additional paid-in capital of the common stock issued. All other warrants are recorded at fair value and expensed over the requisite service period or at the date of issuance if there is not a service period.

Basic and Diluted Earnings (Loss) per Share

Pursuant to ASC 260-10-45, basic earnings (loss) per common share is computed by dividing net income (loss) by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding for the periods presented. Diluted earnings per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted average number of shares of common stock, common stock equivalents and potentially dilutive securities outstanding during the period. Potentially dilutive common shares may consist of common stock issuable for stock options and warrants (using the treasury stock method), convertible notes and common stock issuable. These common stock equivalents may be dilutive in the future. In the event of a net loss, diluted loss per share is the same as basic loss per share since the effect of the potential common stock equivalents upon conversion would be anti-dilutive.

The following potentially dilutive equity securities outstanding as of March 31, 2026, and December 31, 2025, were as follows:

	March 31, 2026	December 31, 2025	Shares Outstanding	Stock Price @ March 31, 2026
Series F redeemable preferred stock	89,109	89,109	900	$ 0.0101
Series G redeemable preferred stock	-	-
Series H redeemable preferred stock	1,089	1,089	11	$ 0.0101
Series I redeemable preferred stock	1,000,000	1,000,000
Series J redeemable preferred stock	713	163	713	$0.001
Convertible notes & related accrued interest (exercise price $0.0014 - $0.023 / share)	405,665,055	405,665,055		$ 0.0195
Warrants (exercise price $0.001 / share)	70,000,000	70,000,000		$ 0.0195
Total common stock equivalents	476,755,966	476,755,416

The convertible notes contain exercise prices that give a discount to the market and cause variability in the potential amount of common stock equivalents outstanding at each reporting period. As a result, the amount computed for common stock equivalents could change given the quoted closing trading price at each reporting period. Warrants and stock options included as common stock equivalents represent those that are vested and exercisable.

Based on the potential common stock equivalents noted above on March 31, 2026, the Company has sufficient authorized shares of common stock (3,000,000,000) to settle any potential exercises of common stock equivalents.

Preferred Stock (Temporary Equity)

We apply the guidance enumerated in ASC 480 “Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity” when determining the classification and measurement of preferred stock. Preferred shares subject to mandatory redemption (if any) are classified as liability instruments and are measured at fair value. We classify conditionally redeemable preferred shares (if any), which includes preferred shares that feature redemption rights that are either within the control of the holder or subject to redemption upon the occurrence of uncertain events not solely within our control, as temporary equity. At all other times, we classified our preferred shares in stockholders' equity. Our preferred shares do not feature any redemption rights within the holders' control or conditional redemption features not within our control. Accordingly, unless otherwise noted, all issuances of preferred stock are presented as a component of consolidated stockholders' deficit.

Related parties also include principal owners of the Company, its management, members of the immediate families of principal owners of the Company and its management and other parties with which the Company may deal with if one party controls or can significantly influence the management or operating policies of the other to an extent that one of the transacting parties might be prevented from fully pursuing its own separate interests.

Note 5 – Derivative Liabilities

The above convertible notes contained an embedded conversion option with a conversion price that could result in issuing an undeterminable amount of future common stock to settle the host contract. Accordingly, the embedded conversion option is required to be bifurcated from the host instrument (convertible note) and treated as a liability, which is calculated at fair value, and marked to market at each reporting period.

The Company used the binomial pricing model to estimate the fair value of its embedded conversion option liabilities with the following inputs:

	March 31, 2026	December 31, 2025
Expected term (years)	0.16 - 0.95 years	0.16 - 0.95 years
Expected volatility	555%	555%
Expected dividends	0%	0%
Risk free interest rate	4.68%	4.68%

A reconciliation of the beginning and ending balances for the derivative liability measured at fair value on a recurring basis using significant unobservable inputs (Level 3) is as follows on March 31, 2026, and December 31, 2025:

Derivative liability - December 31, 2025	$ (1,683,494)
Fair value at commitment date	-
Fair value mark to market adjustment	-
Derivative liability – March 31, 2026	$ (1,683,494)

Changes in fair value of derivative liabilities are included in other income (expense) in the accompanying consolidated statements of operations.

Note 6 – Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Company evaluates its financial assets and liabilities subject to fair value measurements on a recurring basis to determine the appropriate level in which to classify them for each reporting period. This determination requires significant judgments to be made.

Liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis consisted of the following on March 31, 2026, and December 31, 2025:

	December 31, 2024	Quoted Prices in Active markets Identical Assets (Level 1)	Significant Other Observable inputs Inputs (Level 2)	Significant Other Unobservable Inputs (Level 3)
Derivative Liabilities	$(1,683,494)	$ -	$ -	$(1,683,494)
