6) Describe the Issuer's Business, Products and Services

Describe the issuer's business so a potential investor can clearly understand the company. In answering this item, please include the following:

A. a description of the issuer's business operations;

Company is engaged in the business of providing consulting and other services to companies to help them reach their fullest potential. These services may include all or some of the following, corporate governance guidance and structuring, manufacturing planning and organization, Sales and Marketing strategic planning and organization, Accounting policies procedures and maintenance, and Capital infusions. In all cases our management team will be looking for companies in diversified areas with the greatest potential for growth. The company intends to grow through acquiring all or parts of these entities and proceeding to take them public. This will benefit both our company portfolio and the portfolio of all of our shareholders on the day of registration as the target companies shares will be dispersed to our shareholders as part of a dividend to them. Our plan is to grow not only our portfolio but that also of our shareholders.

Our management has already found potential acquisitions in various market segments, including, but not limited to, gold mining, cable TV, technology, mobile vending, natural resources and mobile marketing and other business opportunities primarily related to bringing American products and services to the international market. Our plan is to look for target acquisitions in these business segments and start operations in these areas by acquiring companies that have high profitable growth potential.
