3692: Primary Batteries, Dry and Wet

Fiscal Year:

The Company's fiscal year ends on December 31.

Products:

The Company is based in China and holds a number of Chinese pending patents pertaining to long lasting batteries ideal for use in electric automobiles. The Chinese electric vehicle market – according to Bloomberg – became the world's largest in 2015 with 507,000 cars sold, and is expected to reach 2 million vehicles by 2020. The Chinese government has provided subsidies to help car makers achieve large scale production of electric vehicles, and has encouraged taxi fleets and government agencies to use electric automobiles.

The company has developed a small, low-cost, fully automatic, multi-function rechargeable car power plant recharge system. It is a new type of nickel-manganese multi-phase lithium-ion battery: a new material system, a new process, the new battery structure, the energy density per kilogram to 180W, 50% higher than the same specifications lithium iron phosphate battery. JB has also developed a prototype SUV electric vehicle (“EV”) that is able to go up to 600 km (373 miles) on a single charge and is called the “Millet Ming Yang V3”.

DOLAT VENTURES, INC.
NOTES TO UNAUDITED FINANCIALS

NOTE 1 - ORGANIZATION AND BASIS OF PRESENTATION

The Company

Dolat Ventures, Inc., (the “Company”) was incorporated in Nevada on April 13, 2006 with the intent to engage in the business of mineral property exploration. On March 20, 2013, the Company changes its domicile from Nevada to Wyoming.

On February 9, 2009, the Company entered into an Agreement and Plan of Acquisition (the “Acquisition Agreement”) with Dove Diamond and Mining, Inc. (“Dove”), a Nevada corporation, and the shareholders of Dove (“Dove Shareholders”) whereby the Company acquired 100% of the issued and outstanding common stock of Dove in exchange (the “Stock Exchange”) for 20,622,000 newly issued shares of its restricted common stock. The final closing was concluded and is effective February 15, 2009. For accounting purposes, as a result of the Stock Exchange, Dove became a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company.

In conjunction with the acquisition of Dove, the Company experienced a change in control. On February 28, 2009 Shmuel Dovid Hauck was nominated and elected by the Board of Directors as President of Dolat Ventures, Inc. upon the resignation of Gary Tice, who previously served as President, Chief Financial Officer, Secretary, and a Director. Mr. Hauck was also appointed to the Board of Directors on February 28, 2009.

On April 13, 2010, the Company entered into a Share Exchange Agreement with Millennium Mining LLC (“Millennium”), a Sierra Leone Limited Liability Company. Under the agreement, the company acquired 75% of the capital stock of Millennium in exchange for twenty eight million (28,000,000) shares of the Company’s common stock.

As of May 2014, the company’s Millennium operations had been on hold due to the outbreak of Ebola in the region. On December 30, 2015, the board of directors agreed to sale its seventy-five (75%) percent stake in Millennium Mining LLC of Sierra Leone. The company has not had operations in Sierra Leone in almost two years due to the Ebola outbreak. The company agreed to sale its stake back to Millennium Mining LLC for a payment of $10,000 (ten thousand dollars) USD. Millennium Mining LLC and Dove Diamond and Mining, Inc. will no longer be subsidiaries of Dolat Ventures Inc.

On October 5, 2015, the Board of Directors changed the reporting cycle for the Company from fiscal year ending February 28 to the calendar year ending December 31.

On December 30, 2015, the board of directors, agreed to acquire Patriot Development Corporation. Patriot Development Corporation is led by Steven Stein, and is involved in the acquisition and sale of commercial and residential property throughout New England. To date the company has acquired 18 properties located throughout Massachusetts, and Connecticut. The company and its real estate assets, have an estimated market value of $2,615,000 (two million six hundred and fifteen thousand dollars). On December 2, 2016, the Company terminated its planned acquisition of Patriot Development Corporation.

On April 4, 2016, the company increased its authorized common stock to 1,000,000,000 and amended its authorized Class C convertible preferred stock to 1,000,000. Finally, on December 2, 2016, the Company merged with a Chinese company, JB & ZJMY Co., Ltd., that provides electric batteries to be used for electric passenger vehicles. Dr. Stein submitted his resignation and was replaced by Mr. Wang DeQun as principal officer.

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in The United States of America and the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”).

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING

POLICIES

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash

Cash consists principally of currency on hand, and demand deposits at commercial banks.

Foreign currency translation

Items included in the financial statements are translated from Chinese yuan into U.S. dollars, which is the functional currency of the Company.

The income statement and cash flows are translated into dollars at average exchange rates for the year and their balance sheets are translated at the exchange rates ruling on December 31. Exchange differences arising from the translation are recognized in other comprehensive income.

Revenue Recognition

The Company follows the guidance of Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) Topic 605, formerly, Staff Accounting Bulletin (“SAB”) 104 for revenue recognition. In general, the Company records revenue when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, services have been rendered, the sales price to the customer is fixed or determinable, and collectability is reasonably assured. Revenues from services are recognized when the services are performed, evidence of an arrangement exists, the fee is fixed and determinable and collectability is probable. In circumstances when these criteria are not met, revenue recognition is deferred until resolution occurs.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Expenditures for major additions and betterments are capitalized. Maintenance and repairs are charged to operations as incurred. Depreciation of property and equipment is computed by the straight-line method (after taking into account their respective estimated residual values) over the assets estimated useful lives of 10 years. Upon sale or retirement of property and equipment, the related cost and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any gain or loss is reflected in the consolidated statements of operations. Leasehold improvements are amortized on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease or the estimated useful lives, whichever is shorter. On December 30, 2015, the company disposed of its Millennium Mining LLC subsidiary and recorded a loss.

Net Income or (Loss) Per Share of Common Stock

Basic and diluted loss per common share is based upon the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period computed under the provisions of Accounting Standards Codification subtopic 260-10, Earnings per Share (“ASC 260-10”). Diluted income (loss) per share includes the dilutive effects of common stock equivalents on an “as if converted” basis.

Income Taxes

Income taxes are accounted for under the asset and liability method. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases, and operating loss and tax credit carry forwards. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in operations in the period enacted. A valuation allowance is provided when it is more likely than not that a portion or all of a deferred tax asset will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income and the reversal of deferred tax liabilities during the period in which related temporary differences become deductible. The benefit of tax positions taken or expected to be taken in the Company’s income tax returns are recognized in the condensed financial statements if such positions are more likely than not of being sustained.

In accordance with ASC 740-10, the Company recognizes the financial statement benefit of a tax position only after determining that the relevant tax authority would more likely than not sustain the position following an audit. For tax positions meeting this standard, the amount recognized in the financial statements is the largest benefit that has a greater than 50 percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement with the relevant tax authority.

Goodwill and Intangible Assets

The Company’s acquisitions are accounted for using the acquisition method. Under the acquisition method, net assets and results of operations of acquired companies are included in the consolidated financial statements from the date of acquisition. The purchase prices are allocated to the assets acquired, including identifiable intangible assets, and the liabilities assumed based on their estimated fair values at the date of acquisition. The excess of purchase price over the fair value of the net assets acquired is recognized as goodwill. Conversely, any excess of the fair value of the net assets acquired over the purchase price is recognized as a bargain purchase gain.

The Company tests goodwill for impairment on an annual basis and at interim periods when events or circumstances may make it more likely than not that an impairment has occurred. If a qualitative analysis indicates that there may be an impairment, a quantitative analysis is performed. The quantitative impairment test for goodwill utilizes a two-step approach, whereby the Company compares the carrying value of each identified reporting unit to its fair value. If the carrying value of the reporting unit is greater than its fair value, the second step is performed, where the implied fair value of goodwill is compared to its carrying value. The Company recognizes an impairment charge for the amount by which the carrying amount of goodwill exceeds its fair value.

Fair Value of Instruments

FASB ASC 820, Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. ASC 820 defines fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. ASC 820 states that a fair value measurement should be determined based on the assumptions the market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability. In addition, ASC 820 specifies a hierarchy of valuation techniques based on whether the types of valuation information (“inputs”) are observable or unobservable. Observable inputs reflect market data obtained from independent sources, while unobservable inputs reflect the reporting entity’s own assumptions about the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances.

The twelve broad levels defined by ASC 820 hierarchy are as follows:

Level 1 – quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets.

Level 2 – pricing inputs are other than quoted prices in active markets, which are either directly or indirectly observable as of the reported date.

Level 3 – valuations derived from methods in which one or more significant inputs or significant value drivers are unobservable in the markets.

These financial instruments are measured using management’s best estimate of fair value, where the inputs into the determination of fair value require significant management judgment to estimation. Valuations based on unobservable inputs are highly subjective and require significant judgments. Changes in such judgments could have a material impact on fair value estimates. In addition, since estimates are as of a specific point in time, they are susceptible to material near-term changes. Changes in economic conditions August also dramatically affect the estimated fair values.

Fair value estimates discussed herein are based upon certain market assumptions and pertinent information available to management. The respective carrying value of certain financial instruments approximated their fair values due to the short-term nature of these instruments. These financial instruments include related party receivables, prepaid expenses, accounts payable and accrued expenses and related party payables. The fair value of the Company’s notes payable is estimated based on current rates that would be available for debt of similar terms which is not significantly different from its stated value.

Emerging Growth Company

We qualify as an “emerging growth company” under the 2012 JOBS Act. Section 107 of the JOBS Act provides that an emerging growth company can take advantage of the extended transition period provided in Section 7(a)(2)(B) of the Securities Act for complying with new or revised accounting standards. As an emerging growth company, we can delay the adoption of certain accounting standards until those standards would otherwise apply to private companies. We have elected to take advantage of the benefits of this extended transition period.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

We have reviewed all Accounting Standards Updates issued by the Financial Accounting Standards Board since we last issued financial statements and have determined none of them would have a material effect on the financial statements upon adoption.

NOTE 3 — GOING CONCERN

The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and the satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business. As reflected in the accompanying consolidated financial statements, the Company had a substantial accumulated deficit during the exploratory stage and net losses for 2015 and 2016. These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern.

NOTE 4 - PROVISION FOR INCOME TAXES

We did not provide any current or deferred U.S. Federal Income Tax provision or benefit for any of the periods presented because we have experienced operating losses since our date of incorporation. Accounting for the Uncertainty in Income Taxes when it is more likely than not that a tax asset cannot be realized through future income, the Company must allow for this future tax benefit. We provided full valuation allowance on the net deferred asset, consisting of net operating loss carry forwards, because management has determined that it is more likely than not that we will not earn income sufficient to realize the deferred assets during the carry forward period.
