

Quantum International Corporation Launches New Website Showcasing Innovative Web3 and AI Solutions

Quantum International Corporation Unveils Revamped Website Featuring Breakthrough Web3 and AI Applications

Denver, CO – Friday, June 23, 2025 – Quantum International Corporation (OTC:QUAN) is proud to announce the launch of its completely redesigned website, now live at <https://quantuminternationalcorp.com>. The updated site delivers a cleaner interface, deeper content, and expanded insights into Quantum’s vision, mission, and rapidly growing ecosystem of Web3 and AI-powered applications.

The refresh reflects Quantum’s continued evolution and innovation, providing investors, partners, and users a centralized hub to learn more about the company’s cutting-edge solutions.

What’s New:

- A streamlined, modern layout optimized for both desktop and mobile devices
- Expanded details on forthcoming Quantum products, encompassing next-generation Web3 payment infrastructure, an AI-integrated encrypted messaging protocol, a smart contract–driven Web3 marketplace, a suite of decentralized blockchain-integrated gaming and token applications
- Deeper insights into Quantum’s strategic roadmap and ecosystem vision
- Enhanced investor and media resource access
- All Web3 applications are powered by the LGCY Network blockchain, delivering speed, scalability, and low-cost transactions.

“This is more than just a new look—it’s a public launchpad for our next phase,” said Justin Waiau, CEO of Quantum International Corporation. “We’ve built foundational products with real-world use cases, and this site is a transparent window into our progress and ambitions.”

Quantum invites the public to explore the new site, follow upcoming product releases, and engage with its growing Web3 and AI community.
