WhereverTV Wins Monumental Appellate Victory in Ongoing Legal Battle with Comcast

Fort Myers, FL – August 6, 2025 – WhereverTV, Inc. has secured a complete appellate victory in its ongoing intellectual property dispute with Comcast Cable Communications, LLC. On July 28, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit found in favor of WhereverTV on every appellate issue that was presented, and it remanded the case back to the United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida for further proceedings.

“We are unbelievably humbled and grateful for the thorough work and consideration by the courts,” stated Edward Ciofani, CEO of WhereverTV. “This ruling validates the strength of our claims and the innovative technology we have developed. With these rulings by the appellate court, it is clear that Comcast is infringing our company’s patent, and we are confident the legal system is going to hold Comcast accountable for that infringement. We look forward to picking up where we left off at the trial court.” WhereverTV owns patented technology for an interactive program guide that enables users to watch traditional cable and satellite television channels and streaming services like Netflix all in one place, without having to change a TV’s input. .

A Victory for Innovation

The Federal Circuit’s decision rejected Comcast’s arguments and sided with WhereverTV on several key issues, including that the patent’s interactive program guide need not provide all functionality on its own and that adding or deleting channels could include subscribing and unsubscribing—effectively adopting WhereverTV’s longstanding infringement arguments.

Renewed Confidence in the Legal Process

“We’re grateful to the Court for its thorough consideration of our appeal, and we look forward to returning to the district court to finally get this dispute resolved in short order.”

The Legal Team

WhereverTV’s legal team includes RM partners Adam Sanderson, Brett Rosenthal, Jamison Joiner, as well as Robert Harrison of the Harrison law office.
