

Right On Brands Inc. (OTC ID: RTON), today announces new CTO.

Dallas Texas December 17, 2025, Right on Brands (OTCID Current)

We have appointed Russel Young as our new Chief Technology officer. Russel brings a background in making innovative products. As we said in our last release that he will be helping to file the patent on our innovation artificial skin derived from industrial hemp. This new product will go into test after the first of the year.

The Company's initial foray is a medical polymer primarily derived from hemp oil which acts as a safe, bio-absorbable wound dressing and artificial skin. Russel is also working on other products derived from industrial hemp oil.

These and future products will be sold through both an intensified social media marketing program and its retail locations. The company will continue to operate the THC marketplace until the government forces us to quit.

Jerry Grisaffi, CEO of Right on Brands, commented: " The health and wellness market is experiencing significant growth which we believe will continue unabated for a long time. We seek to fulfill those needs with an array of products based on science, safety and regulatory alignment.
