Effective June 1, 2021, the Company changed its name to GGToor, Inc., and requested a stock symbol change. 2. Basis of Presentation and Going Concern

Theses consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and satisfaction of liabilities and commitments in the normal course of business. Should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern, it may not be able to realize the carrying value of its assets and to meet its liabilities as they become due.

The Company has incurred net losses during the nine months ended February 28, 2022, of $906,123, has accumulated deficits of $8,797,889 and negative shareholders' equity of $499,015 as of February 28, 2022. These factors, among others raise substantial doubt about the Company's being able to continue as a going concern. To continue as a going concern, the Company plans to raise funds through private placements and/or public stock offerings although there can be no assurance that it will be successful in these efforts. The consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of assets or the amounts and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Principles of consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of GGToor, Inc. and its wholly owned subsidiary, Shadow Gaming, Inc. All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash

The Corporation's cash consist of deposit accounts with financial institutions.

Fixed Assets

Fixed Assets are recorded at cost for individual assets over the Company's $2,500 capitalization threshold. Depreciation is provided principally on the straight-line method over the estimated assets useful lives, currently approximately 5 to 35 years.

Depreciation expense is included in general and administrative expense in the amounts of $17,990 and $1,739 , respectively, for the nine months ending February 28, 2022, and 2021.

Long-lived assets

Long-lived assets to be held and used are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the related carrying amount may not be recoverable. When required, impairment losses on assets to be held and used are recognized based on the excess of the asset's carrying amount over fair value of the assets and long-lived assets to be disposed of are reported at the lower of carrying amount or fair value less cost to sell.

Income (loss) per common share

Basic income (loss) per common share is calculated by dividing the income (loss) for the period by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted income (loss) per common share is calculated by dividing the applicable earnings and loss by the sum of the weighted average number of common shares outstanding and adjusting for all additional shares that would have been outstanding if potentially dilutive common shares have been issued during the year. There were 5,475,000 and Zero Common Stock Equivalents on February 28, 2022, and 2021 that were antidilutive and hence not considered in the calculation of loss per share

Income Taxes

The Company uses the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes. Under this method, income tax expense is recognized for the amount of 1) taxes payable or refundable for the current year, and 2) deferred tax consequences of temporary differences resulting from matters that have been recognized in an entity's financial statements or tax returns. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in the results of operations in the period that includes the enactment date. A valuation allowance is provided to reduce the deferred tax assets reported if, based on the weight of the available positive and negative evidence, it is more likely than not some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. A liability (including interest if applicable) is established in the consolidated financial statements to the extent a current benefit has been recognized on a tax return for matters that are considered contingent upon the outcome of an uncertain tax position. Interest and penalties, if any, are included as components of income tax expense and income taxes payable.

The Company accounts for tax contingencies using a comprehensive model of how companies should recognize, measure, present, and disclose tax positions in their consolidated financial statements when it is more likely than not the position will be sustained upon examination by the tax authorities. Such tax positions must initially and subsequently be measured as the largest amount of tax benefit that is greater than 50 percent likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement with the tax authority assuming full knowledge of the position and relevant facts.

Convertible Debt, Derivative Liability and Beneficial Conversion Feature

The Company account for certain convertible debt instruments in accordance with the guidance contained in Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 815, Derivatives and Hedging ("ASC 815") and ASC Topic 480, Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity ("ASC 480"). For conversion options embedded in promissory notes that are not deemed to be indexed to the Company's own stock, we classified such instruments as liabilities at their fair values at the time of issuance and adjusted the instruments to fair value at each reporting period. These liabilities were subject to re-measurement at each balance sheet date until extinguished either through repayment, conversion or exercise, and any change in fair value was recognized in our consolidated statement of operations. The fair values of these derivative and other financial instruments had been estimated using a Black-Scholes model and other valuation techniques.

The Company utilized the following methods to value its derivative liabilities for embedded conversion options that were valued at $25,843 and $ 26,096 on February 28, 2022, and May 31, 2021, respectively. The Company determined the fair value by comparing the discounted conversion price per share (40 % to 50 % of market price, subject to a floor in certain cases) multiplied by the number of shares issuable at the balance sheet date to the actual price per share of the Company's common stock multiplied by the number of shares issuable at that date with the difference in value recorded as a liability. There was no change in the value of embedded conversion options in the periods ended February 28, 2022, nor 2021, as there was no change in the conversion price during the periods.

The Company also values beneficial conversion features of its convertible debt based on the difference between the fixed conversion price and the fair market value of the underlying common stock on the date of issuance of the convertible debt. The resulting debt discount, if any, is amortized over the term of the convertible debt using the interest method of amortization.

Fair Value Measurements

The fair value measurement accounting literature provides the framework for measuring fair value. That framework provides a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements).

The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are described below:

Level 1 – Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets that the Company has the ability to access as of the measurement date.

Level 2 – Inputs to the valuation methodology include: (1) quoted market prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets, (2) quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in inactive markets, (3) inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability, and (4) inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means. If the asset or liability has a specified (contractual) term, the Level 2 input must be observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.

Level 3 – Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement. Unobservable inputs are those that reflect the Company’s own assumptions about the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset developed based on the best information available.

The asset’s fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used need to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. There were no transfers between levels during fiscal 2022 nor 2021.

The carrying value of our convertible debt approximates it fair market value since they are short term in nature and bear a market rate of interest.

Revenue Recognition

We will recognize revenue in accordance with Accounting Standards Update (“ASU”) 2014-09, “Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606),” including subsequently issued updates. This series of comprehensive guidance has replaced all existing revenue recognition guidance. There is a five-step approach outlined in the standard. In determining revenue, we first identify the contract according to the scope of ASU Topic 606 with the following criteria:

Identify the Contract (s) with a customer
Identify the performance obligations in the contract
Determine the transaction price
Allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract
Recognize revenue when or as we satisfy a performance obligation

Share-based Payments

All the Company’s share-based awards are classified as equity. The Company does not have any liability classified share-based awards. Each warrant or stock option is exercisable for one share of common stock

Nonemployees – The Company may enter into agreements with nonemployees to make share-based payments in return for services. These payments may be made in the form of common stock or common stock warrants. The Company recognizes expense for fully vested warrants at the time they are granted. For awards with service or performance conditions, the Company generally recognizes expense over the service period or when the performance condition is met; however, there may be circumstances in which it determines that the performance condition is probable before the actual performance condition is achieved. In such circumstances, the amount recognized as expense is the pro rata amount, depending on the estimated progress towards completion of the performance condition. Nonemployee share-based payments are measured at fair value, based on either the fair value of the equity instrument issued or on the fair value of the services received. Typically, it is not practical to value the services received, so the Company determines the fair value of common stock grants based on the price of the common stock on the measurement date (which is the earlier of the date at which a commitment for performance by the counterparty to earn the equity instruments is reached, if there are sufficient disincentives to ensure performance, or the date at which the counterparty's performance is complete), and the fair value of common stock warrants using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model ("Black-Scholes"). The Company uses historical data to estimate the expected price volatility, the expected stock option life and expected forfeiture rate. The risk-free interest rate is based on the United States Treasury yield curve in effect at the time of grant for the estimated life of the stock option. For awards that are recognized when a performance condition is probable, the fair value is estimated at each reporting date. The cost ultimately recognized is the fair value of the equity award on the date the performance condition is achieved. Accordingly, the expense recognized may change between interim reporting dates and the date the performance condition is achieved.

Employees – The Company issues two types of common stock options to employees: 1) fully-vested at the time of grant and 2) market price-based vesting. The Company recognizes expense for fully vested stock options on the date of grant at the estimated fair value of the options using Black-Scholes. The Company recognizes expense for market price-based options at the estimated fair value of the options using the lattice-based option valuation model ("Lattice Model") over the estimated life of the options used in the Lattice Model. The Company uses historical data to estimate the expected price volatility, the expected stock option life and expected forfeiture rate. The risk-free interest rate is based on the United States Treasury yield curve in effect at the time of grant for the estimated life of the stock option.

Modification of share-based payment awards – In the event the Company modifies the terms of a non-vested share-based payment award, it would incur additional expense for the excess of the fair value of the modified share-based payment award, measured at the date of modification, over the fair value of the original share-based payment award. The incremental expense would be recognized ratably over the remaining vesting period.

Cashless exercise – Most of the common stock warrants and stock options may be exercised on a cashless basis. The number of shares of common stock received upon exercising on a cashless basis is based on a) the volume weighted-average price of the common stock for three trading days immediately preceding the exercise date; b) the exercise price of the warrant or option; and c) the number of common shares issuable under the instrument

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

The FASB and other entities issued new or modifications to, or interpretations of, existing accounting guidance during 2022 and 2021. The Company has considered the new pronouncements that altered accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and other than as disclosed in the notes to the consolidated financial statements, does not believe that any other new or modified principles will have a material impact on the Company's reported consolidated financial position or operations in the near term.

In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers. This ASU is a comprehensive new revenue recognition model that is based on the principle that an entity should recognize revenue to depict the transfer of goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods and services. The ASU also requires additional quantitative and qualitative disclosures about the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from contracts with customers, including significant judgments and changes in judgments and assets recognized from costs incurred to obtain or fulfill a contract. This ASU is effective for the Company's reporting periods beginning on June 1, 2019. Companies may use either a full retrospective or a modified retrospective approach to adopt this ASU. The effect of the implementation of this new standard has not had an effect on its consolidated financial position, results of operations, and cash flows.

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-02: Leases (Topic 842), to increase transparency and comparability among organizations by recognizing lease assets and lease liabilities on the balance sheet and disclosing key information about leasing arrangements. The new standard is effective for the year ending May 31, 2020, and may be adopted early. The Company has no leases so there is no effect that implementation of the new standard had on its consolidated financial position, results of operations, and cash flows.

On August 5, 2020, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update No. 2020-06, Debt—Debt with Conversion and Other Options (Subtopic 470-20) and Derivatives and Hedging—Contracts in Entity's Own Equity (Subtopic 815-40): Accounting for Convertible Instruments and Contracts in an Entity's Own Equity, to improve financial reporting associated with accounting for convertible instruments and contracts in an entity's own equity. This ASC is effective for our fiscal year beginning after December 15, 2023. The Company is in the process of evaluating the effect this ASU will have on its consolidated financial statements.
