

SportsQuest (OTC:SPQS) TARGETED MERGER CANDIDATE

New York, New York December 2, 2022, the Company SPORTS QUEST (SPQS) is targeting a unique sports entertainment type of a company for a merger, in a 2 step formation.

The 1st acquisition would be SPORT CORP (SC). SC is a sports club type firm that specializes in listing and sale of sports teams only. (Very similar to a realtor that only focuses on sale of properties) This is how SC earns its revenue.

SC at present only focuses on soccer (football) teams in Europe. Sample of listings form part of this filing. SC target prospects are sports teams listed in the A B and C European leagues. Future plans will involve branching out into other sport sectors such as baseball, USA football, basketball and other sports.

The company is profitable and maintains corporate offices in New York, Florida and Vienna Austria. The current listings and inventory (once all successfully completed) would generate the company revenues more than 90 million dollars.

In the phase 2 of operations the company intends to acquire one of their listings and amalgamate the sport club into the Sports Quest holding co.

Some of the company backers are ex sports celebrities, and affluent individuals.

The management of SPQS is mindful that shareholders' interests come 1st. We will be releasing a poll on this targeted merger candidate via Twitter where the SPQS shareholders can participate and vote on this targeted merger.

Spanish Football Club "Tercera Division RFEF"

$4,500,000

Business Description

Fourth Division The Spanish football league system's fifth division is known as RFEF, or simply Tercera RFEF. The Segunda Division, Primera Division, and the semi-professional Primera Division RFEF and Segunda Division RFEF are above it. The Primera Division, popularly known as La Liga, is below it. It was established in 1929 as the third tier, but in 1977 and 2021, respectively, it was demoted to the fourth and fifth divisions.

A fantastic chance to purchase a football club in Spain's "Tercera Division RFEF" (Third Spanish League). The Royal Spanish Football Federation (RFEF), which oversees the country's national teams and leagues, including the top one, La Liga, is currently in control of football in Spain. Established in 1909, and is a member of both FIFA and UEFA.

Due to its size, Andalusia is divided into two groups, East and West; Ceuta is assigned to West Andalusia, while Melilla is assigned to East Andalusia. The Tercera Division RFEF has 18 regional groups (like the former fourth tier Tercera Division), which correspond to the autonomous communities of Spain. The top four teams from each group at the end of the season advance to the promotion play-offs to determine which teams are promoted to Segunda Division RFEF.

Each group's worst three teams may be demoted to the Divisiones Regionales de Football, at the very least. But the amount of teams sent down can change. The eighteen group winners are also eligible for the Copa del Rey the following year. But reserve teams are not permitted. The remaining teams from the division compete in the Copa Federacion alongside groups from Segunda Division RFEF.

POF, NDA, and passport Requested.

Historical French Football Club

$3,500,000

Business Description

French football's fifth division, the Championnat National 3, is where the historically significant football club, which was founded more than a century ago as a sporting organization, is presently competing.

The French football league system, which has one Spanish team, is a collection of interconnected leagues for club football in France and Monaco. The Ligue de Football Professionnel, which has two professional national divisions, Ligue 1 and Ligue 2, is at the top two tiers of the system.

There are other leagues managed by the Federation Franchise de Football underneath that. The semi-professional Championnat National is at level 3. The amateur Championnat National 2 (level 4) follows, which is divided into four parallel regional divisions.

Clubs who finish the season in the top half of their division may be eligible for promotion. The same rule applies to clubs that place towards the bottom of their level and may be demoted to a lower division.

60 teams make up Series C, which is divided evenly into three groups and distributed horizontally from north to south (basically they are three leagues unbound from each other during regular season). The round-robin structure is used, and the schedule for the two parts of the season is identical.

9 teams are demoted to Series D, and a total of 4 teams are promoted to Series B. Each group's winning side receives immediate promotion and earns a spot in the Supercoppa di Series C. Direct relegation occurs for teams that placed worst in the league. A complicated system of promotion and relegation play-offs determines the other divisional changes.

In one of Italy's wealthiest regions, there is a club for sale. It boasts a sizable stadium and a loyal following. The owner is seeking a strategic partner with the intention of investing in the team, adding new players,

Italian Football Club for Sale in Series D "Lega Nazionale Dilettanti"

Business Description

Liga Nazionale Dilettanti is a well-known club headquartered in the South of Italy that is for sale in Series D. The club has a sizable Stadium with parking available and has participated in Series C tournaments frequently during its existence.

Lega Nazionale Dilettanti, an Italian non-professional football league, has a Series D division as its top division. More than 12,000 football players and 400 teams are represented by the association in Italy. Series D is regarded as the fourth-ranked league in the nation because it is ranked slightly below Series C, the third and most recent professional league since 2014.15. The LND's "league inside the league," the Roman Comitato Interregionale (Interregional Committee), is in charge of organizing it.

Structure

162 teams have been organized into 9 regional divisions (Gironi), which are typically composed of 18 teams each and are geographically separated, since the early 1990s.

There were 166 teams in the 2012–2013 season. Of the 20 teams, two groups (B and C) were created. There were 161 teams in all during the 2013–14 season, with 17 teams making up Group H. According to region, the distribution for 2014–15 was as follows:

Girone A . teams from Aosta Valley, Piedmont, Liguria and Lombardy.

Girone B . teams from Lombardy and Veneto.

Girone C . teams from Friuli-Venezia Giulia, Trentino-Alto Adige and Veneto. Girone

D . teams from Emilia-Romagna, Tuscany and Veneto.

Girone E . teams from Lazio, Tuscany and Umbria.

Girone F . teams from Abruzzo, Lazio, Marche and Molise.

Girone G . teams from Lazio and Sardinia.

Girone H . teams from Apulia, Basilicata and Campania.

Girone I . teams from Calabria, Campania and Sicily.

Each year, the top-finishing team from each division is elevated to Series C, taking the place of the nine Lega Pro teams that were demoted to Series D.

Lega Pro requests the second-placed team in that Series D team's division to fill the vacancy if a recently promoted Series D team doesn't fulfill the qualifications. If that doesn't work, the third-placed team might step up, and so on.

Brazilian Football Club "Series B"

Business Description

A Brazilian football team competing in the "Campeonato Brasileiro Series B" is up for sale. The Campeonato Brasileiro Series B is also known as the Brasileiro Series B (Serie B), and up until 2017, the Series B's official name, like the Series A's, was Brasileiro Chevrolet. In the Brazilian football league system, it is the second tier.

A double round-robin system has been used since 2006, with the top four teams moving on to the Campeonato Brasileiro Series A group and the bottom four teams being demoted to the Campeonato Brasileiro Series C group. There are now 20 teams competing in the tournament.

Brazilian clubs, according to experts, are a desirable option for foreign investors.
