Greetings, esteemed HIRU Corporation shareholders!

I extend my warm regards as Vladislav Duba, your new CEO, with a background deeply rooted in Finance and Entrepreneurship.

Having graduated from the Academy of National Economy in Moscow with a bachelor's degree in Finance and Banking in the late 90s, my journey led me across various sectors spanning North America, Europe, and the former Soviet Union Republics, delving into banking, real estate, and commodity trading. My venture into the resource extraction industry commenced in 2008, assuming the role of Director of New Business Development for a leading Oil and Gas service company headquartered in Toronto, Canada.

Transitioning my focus in 2016, I delved into the mining of Green Energy Metals, including Lithium, Copper and Rare Earth Elements.

Among my notable projects are the development of a brown-field Lithium mine in Russia's Trans-Baikal region and the discovery of a Copper-Gold deposit in Kyrgyzstan, Central Asia.

Guiding these endeavors, I oversaw exploration programs, led Feasibility Studies to comply with Canadian National Instrument 43-101 standard, facilitated fundraising on public markets such as Toronto Stock Exchange and US OTC Markets, and spearheaded overall business development efforts.

In 2022, my exploration led me to West Africa, particularly Liberia, unearthing immense potential in natural resources and Carbon Offset projects.

Consequently, in 2023, I returned to Liberia as a Carbon Offset project developer, initiating the country's first Carbon Offset project centered on Improved Cookstoves. This initiative aimed to reduce Greenhouse Gas emissions by replacing traditional cookstoves with more energy-efficient alternatives, thus contributing to environmental sustainability and Liberian families' well-being.

Presently residing in Liberia, I am focused on pioneering new Carbon Offset projects in Reforestation, Agroforestry, and sustainable rice production. This immersion has afforded me a deep understanding of Liberia's landscape, fostering relationships with local communities and government officials.

Recognizing Liberia's dual potential in Carbon Offset projects and mining, I believe HIRU can serve as a conduit, connecting global capital to unlock economic opportunities in the region.

I am fully cognizant of HIRU's present circumstances. The company is currently recovering from a significant setback stemming from the loss of our primary client, Alkaline 88, in the water packaging business.

This underscores the risk of relying too heavily on a single customer, as the entire organization is vulnerable if that customer falters.

Additionally, we are actively addressing a lawsuit against the bank, allegedly involving inappropriate actions by former management.

We maintain confidence that we will be absolved of any wrongdoing in this matter.

Despite these challenges, I commend the interim management for their adept handling of the turbulent situation in which the company finds itself.

They have successfully ensured our ongoing listing status on OTC markets and preserved essential filings, thus preventing us from being categorized as an expert market-listed issuer or facing delisting.

Moreover, in a short span of time, the interim management successfully diversified our operations. They have established a profitable e-commerce arm and are now venturing into the lucrative field of gold mining and processing.

As a newly appointed CEO, my vision is to cultivate a prosperous and sustainable mining enterprise, ultimately achieving a Net-Zero carbon footprint.

In Liberia, our immediate objective is to identify lucrative mining opportunities, initially focusing on alluvial gold and diamond mining. In the short term, we aim to support and collaborate with small and medium-scale alluvial gold and mining companies, offering funding for modern mining equipment in exchange for project stakes or through a gold streaming model.

This partnership aims to address the capital constraints hindering access to advanced mining technology.

Looking ahead, as our revenues stabilize, we plan to acquire our own concessions and explore new territories for gold, diamonds, and Green Energy minerals. I am grateful for the opportunity to lead HIRU and I am committed to making strategic decisions that will not only benefit our shareholders, but also contribute to the sustainable development of Liberia's mining sector!

Thank you for your trust, and I am optimistic about the prosperous journey ahead for all stakeholders of HIRU Corporation!
